MAYOR WINN WILL SERVE UNDER THE NEW CHARTER AT HIS PRESENT SALARY

ROUSING MEETING AT GRAND TONIGHT FOR NEW CHARTER

Prominent Speakers Will Nail Many Misleading Reports, Now Circulated.

CENTRAL RALLY DESIGNED TO EDUCATE THE VOTER

Robert F. Maddox, Mayor C. S. Winn, C. T. Ladson, J. D. Kilpatrick, Edgar Watkins, R. A. Broyles and Walter McElreath Will Tell of the Advantages of New Plan of Government.

SPEAKERS FOR TONIGHT.

The rally in the interest of the new charter will be held in the Grand Opera house at 8 o'clock tonight.

Every citizen of Atlanta, whether he favors the adoption of the new charter or the retention of the old, is invited to be present and listen to the addresses.

Among the speakers who have accepted invitations to address the audience are the following:

Robert F. Maddox, former mayor of Atlanta.

Mayor Courtland S. Winn.

C. T. Ladson, J. D. Kilpatrick and Edgar Watkins, well-known Atlanta attorneys.

Robert A. Broyles, the well-known grocer.

Walter McElreath, member of the legislature from Fulton county.

A rally which will mark the beginning of one of the most thorough and convincing campaigns ever conducted in the interest of any movement in the city of Atlanta will be held at the Grand Opera house tonight at 8 o'clock.

The meeting is the first central rally which has been held in the interest of the proposed new charter which will be voted on September 27, and is de-

HARMON PICKED BY COVERNORS

Believed Executives Have Solved Democratic Problem.

Gov. Hoke Smith, in Indorsing Harmon for Presidency and Wilson for Vice Presidency, Voices Sentiment of Majority of Governors.

NO MAN WOULD RUN FROM PRESIDENCY, SAYS HARMON

Spring Lake, N. J., September 15.—"No man, you know, would run away from the presidency of the United States," said Governor Harmon, of Ohio, this afternoon when asked if he was a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

When asked for a more definite announcement Governor Harmon replied that he did not consider it in keeping with the proprieties of the governors' conference to drag in personal political affairs. He had not attended the conference, he said, as a candidate for any office, but to confer with his colleagues, and thought that it would be bad taste to refer to presidential political matters upon his departure.

Spring Lake, N. J., September 15.—(Special.)—Governor and United States Senator-elect Hoke Smith, of Georgia, before leaving the conference of governors for home today, announced the next democratic national ticket as Harmon, of Ohio, and Wilson, of New Jersey, for president and vice president, respectively.

The burden of the thought of Governor Smith was that the meeting of governors perhaps has resulted in a solution of the democratic situation. Many of the democratic governors present at the conference discussed the situation and from the statement of Governor Smith it is believed that some secret agreement has been reached.

"Harmon and Wilson," said Governor

Refutes the Charge That He Is Seeking to Legislate Himself Into $6,000 Office.

HIS POSITION ON SALARY ANNOUNCED AT THE TIME CHARTER WAS DRAWN UP

Mayor Winn Again Makes Clear His Stand on Increase, at Meeting of Ward Committeemen for Charter---Under New Government He Will Have to Devote All His Time to Office, Instead of Three Hours as at Present.

Refuting the charge that he is seeking to legislate himself into the office of mayor with a salary that is doubled under the proposed new charter, Mayor Courtland S. Winn declared at the meeting of the ward committeemen last night he will not accept one penny of additional salary during the remainder of his term if the new charter is approved on September 27.

The statement of the mayor was made at the meeting held in the charter campaign headquarters, 12½ South Broad street, and was received with thunders of applause.

Mayor Winn's emphatic statement absolutely refutes one of the favorite arguments which have been used against the new charter by the opposition.

Some Charges Exploded.

It was charged from the inception of the new charter proposition that Mayor Winn was seeking to legislate himself into office because the measure provides that for the last year of his present term, that is for 1912, he shall receive for his services as mayor the sum of $6,000 per year, as against $3,000 provided for under the present charter.

"From the time this charter was proposed and it was suggested that I retain my office at the increased salary until my present term expires, I was opposed to it," said the mayor. "I insisted that the committee legislate me out of office when the new charter becomes effective along with other officials and that another election be held for the purpose of selecting a new mayor.

"The committee preparing the charter declined to hear to that proposition. They told me that the city should not be forced to pass through another heated campaign for mayor so soon after the election in which I was named mayor. They declared it would not be for the best interests of the city and still protesting against the proposition I decided to support the charter with that provision in it.

"And I wish to publicly state now that if the charter is passed and I am retained for the balance of my term as

UPHOLDING WILEY, TAFT PROMISES BUREAU SHAKE-UP

MEANS GENERAL CLEAN-UP OF WILSON'S DEPARTMENT

Official Washington Stirred Over Taft's Decision—Speculation Rife as to How Far Drastic Action Threatened by President Will Be Carried. Wickersham Is Overruled.

COMPLETE VINDICATION DECLARES DR. WILEY.

Bluemont, Va., September 15.—"It's a complete vindication for me," said Dr. Harvey W. Wiley today when informed of the president's opinion in his case. "I knew nothing about it officially. I have nothing to say in view of the fact that I have received no word officially regarding the matter."

Dr. Wiley is here spending a vacation on his mountain farm.

Beverly, Mass., September 15.—Praise instead of criticism is given Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the chemistry bureau and popular pure-food champion, by President Taft in his opinion disposing of the much-discussed Rusby case, made public today in the shape of a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. The resignation of Wiley will not be asked for nor will the "condign punishment" for the chief of the bureau of chemistry, which Attorney General Wickersham held to be necessary, be meted out to him.

A report from the "personnel board" of the department, approved by Attorney General Wickersham, recommended that Dr. Wiley be allowed to resign because of an alleged conspiracy to employ Dr. H. H. Rusby, a prominent pharmacognosist of New York, as a department expert, at an annual salary of $1,600 with a secret understanding that he should perform only such services which would be compensated at the rate of $20 a day for laboratory work and $50 a day for court attendance.

The president accepts Dr. Wiley's statement that he knew nothing of any such agreement, and declares, moreover, that a precedent for the employment of experts at yearly salaries to give only part of their time to the government was set in the creation of the Remsen board.

Serious Shake-up Promised.

While the pure-food champion comes out with flying colors the president makes it plain that his decision is not

RICH STUFF AHEAD, SAYS DR. BROUGHTON

Dr. Len G. Broughton, on the left; Fuzzy Woodruff, in the center, and Dr. Campbell Morgan, on the right. Mr. Woodruff has written an interesting story for Sunday's Constitution on his impressions of the Tabernacle and of Dr. Campbell Morgan. In connection with this story Dr. Len G. Broughton has written the following letter to The Constitution:

"I am not surprised that Fuzzy Woodruff, the sporting editor of The Constitution, should be attracted by my friend Dr. Campbell Morgan. Dr. Morgan is himself much tainted with the spirit of the true sport, and Fuzzy is known to have an eye for the like. I don't know what he is going to say, but if he is as unique in this as in his reports of the Atlanta ball games there is some rich stuff ahead.

4 NEW CLERKS, 1 NEW "SUPER" TO SAVE MAILS

But We'll Still Have 50 to 75 Fewer Clerks Than Other Cities With Less Business.

OF CONDITIONS HART KNOWS "ABSOLUTELY NOTHING"

However, Postoffice Authorities Say That the Service Will Be Greatly Improved—New Superintendent Is on Job, but Withholds Announcement of Plans Until "Tried Out."

Is it possible that Atlanta's postoffice service is to be improved?

Four additional clerks are to be added within the next few days, and a brand-new superintendent of mails blew in from Charleston, S. C., yesterday morning.

To be sure, four clerks aren't many when, with them, Atlanta will have practically sixty less than New Orleans. Too, the new superintendent of mails admits that he knows absolutely nothing about local conditions, but he's reputed to be some superintendent.

But conditions are going to be improved, certainly, for the post officials themselves say so.

Irwin G. Hart, formerly superintendent of mails at Charleston, reached the city yesterday morning and spent a goodly portion of the day conferring with Postmaster McKee. He will take over the duties of his new office immediately, and it is understood that he is planning to make some radical changes.

Unfamiliar With Conditions.

When asked as to what he expects to do in the way of changes, if anything, Mr. Hart said he has no idea at this time.

"I know nothing of local conditions, absolutely nothing," he said, "for I haven't had the least opportunity of informing myself as yet. So far as I know now, the service here may be as good as it is possible to make it, and I may not find it necessary to make any radical changes at all. This is a matter I can decide only after I have found 'the lay of the land,' as it were.

"However, I may say right here that I shall not announce any plans I may formulate before they have been tried out. I shall make changes if it seems necessary, and then tell of them after they have been tried."

Mr. Hart, who is a comparatively

TWO BRAVE LITTLE GIRLS CAPTURE DARING INTRUDER

RAY ROSENBERG AND PEARL SHER, Who captured man found in the Sher residence, 47 North Butler street.

Little Pearl Sher, 10 years old, and Ray Rosenberg, 8, turned police yesterday afternoon and captured a real live man who forced his way into the former's home at 47 North Butler street. Locking all the doors, they imprisoned him in the house and then summoned the police.

The man gave his name at the station as Tom Richardson, 52 years old, of Stone Mountain. He is charged with drunk and disorderly conduct, but does not seem to take his case seriously and was smilingly eating some of Sher's dinner when taken from the house.

"Oh, it wasn't nothing at all," said Pearl as she and Ray, who lives next door, were playing with a crowd of other children. "This man came to the door and came in. I was sweeping the hall and just thought he had come to fix the shades, until he whistled at me

FRIENDS URGING RUSSELL TO GET OFF THE BENCH

Judge Insists He Can Attend to Job and Run For Governorship, Too.

If Judge Richard B. Russell, candidate for governor, heeds the advice many of his friends have given him, he will resign from the bench of the appellate court in case he remains in the race for the governorship.

Following the wide discussion of the question whether or not the judge would resign from the bench, it was reported Friday that several of Judge Russell's friends have advised him that he should resign and thereby silence all criticism on that score.

It was further reported that Judge Russell would resign some time in October. Confirmation of the report was lacking.

When asked for a statement concerning the report Judge Russell stated that he has not authorized any one to make any statement concerning his intentions along this line. Some time ago he announced that he positively will not quit the bench.

In spite of the position taken by some of the judge's friends it is generally believed that he will adhere to his original position and continue to serve on the bench of the appellate court while conducting his campaign for governor and stumping the state in the interest of his candidacy.

Thinks He Can Do Both.

Judge Russell, it is stated, believes he is capable of "killing two birds with one stone;" that his tremendous capacity for work enables him to discharge the arduous and trying duties of the judgeship and at the same time to instruct the public as to his fitness for the gubernatorial office.

Whether or not the judge over-estimates his capacity along this line is an open question. Several of his friends take the position that while he may be able to continue his work as judge and make his campaign for another office at the same time, that it will be decidedly more in keeping with the fitness of things to relieve himself of one or the other of the obligations.

A Russell Man Talks.

"On two different occasions I have advised Judge Russell to resign," said a well known and prominent attorney who is a strong personal and political friend of the judge. "In my opinion it is not good policy for a man to hold one office and try to discharge the duties of that office while he is conducting an active campaign in the effort to secure another office. While he may be able to discharge those duties satisfactorily, yet it affords occasion for comment that is unfavorable. I am a strong friend of Judge

MYSTERY STILL SHROUDS DEATH OF YOUNG WIFE

Myrtle Hawkins Confessed Her Pitiable Plight Just Before She Met Death.

Hendersonville, N. C., September 15.—The coroner's inquest examining into the death of Miss Myrtle Hawkins, whose body was found in Lake Osceola and whose death, it is alleged, was caused by an illegal operation, adjourned late this afternoon until tomorrow morning. The coroner stated tonight that the evidence so far introduced did not justify any arrests in the case.

Homer Hawkins, a brother of the dead girl, and Hal Cooper, said to be her fiance, stated on the stand this afternoon they had no reason to suspect any person of the murder of the girl. The feature of the inquest was the production of a letter found in Myrtle's room here by her sister, Mrs. J. B. Thomas. It was written to her mother by Myrtle, and said:

"Dear Mother: I promised daddy to write and tell you of my misfortune, but I have not the face to tell you the name of the man who is responsible for it. He is not entirely to blame, however, for he has done all that he could to help me and will continue to do so. I am going away, so that I will not be any more trouble to you. Tell them that I have gone to Atlas. Goodby."

In each case a young wife had been murdered, and the trial in both alike is the determination of the identity of the slayer.

Next Monday preliminary trial will be given Robert Kennedy, a well-known young man living in the little town of Smithville, Lee county, against whom charges of most serious nature are preferred—the death by poisoning

MEMBER OF THE FICKLE SEX SPEEDS AFTER PARTING LOVER

Danville, Va., September 15.—(Special.)—After a journey of 776 miles, a Virginia-Florida romance culminated in Salisbury this morning, between midnight and dawn, when Miss Nannie Long, a pretty girl of 21 years, who lives near here, became the bride of Henry D. Taylor, of Tampa, Fla.

Wednesday Mr. Taylor arrived here from the far south. When the happy couple applied at the clerk's office for a marriage license, Miss Long changed her mind, fearing she did not love him. He pleaded with her all day yesterday, but in vain.

Taylor then caught the 6 p. m. train for Florida. A short time after he left she decided that she did love him, and telegraphed him to wait for her at Charlotte. He met her at Salisbury, a town between Danville and Charlotte, and they were married early in the morning. They went on to Tampa together.

young man, has been in charge of the mails in the Charleston postoffice for some time, and Postmaster McKee states that it was the showing Mr. Hart made there that caused his promotion to this, a much larger, office.

Those Four Clerks.

Postmaster McKee announced that he has just been notified from Washington that he is to be allowed four additional clerks to "take care of the increased business through the fall and the holidays." When asked if four is all the situation demands, Mr. McKee replied that this was all he asked for.

That the four additional men will help some goes without saying. They will also add their bit towards making Atlantaa's number of clerks a little more reasonable in comparison with the number doing duty in other cities.

Formerly, New Orleans, with postal receipts $23,000 per year less than Atlanta, had sixty more clerks. Now, if she hasn't gotten some new ones in the meantime, she has only fifty-six more than Atlanta, which isn't any worse than the discrepancies in this city's baseball standing as compared with that of the Crescent City.

What They Have in Seattle.

Before the latest additions to the local force, Seattle, Wash., had a full eighty-seven more clerks than did Atlanta with only $5,000 a year more business. Now this rather lop-sided lead has been materially cut down, giving the northwestern metropolis only eighty-three more clerks than Atlanta, always providing, of course, she hasn't gotten more since the last report was made, which she very probably has.

"However, we're coming," said an Atlantan, on hearing the news, "and if the city'll just stop growing for about five years and Postmaster McKee keeps on asking and getting men, and he'll let his requests double in number each time, we'll get there after a while. To be sure, four isn't many, but it's more than one, and it might be worse. For we might be getting bigger faster than we are, and Mr. McKee might be asking for two men instead of four."

STRONG ARGUMENT FOR NEW CHARTER

Able Statement Given Out By the Lawyers' Committee

One of the Most Important Features Is That Dealing With the Elaborate System of Checks Provided on Expenditure of the City's Money.

One of the strongest arguments yet advanced in support of the new charter was that prepared and made public yesterday by the lawyers' committee of the new charter campaign committee.

This committee is composed of five of the ablest lawyers of the city, all of whom are thoroughly conversant with the details of the proposed new charter, and its tremendous advantages over the old charter now in force.

The committee consists of the following lawyers: Messrs. Alex C. King, Luther Z. Rosser, Edgar Watkins, C. T. Ladson and Charles T. Hopkins.

One of the most important features of the new charter, which is dealt with at length by the committee, is that providing checks on the spending of the city's money.

Statement by Committee.

The statement by the committee is as follows:

"One of the great benefits conferred upon the people by the proposed charter is its checks upon the financial affairs of the city in the collection of funds; the paying out of these funds and the auditing of accounts. The existing charter under which Atlanta now operates contains no checks whatever upon the immensely vital matter of the collection of Atlanta's funds and the way in which they are distributed. There being no charter requirements, a system of bookkeeping was installed which was a reproach to the city. A few years ago the greatest accounting firm in Amerira—Messrs. Haskins & Eells—examined the system under which Atlanta's books were kept and the checks which they provided, and in the report officially made to the city, and which was quietly pigeon-holed by it without the attention of the public being called to it were the following comments:

Tax Collector.

"The only record kept in the office of the tax collector is a memorandum book which is in no way adapted to the purpose for which it is used. This book recapitulates by departments the collections made, but it is not clear or comprehensive. In some cases one item in the record will represent two bills, and, in other cases an item will represent seventy-five bills.

City Clerk.

"The city has not, therefore, a proper check on its revenue from thees sources.

City Comptroller.

"The comptroller labors under great difficulties keeping the records relating to the various departments. This is due to the inefficient methods of accounting followed in the departments and to the incomplete system of departmental reports.

Tax Assessors and Receivers.

"The books kept in this office show many erasures, pencil notations and clerical errors. The totals of the daily reports made by this office to the comptroller differ in many instances from the totals of the tax collector's report, covering the same transactions.

Water Department.

"The present system of accounting does not extend far enough to enable the comptroller to keep a proper check on the city's revenue derived from the water department.

Police Department.

"No proper check has ever been made of the city's revenue from fines and costs, as the record of collections has never been checked against the docket in the recorder's court.

Sanitary.

"The method of handling pay rolls in this department during the period covered by our examination was even more unsatisfactory than in many of the other departments.

Public Works.

"The method of handling the pay rolls in the department of streets, sewers and bridges during the period under review has been equally lax.

General Notes.

"During the period under review more than a half a million dollars have been disbursed for which the city has not proper receipts. . . . . The examination which has been made has developed the fact that there are opportunities, under the present system of accounting for diverting the city's funds, of which advantage might be taken."

In 1909, when a subcommittee was instructed to draft a commission form of charter, that committee examined the system and made severe charges with reference to it. These charges were taken up and denied by the city officials. As a result, the Alonzo Richardson Company, an impartial certified public acountant, was employed to examine the system prevailing, and in its report stated that the general ledger kept by the city contained mere balances that were arbitrarily entered which was the epitome of false bookkeeping. Mr. Richardson's report, in effect, was that there was no adequate system of checks upon the financial affairs of the city through the system of bookkeeping.

What the Audit Company Found.

The American Audit Company was then called in, as expert accountants, to examine the system, and a part of the report of that company is as follows:

"The system by which Atlanta finally pays out her nearly three million dollars yearly after it has passed the door of the comptroller and the treasurer make these accounting methods helpless.

"For instance, a head of a department has allotted to him from $100,000 to a quarter of a million dollars a year to spend for the city. In many departments the greater portion of this amount represents pay roll which is given in bulk by means of a check to the head of the department, and when the head of this department indorses the check and goes and gets the actual cash, the comptroller's responsibility has ended.

"This practice cannot be too severely condemned.

More Changes in Present System Needed.

As a result of the publication of the examination of the city's system of bookkeeping by these three experts, some beneficial changes were made in the system under the administration of Hon. Robert F. Maddox, but these were not complete, did not fully protect the city, and were not provided for in a charter amendment.

The present proposed charter not only fixes it so that an ordinance can be passed, which will provide proper checks upon the collection and paying out of the city's funds, but goes farther and crystallizes into the organic law requirements in reference to the handling of the city's funds which even an ordinance to the contrary by the city council could not displace nor deprive the public of their benefit.

Among the checks provided for in the proposed charter are the following:

"The mayor must examine and audit the accounts against the city before payment.

"Bonds are required of the mayor and each member of the administrative board in the sum of $25,000, and this body may require fidelity bonds of the city's employees.

"Books must be kept showing in detail the amounts paid out, to whom, when paid and for what department paid.

"Books must be kept of moneys received, when, and from whom received.

"Accounts shall be kept with each department showing the money realized and paid out by each department.

"Each department shall be accurately checked against all other departments, against the business of the city as a whole.

"There shall be made a complete stock inventory of all property both real and personal belonging to the city. An annual stock-taking shall be had in each department.

"A stock account shall be kept of each appropriation, showing the purposes for which it was made and how expended.

"Receipts shall be taken for all payments which shall snow the amount paid, the department making the payment, the name and street address of the recipient. These receipts are public and may be inspected by any citizen. The comptroller shall make monthly detailed statements, sworn to, of the receipts and disbursements of the city, which statements are public documents and subject to inspection by any citizen. After the first year comparative statements shall be made. Monthly, quarterly and annual statements shall be made.

"No money can be paid out save by a voucher issued by the comptroller upon the requisition of the member of the board in charge of the department, and all checks shall be signed by the mayor or the mayor pro tem. and countersigned by the comptroller.

"Neither the mayor, councilmen, nor any member of the administrative board, or of the board of education, nor and other city official, nor committee of the city of Atlanta, shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or subcontract with the city or in the purchase of any supplies.

"The indebtedness of the city cannot be increased, nor its property sold except by a yea and nay vote taken separately both by the council and the board of administrators.

"There must be an annual audit made by a disinterested auditor.

Competitive Bids.

"In all contracts with the city and in the purchase of supplies competitive bids are required when the amount exceeds $500.

"An annual estimate must be made of the proposed expenditures for the year which is subject to inspection, and copies thereof must be furnished to the press upon request.

"The mayor and members of the administrative board are individually liable to the city for expenses incurred in excess of the limits fixed by the annual appropriation.

"Contracts entered into by the administrative board in violation of the provisions of the charter are void and each member voting therefore is personally liable thereon.

"An auditor appointed by the mayor, who must be confirmed by the city council, shall examine quarterly books, papers and accounts of all city officers, through whose hands money may pass, and make a written report to the administrative board as to the correctness of said accounts, and be subject to the direction of the mayor and said board."

ADVERTISING TALKS.

be applied, however, as to how that business shall be made known.

In New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other large cities, there are fifty times as many stores that do not advertise in newspapers as do advertise in them.

The reason is that these stores are mere NEIGHBORHOOD STORES—doing a small business—depending wholly on the custom of, perhaps, a couple of hundred families.

Obviously, such stores cannot afford to advertise in the big newspapers. HOW THEN ARE THEY TO ADVERTISE? There are only a few ways for them to do so, viz::

Sending well-written letters to all of the families in the neighborhood telling about the goods they have for sale—using posters and signs in their neighborhood wherever they can get the space for them—displaying their merchandise in their windows—but better than all of these is ADVERTISING IN A WEEKLY NEIGHBORHOOD PAPER, if one is issued.

There must be advertising of some kind done, and if it is effective the business will grow, and the small shopkeeper may be able to acquire stores in different neighborhoods. Then he can BRANCH OUT WITH HIS ADVERTISING PROGRAMME and buy space in the big newspapers, like so many others have done before him.

This applies only to the very large communities; in the smaller communities, where everybody knows everybody else, THE ONE MEDIUM TO USE ALL OF THE TIME IS THE DAILY HOME NEWSPAPER.

You must realize that good advertising of whatever nature, must have a basis of old-fashioned common sense and must be done in accordance with a shopkeeper's ability to pay for it.

CARD FROM CHARTER COMMITTEE TO THE FEDERATION OF TRADES

Chairman E. V. Carter of the charter committee gave out the following statement yesterday:

"The campaign committee for the new charter at its meeting Friday afternoon, regretted very much that the Atlanta Federation of Trades was reported to have passed a resolution at its meeting Wednesday night condemning the proposed new charter and giving as the sole reason for such action that 'It does not provide for a vote on the eight-hour law.'

"No member of the campaign committee was instrumental in drawing the charter which was finally adopted by the legislature, but we can readily understand the action of our members in the legislature, who, believing that the eight-hour question was not germane, customary, or necessary to be put into a city charter, left it out of the one now submitted to the people.

"Our committee has no objection whatever to the eight-hour question being submitted to a vote of the people whenever it may be deemed advisable; but it does not belong in a charter.

"There is nothing in the proposed new charter which will prevent those in authority under this charter from adopting the eight-hour law system, either by action of the commissioners and the new city council or being so directed by a vote of a majority of the people of Atlanta.

"The members of our committee and the leaders who are advocating the new charter have always been very friendly to organized labor in Atlanta, and we believe that one of the principal reasons why Atlanta has progressed so rapidly is because the labor organizations and the business interests of this community have worked together for the general upbuilding of the city. We sincerely hope that this condition of harmony will continue to exist, and believe that a large part of the members of organized labor in this city, after they have fully considered this subject, will not allow themselves to be so misguided as to decline to approve a splendid new charter for Atlanta merely because it does not contain an eight-hour law provision, which, so far as we know, has never been incorporated in the charter of any city of importance.

"By the way, it is a splendid tribute to the merits of the new charter that the only objection to be found by the Federation of Trades was an objection to a matter which the charter did not contain and which the present councilmanic opponents of the new charter themselves admitted had no right to be incorporated in the city charter and declined to put it in the amendments they approved."

ROUSING MEETING FOR NEW CHARTER

signed to educate and inform every voter of the city concerning the merits of the charter which is proposed for this city.

The speakers for the occasion have been selected from among the most prominent citizens of Atlanta. They are all men whose honesty, sincerity and integrity have never been brought into question, and who have always stood for any movement which had for its purpose the upbuilding of Atlanta and the advancement of her interests.

Familiar With Every Detail.

They have been selected because of their thorough familiarity with every detail of the new charter, and because they are, if possible, even more thoroughly familiar with the glaring defects of the old.

Among them will be Mayor Courtland S. Winn, former Mayor Robert F. Maddox, Walter McElreath, member of the legislature from this county; Robert A. Broyles, one of the city's leading grocers; C. T. Ladson, J. D. Kirkpatrick and Edgar Watkins, who are recognized as three of the leading lawyers of the city.

The speeches will not be lenghty nor tiresome. They will be of sufficient length, however, to acquaint every voter who is not already blinded by prejudice with the merits of the new and modern system of municipal government which is proposed for Atlanta, and, what is more to the point, they will deal with and expose the popular fallacies around which the opposition has been enabled to gather its forces.

Repeatedly the central campaign committee has been confronted with the proposition of combatting misleading assertions made with reference to the new charter. Time after time they have been compelled to set right voters of the city who are anxious to vote intelligently and who have come to this committee with this or that canard which has been circulated in the effort to turn sentiment against the new charter.

Have Nailed Misstatements.

As often as has been possible the committee has nailed these misstatements and misrepresentations; but, where they have been able the past few days to nail only a half dozen or so, they will be in position at the meeting tonight to nail them all.

And they will be nailed.

The rally will be one that every fair-minded citizen should attend, whether he favors the new charter or thinks he is opposed to it.

Every feature of the new charter will be gone over in detail and contrasted with the charter under which the city now operates, and every citizen will be given the opportunity of deciding for himself whether there is merit in the claims which have been made by the adherents of the new system, without taking the word of the interested politician to the contrary.

This central rally will be followed up with meetings in all of the wards every night next week. The organization of the wards is now complete, the forces are ready for hard work, and hard work will be done until the issue is decided on September 27.

BIRMINGHAM EXCURSION TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19. $2.50 ROUND TRIP. SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

Special train will leave the Atlanta Terminal station promptly at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday, September 19. The ride will be a pleasant one, as the train will not make any local stops.

The fare will be $2.50 the round trip and tickets will be good to return on any train leaving Birmingham up to and including the 4:25 p. m. train of September 21.

House Is Raided.

Bicycle Officers Wagner and Kilpatrick have recently been receiving numerous complaints in regard to an alleged disorderly house being conducted at 13 Fowler street. Last night they decided to investigate the rumors. On raiding the house, they arrested a man and a woman. At police station the woman gave her name as Mrs. May Clayton, aged 30 years, of 13 Fowler street, and the man as George A. Hayes, aged 41, of Buckhead. Both were charged with disorderly conduct. Mrs. Clayton, when put under arrest, said she would kill herself, but the pistol was snatched from her hands by one of the officers.

WINN WILL SERVE AT SAME SALARY

it proposes at the increased salary of $6,000, not one penny of that increase shall go into my pocket."

This patriotic declaration of the mayor is regarded as all the more patriotic in view of the fact that under the terms of the new charter, he, as mayor, will be compelled to give all his time to the duties of the office instead of three hours each day as is now required by the present charter.

Gives up Private Business.

This simply means that Mayor Winn will be compelled to give up all his private business and the income therefrom for 1912 if the new charter is passed, and that at the same salary which he now receives for giving a portion of his time to the city's affairs.

In addition to making the foregoing statement regarding the increase in his salary the mayor also made a stirring and convincing speech in behalf of the new charter. He declared that he is for the charter simply because he is thoroughly convinced that it means a business administration for Atlanta. The mayor took up the charter in detail and discussed each important provision, contrasting it with the present system.

"I have just been studying the new charter which was proposed some time ago by the committee of which Judge George Hillyer was a member," said Mayor Winn. "I notice in connection with it a signed statement made by Judge Hillyer in which he declares that the greatest evil in the present system is that council undertakes to discharge both legislature and administrative duties, and in spite of this fact, Judge Hillyer, who is my friend and an honest and honorable gentleman, now inveighs against this proposed charter, which accomplishes the very point for which he was contending."

The mayor took occasion to severely rap the present system of board government.

"In spite of the fact that these boards spend hundreds of thousands of dollars of your money," said he, "you have no voice whatever in their election for they are elected by council.

"The tax rate of $1.25 cannot be changed except by legislative authority and approval of the governor.

"The sinking fund commission, which is a most important body, is retained under the new charter.

A Board of Autocrats.

"Under the present charter the board of tax assessors is a board of autocrats. No tax payer can appeal to the board when his assessment is not satisfactory, but under the new charter an appeal may be taken to the administrative board and the question of the tax assessment thoroughly investigated.

"There is a provision against nepotism, which is a crime and should not be allowed to prevail in any form of city government."

Attorney Edgar Watkins, who has made an exhaustive study of the charter proposition, followed Mayor Winn and declared that if every sincere and honest citizen of Atlanta had heard the speech of the mayor there would not be a one of them who could go away from the meeting opposing the new charter.

"It seems that the opposition is determined to have a row," said Mr. Watkins. "That charter separates the legislative and administrative duties and still they are opposed to it. No one man can spend a dollar of your money. There are checks provided for paying out all the city's funds, whereas there are none in the present charter."

Attorney F. A. Quillian, former councilman, mayor pro tem. and member of the bond commission, was the next speaker.

Mr. Quillian dealt extensively with two features of the new charter which he considers of vast importance, the retention of the sinking fund commission and the abolition of the boards.

"The sinking fund commission is very important," said he. "The sinking fund is set aside each year for the payment of the bonded indebtedness and it is to be invested. It is very necessary that its investment should not be left to the same men who set it aside.

"The abolition of the boards is also one of the most important features of the new charter. Time after time I have sat at a meeting of some one or other of these boards and waited hours for a quorum, and then frequently have seen the effort to get a quorum fail. Yet how often have I seen every member present when there was an election of some sort to be held. They were all there then."

Robert Maddox Speaks.

Robert F. Maddox, former mayor, was the next speaker.

"Contrast," said he, "the interest or lack of interest which those who are favoring or opposing this new charter have at stake. Not a single member of this new charter committee is connected in any way with the present city government, and not a one of them so far as I know, has any desire or intention of holding any city office under the new charter. The same cannot be said of a large number of those who are actively opposing the new charter."

Robert A. Broyles concluded the speaking with an enthusiastic address in the interest of the new charter and although he kept his audience roaring with laughter his speech was shot through and through with sound and convincing logic.

Mr. Broyles, like the other speakers, urged each member of the ward committes to at once proceed with a campaign of education in all of the wards which will result in correcting the false impressions which have been created in the minds of a large number of voters concerning the real provisions of the new charter.

The meeting of the ward committeemen was largely attended. Colonel E. V. Carter, chairman of the new charter campaign committee, presided and the enthusiasm created at the meeting will result in a whirlwind campaign which will correct a number of misleading ideas now prevalent and result in a glorious victory for the new charter on September 27.

Ninth Ward Meeting.

I. N. Brown, chairman of the Ninth ward charter committee, has announced a meeting of his committee at his residence at 41 Moreland avenue, Monday night, September 18, at 8 o'clock. All committeemen are urgently requested to be present for a short time, as matters of importance are to be discussed.

FREIGHT TRAIN LOSES IN RACE WITH DEATH

Claude McGough Jackson Dies Just as Train Reaches Atlanta.

Just as a flying freight train carrying the mangled form of 4-year-old Claude McGough Jackson, yesterday afternoon, drew into the terminal yards where an ambulance waited to rush the injured boy to a hospital, life became extinct. Claude had been run down by a freight train near his home in Fayetteville, Ga. Seeing that his life might be saved, the crew of the train that struck him placed the boy on a freight car and started for Atlanta at full speed. At a high rate of speed the freight raced with death, but just as the terminal station yards were reached, the injured boy died.

The body was removed to Patterson's undertaking establishment and will tomorrow be taken to the home in Fayetteville.

FLOCKING TO THE SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE EAGER FOR A MONEY-MAKING EDUCATION

Many Ladies Are Enrolling at the Popular Business Training School to Make Themselves Bread-Winners and Bondholders.

A. C. BRISCOE,
President Southern Shorthand and Business University.

Just as was predicted a short time ago, the young men and young women of this country have awakened to the importance of obtaining a business education, and in numbers they are daily enrolling at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, 10½ West Mitchell street, to secure the thorough and practical training given by that long established and well-known institution.

Are you one of those who are still debating, "What, when and where?"

Almost every day we hear the old familiar story, "I could have had a splendid position with so and so, if I had only known shorthand and bookkeeping."

A first-class situation, requiring a knowledge of these subjects, may be offered to you at any time, and unless you have that knowledge you will be unable to accept. The Southern Business College placed six or eight worthy students in nice positions during the present week, and had to let at least a dozen other good places with leading firms go unfilled because of an exhausted stock of competents.

You have as much ability as many a man or woman making from $1,000 to $5,000 a year, who started as a bookkeeper or stenographer. Most men and women have the brains to make a huge success, if they have the proper training.

Such training must be secured in a first-class business school. The Southern's systems develop experts; it doesn't deal with inferior, new-fangled systems, nor give shallow courses. That's why its students are in such demand.

Don't be content to stand in one place and see the procession go by. Make yourself a part of the procession and one of the leaders.

SHE PLEADS FOR HIM, THOUGH HE HAD PREFERRED AN "AFFINITY"

There was heard in the police court yesterday morning that cry from a woman's heart which is born of a love and trust that withstands the most violent assaults that can be made upon it by the husband.

"He is mine and I love him," exclaimed the wife of H. A. Campbell, of 530 West North avenue. Campbell was on trial and it was charged that he had neglected his wife and two little children because of his infatuation for another woman—a one-eyed woman, the police stated. There was evidence, and it was admitted by both Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, that Campbell had invited the other woman to his home and tried to compel his wife to permit her to remain all night. One of the neighbors stated that he heard Mrs. Campbell say that her husband told the one-eyed woman to beat her. This was denied. Another neighbor stated that Mrs. Campbell told her that she had been cruelly neglected.

Then Mrs. Campbell in a voice choked by sobs cried out:

"He is mine and I love him. Some things they tell on him are lies, but no matter what he has done, it is nobody's business but mine and I don't care. I want him and I beg the judge to let me take him back home with me."

This loyal and pathetic appeal from his wife melted Campbell into tears and he exclaimed as he wept:

"Judge, for God's sake let me go home to my wife and children and if you will I promise you upon the word and honor of a man never to wrong them again."

The recorder, after giving Campbell a lecture on a husband's duty and telling him he ought to be ashamed to wrong such a loving and loyal wife as he had, decided to place the man on probation and turned him over to the tender administrations of Officer Coogler.

Tiger Raided at Lanett.

West, Point., Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The people of Lanett witnessed a noval sight on Thursday night, when the revenue officers destroyed 249 half-pints of blind tiger whisky by order of Justice Micou, of Lanett.

Negro Shot and Killed.

Quitman, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—As the result of a dispute of about 25 cents, W. W. Folsom, colored, shot and killed Clarence Braxton, another negro. Folsom came up town and surrendered to the officers and was placed in jail, where he will remain until the November term of Brooks county superior court.

Crude Oil Advances.

Independence, Kan., September 15.—An advance of 2 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil, making the present quotation 50 cents, was announced here today by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company.

POLITICAL STORM BREWS IN MACON

Independent Aldermanic Ticket Formed, Following Mayor's Announcement.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) At the last moment a political storm, which it had appeared that Macon would escape this year, has gathered. Beside it the heated campaign for places on the board of waterworks commissioners, for which there are nine candidates, is merely incidental. Today Mayor Moore, who will not be opposed for re-election, announced his proposed aldermanic ticket, and immediately the storm clouds began to gather. A meeting was held by several score of well-known citizens this afternoon, at which an independent ticket, soon to be announced, was formulated. The candidates for council on the administration ticket are as follows:

First Ward: T. O. Chestney and J. Ross Bowdre (incumbents), P. L. Hay.

Second Ward: W. A. McKenna (incumbent), J. B. Reeves.

Third Ward: W. W. Williams, Lee Happ, Steve Wright (incumbent).

Fourth Ward: Arthur L. Asher, G. Bernd, R. S. Thorpe.

A meeting of the city executive committee will be held next week to fix a date for the primary, which will probably be held early in October.

Hookworm in Texa Book.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) At the meeting of the board of education today, Colonel C. R. Pendleton, one of the members, proposed that a certain book listed for use in several of the schools be barred on account of two pages in it that are devoted to a treatise on the hookworm. He expressed a disbelief in the hookworm idea, and said that the children of the south should not be taught that they were made lazy by the larvae of a worm entering their bodies through the soles of their feet, a feat which he believed was impossible. The board postponed action on the matter until the next meeting, but will make an investigation in the meantime.

Wesleyan College Opens.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) Wesleyan college formally opened this morning for its seventy-sixth annual session, with the entire dormitory filled with girls, who came, not only from all over this country, but from China, France and Mexico. Brilliant exercises, held in the chapel, marked the opening. Rev. C. R. Jenkins was the principal speaker.

LaFitte a Hotel Clerk.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) Jim LaFitte, the well-known Atlanta ball player, has located in Macon as a hotel clerk.

Saloon Cases Dismissed.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) In the city court today the indictments against sixteen saloon keepers, who were charged with violating the prohibition law, were dismissed by Judge Hodges, who held that there was no evidence against them.

Pictures Stolen From School.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) When the Union High school, on the Thomaston road, opened for the new term this morning, it was found that handsome framed pictures of all the United States presidents from Washington to Taft, had been stolen during the summer. Besides these 27 pictures and other mural decorations were taken.

To Consolidate Power Companies.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) It is understood that the Central Georgia Power Company will in a few days purchase the Macon Railway and Light Company. The deal will not be of any great moment, despite the large sum involved, as the two companies are now controlled by practically the same people.

Second Regiment Shoot On.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) The annual rifle shoot of the Second Georgia regiment is in progress on the Holton range and will continue throughout Saturday. All of the crack shots of the regiment are participating.

Theatergoers Are Angry.

Macon, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) Macon theatergoers are intensely displeased over the quasi-abandonment of the local Grand by the Shuberts. It is stated that onl yfifteen or eighteen shows will visit the theater this season and that the decision to do without an orchestra will not be reconsidered. At present moving pictures are being shown at the Grand.

ALLEGED OPIUM SMOKER BOUND OVER AS VAGRANT

No Attempt Made to Show Chisholm Was Running "Opium Joint."

Charlie Chisholm and R. H. Hill, arrested early Friday morning at Chisholm's room, 33½ South Broad street, along with a complete opium smoking outfit, were bound over yesterday afternoon by Judge Broyles for vagrancy, under their own admissions that they were not working at the present time. Bond was fixed at $200.

No attempt was made to show that Chisholm was running an 'opium den," although this was the complaint which caused the place to be raided. The man who made the complaint, according to Detectives Fain and Morris, who made the case, had evidence that such was the state of affairs, but he did not want to be mixed up in it and was not called to the stand.

"Judge, I have not seen the inside of that box for eight years, and have not been concerned with anything in it," said Chisholm, pointing to an outfit for loading dice. The box was dusty and dirty.

"These here," pointing to two pipes, "are mine. These two don't belong to me. I have been addicted to the habit for eighteen or twenty years, off and on, and everybody knows I smoke it. No, I'm not working now. It's been better than a year since I worked any. My parents give me money, and I get along all right."

Hill said he was a railroad clerk, but was not working, either. The little curly-haired boy, Chisholm's son, who was taken to the station with his father, was not in court. He is said to be at 318 Simpson street, the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Queen.

Careful comparisons—not periodic or intermittent, but made by us daily throughout the year—prove our prices in almost all cases to be lower than those quoted elsewhere for goods of like quality.

Things the Children Will Need

Some of Them Reduced in Price

The coming of the cooler weather, together with the recent opening of school, will doubtless bring to your notice many little things that the children must have. A visit to the great children's store (second floor) will enable you to fill all immediate requirements.

We are as solicitous about this section as of our women's department. We know that the children of today, if pleased here, will be our women patrons of a few years hence. You will find the stocks full and generous; the quality, the style, the fit to be more than you had expected.

We mention just a few things which may be interesting to you for the children's immediate wear.

Dresses Like These Are Now Sold Elsewhere, but Not at These Prices

We have discovered this in the course of the daily comparisons which we make between our merchandise and prices and those of other stores. You will note the difference after you shop around.

For instance here at 49c are children's dresses of either percale, gingham or chambray—pretty little garments and well made; the sizes 2 through 6 years. We have found them priced 59c elsewhere.

Also dresses of chambray and madras—sizes 2 through 6 years. Materials, the finest; the making, perfect; you would expect 98c to be the price. It really is 75c.

Some Better Dresses At About Cost

Just ninety-two dresses in this lot—soiled from constant display. All are perfectly beautiful colorings, and correct styles. They are made of the finer grades of galateas, piques, ginghams and linens in styles suited for this cooler weather. Some in Russian blouse models. Sizes 8 through 14 years. Two prices:

Those formerly up to $3.50 at $2.48
Those formerly up to $5.98 at $3.48

Boys' and Girls' Rompers

A new lot of the "Iwanta" romper just received. You know the kind. Made of good, strong, durable gingham or chambray—high necks and long sleeves. A good value, at 50c.

These Light-Weight Reefers Soon a Necessity

A good showing of these smart little reefers or top coats now in the cases. They may be had of natural pongee, serges in solid colors, wool material in the popular black and white striped effect—also of black satin for dress coats.

They are for children from 2 through 6 years of age. Priced variously at from $1.50 to $15; an especially fine assortment at $5.00.

And for Larger Children

Full-length reefers for children from 8 through 14 years—made of solid color serges, rough Scotch mixtures and worsteds in black and white check effects. A very dressy model is of black satin with larger shawl collar of black and white striped satin. This sells at $15. Prices of these coats from $3.98 to $15, and again $5 secures good, practical ones, in any size.

Bestyette Raincapes

The "Bestyette" cape is now to be had in sizes 6 through 15 years at $2.98. You know formerly a "Bestyette" could not be secured at anywhere near that figure.

The better grade, however, is still $3.75—doesn't wear any better than the other, but has the silk lining.

Also at $1.98 we have a rain cape that will give excellent satisfaction. It comes in gray and white striped material—with hood—and is absolutely rubberproof.

Children's Muslinwear

The stock of children's muslinwear has been replenished by newly received shipments. One not initiated, could hardly realize the care which we exercised in its selection. Every piece has to be just so—the material, soft and fine; the garment itself, well made; and the finishing perfect.

We know you appreciate the difference.

High neck, long sleeve night gowns of good cambric for children from 4 through 14 years—at 50c.

Fine nainsook gowns in 4 through 14-year sizes—embroidery trimmed. Specially priced at 75c.

Misses' drawers—sizes 13, 15 and 17 years—embroidery trimmed and hemstitched ruffles—25c each.

The diaper drawers for girls of from 2 through 6 years—at 25c and 50c.

The knickerbocker drawers in 2 through 8-year sizes—hemstitched and tucked. Special at 12 1-2c.

GREAT INTEREST MANIFESTED IN COMING CRISP COUNTY FAIR

Cordele, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Owing to the great success of Crisp county's initial fair last year, and the glowing prospects for an even greater success this year, the manifestation of interest increases as the dates for holding—October 4-5—draw nearer. A far greater number of collective exhibits have already been enlisted, and, according to President J. W. Bivins, of the fair commission, applications have already been made for practically all the available space that can be utilized anywhere near the courthouse, where it will be held, for the purpose of individual displays and exhibits, by both enterprising local merchants and farmers.

As special features of entertainment for the crowds that will be in attendance on the occasion, ex-State School Commissioner Jere M. Pound has been secured to deliver an address on the opening day, October 4, and Hon. Thomas E. Watson on the 5th. These alone would, either prove a strong drawing card for a vast crowd. Many expressions of anxiety to hear these noted Georgians have been heard from people not only in Crisp county, but from many miles around.

ALLEGED TRAIN ROBBER HELD IN MEMPHIS JAIL

Frank Hart Is Charged With Holding Up a Mail Car Last January.

Memphis, Tenn., September 15.—Failing to furnish a bond of $10,000, Frank Hart, suspected of being one of the two men implicated in the robbery of the Illinois Central mail car in the outskirts of this city on the night of January 21, was placed in the Shelby county jail here.

Hart today waived examination before United States Commissioner George H. Poole, and was bound over until the next term of the federal court for the western district of Tennessee, which convenes here November 27.

Hart was brought to Memphis from Brownsville, where he was in jail on a charge of housebreaking.

Dave Stewart in Firm.

Dalton, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) Dave Stewart, having acquired an interest in the Dalton Buggy Company, has been admitted to partnership. Mr. Stewart has been connected with this firm for a long while and is very well known here.

Jordan Hurt in Fall.

Waycross, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—D. A. Jordan, one of this section's best known farmers and a member of the Eleventh District Agricultural college board for some time, fell at his home near Waycross yesterday and was painfully injured. He has been in ill health for some time and caused the accident.

AUGUSTA MAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Luther Miller, When Nabbed, Tried to Implicate Wife in the Matter.

Augusta, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Luther Miller was arrested today on a warrant sworn out by the Merchants' Bank, charging forgery. He was committed to jail, being unable to furnish bond.

Miller presented to a former employer, J. W. Daniels, a check drawn by T. D. Timmerman on the Bank of Johnston, S. C., for $25.65.

In a statement to the chief of police, he tried to implicate his wife, by saying that she gave him the check to cash. This is the third similar forgery discovered among the local banks this week, the largest being that on the Citizens' Bank for $175.

Library for Twin Cities.

West, Point, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The twin cities, West Point and Lanett, are now assured of a Carnegie library building to cost $10,000. The city council of West Point has agreed to pay her proportionate amount of $500 annually to sustain the library after its establishment and the city council of Lanett has voted a similar amount for the support of the library.

Deaf-Mutes' Convention.

Nashville, Tenn., September 15.—One hundred deaf-mutes from Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama are expected here September 22-24 to attend the convention of the Nashville division of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf. According to the program announced today, there will be socials, lectures and two sermons for the convention.

Fly Screens for Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., September 15.—State Pure Food Inspector Lucius P. Brown this morning began a vigorous crusade against unscreened meat stands, issuing twenty-four state warrants charging violation of the pure food laws. Other warrants will be issued.

To Open Montgomery Mills.

Montgomery, Ala., September 15.—It is announced that the Montala cotton mills, of Montgomery, which have been closed practically all of the summer because of the high price of cotton, will resume full operation next Monday, thereby furnishing employment to 175 operatives. The plant has 10,000 spindles.

C. L. Shaw Exonerated.

New Orleans, September 15.—C. L. Shaw, arrested a few days ago as a suspect in connection with the killing of Mrs. B. B. Wyatt, at Corsicana, Texas, was today exonerated by Texas officers who came here to identify him. Shaw was released. He came here from Houston.

TRIFLING WITH THE SOVEREIGNTY OF STATE.

The department of agriculture is trifling with the dignity and the sovereignty of the state in its continued failure to furnish the information demanded by the general assembly, through a committee specifically instructed to go to the bottom of the department's affairs.

A month after the legislature has adjourned and six weeks after the committee was authorized to begin its work, the commissioner further postpones supplying data to an indefinite date, because he will be busy for some time on "fertilizer bulletins."

When the proposal was first made to probe the department, the opponents of the movement tried to amend the enabling resolutions by specifying that the inquiry must be completed within ten days. Their explanation was that a protracted investigation would be "injurious to the political aspirations of the commissioner." The legislature, resisting sinister pressure, overwhelmingly voted down the amendment and gave the committee plenary powers to investigate.

The delay has materialized, all right. But if it has interfered with the "political aspirations of the commissioner," he has only himself to blame; he could have ended the "process of injury" within a few days by supplying the information the committee had the state's sovereign rule to demand. The procrastination has been prolonged in a manner explicable only to the commissioner himself.

Before the adjournment of the legislature the committee asked the department for a simple statement of its receipts and expenditures and of its employees' pay-roll. Pin this fact in your mind for reference when the revelations of the committee begin: The law allows the department twenty-three oil and fertilizer inspectors, and "as many more as in the judgment of the commissioner" may be necessary to the proper discharge of business, the law assuming, of course, that the commissioner will exercise due discretion and regard for the taxpayers by employing a few extra inspectors as emergency demands.

The commissioner already admits 225 inspectors on the pay roll. Heaven only knows how many more the investigations of the committee will bring to light; and don't doubt the information will be forthcoming, if it has to be hauled forth with a stump-puller.

When the legislature adjourned there was no report from the commissioner available, despite the urgings of the committee. Instead, the commissioner, whose friends had been anxious to safeguard his "political aspirations" by confining the probe to ten days, said he "hoped" to have a statement by September 10. The announcement is now made, on the direct initiative of the commissioner, that the information will be delayed several weeks more, since the commissioner has for some weeks been away from his office, and his time in the immediate future will be pre-empted by "fertilizer bulletins."

These serial delays indicate infallibly that radical steps must be taken to completely reorganize this most important department. Any well-conducted business in Georgia, even were its books only fairly kept, should have been able to supply the data asked within a week. On the other hand, the department requires in the neighborhood of two months to report—that it must have more time to tell the people how it has been running their business! No keener evidence could be found of deep-seated, fundamental mismanagement and disorganization.

It is openly charged that more than $50,000 of the public money, intended to be applied for the direct benefit and interest of the farmers of the state, has been diverted to maintain a vast political machine, ramifying every county in Georgia; that there are hundreds of men on the salary and fee rolls, being paid out of this money; that many of them are doing absolutely nothing in return, and most of them practically nothing in return. It is commonly reported that "inspectors" are so thick in some localities that they tread on each others' toes.

It was the current circulation of these rumors that induced the Cedar Valley Farmers' Club, of Polk county, to start the movement that resulted in the legislative investigation. The general assembly has given members of this committee absolute power. Their trust is a sacred one, touching grave charges involving a leading state department. Each member of the committee is keen and courageous. There is no danger that they can be artfully side-tracked from the plain path of public duty.

The resolutions creating the committee gave it power to employ an expert accountant to examine the books of the department. If the committee finds itself continually denied a voluntary report from the department, it is authorized to set this unbiased expert to work to get the information that the state has a right to demand.

Whether or not matters drift to that extreme, the personnel of the committee is such that the public may be assured, eventually, of a full ventilation of the department's management. Strangely-engineered "delays" cannot much longer thwart disclosures that will astound the farmers and the tax-payers of Georgia.

MEDICAL INSPECTION AGAIN VINDICATED.

The summary measures taken by City Bacteriologist Claude Smith, and the physicians associated with him, against a possible spread of diphtheria in the city schools, is the most practical sort of reassurance of the value and efficacy of medical inspection in the city's educational system.

As a result of the quick work of the physicians, the children suspected of bearing contagion, and the one child actually developing the disease, have been cared for in a manner that removes all possibility of an epidemic, or even of this especial disorder getting the suggestion of a hold.

The vigilance that is exhibited with regard to diphtheria applies also to every other communicable disease, no less than to ordinary defects, the correction of which means the child will not be handicapped from the physical standpoint.

When it is recalled that, throughout Georgia, the estimated percentage of defective school children runs as high as 60 per cent, the incalculable value of medical inspection in the Atlanta schools begins to assume its real proportions. One of the happiest features of the system is that the child of the parent in the most moderate circumstances is given the same protection as the child of the well-to-do parent.

In their rounds, made at frequent and regular intervals, the physicians and nurses inspect every child. If there exist impairments or defects that affect the child's efficiency, or that may develop into serious disease, warning is served on the parent, and prompt steps are taken to apply a corrective.

This is conserving the rising generation with a vengeance. The pity of it is that the same rigorous system should not be applied to every school—town, village or country—in Georgia. The Constitution will not rest content until it has brought the legislature to a realization of its duty in the premises. If money can be found to combat animal and crop pests, money must be found to combat the perils that menace the future citizens of the state.

TO GIVE WORKINGMEN AN HOUR EXTRA TO VOTE FOR NEW CHARTER

Many citizens are planning to ask city council next Monday afternoon to amend the election ordinances so as to change the hour of closing the polls from 6 to 7 o'clock on the evening of the charter election, September 27.

The ordinances now provide that the polls in all city elections shall be opened at 7 and close at 6 o'clock. In the city primaries the polls are kept open until 7 o'clock.

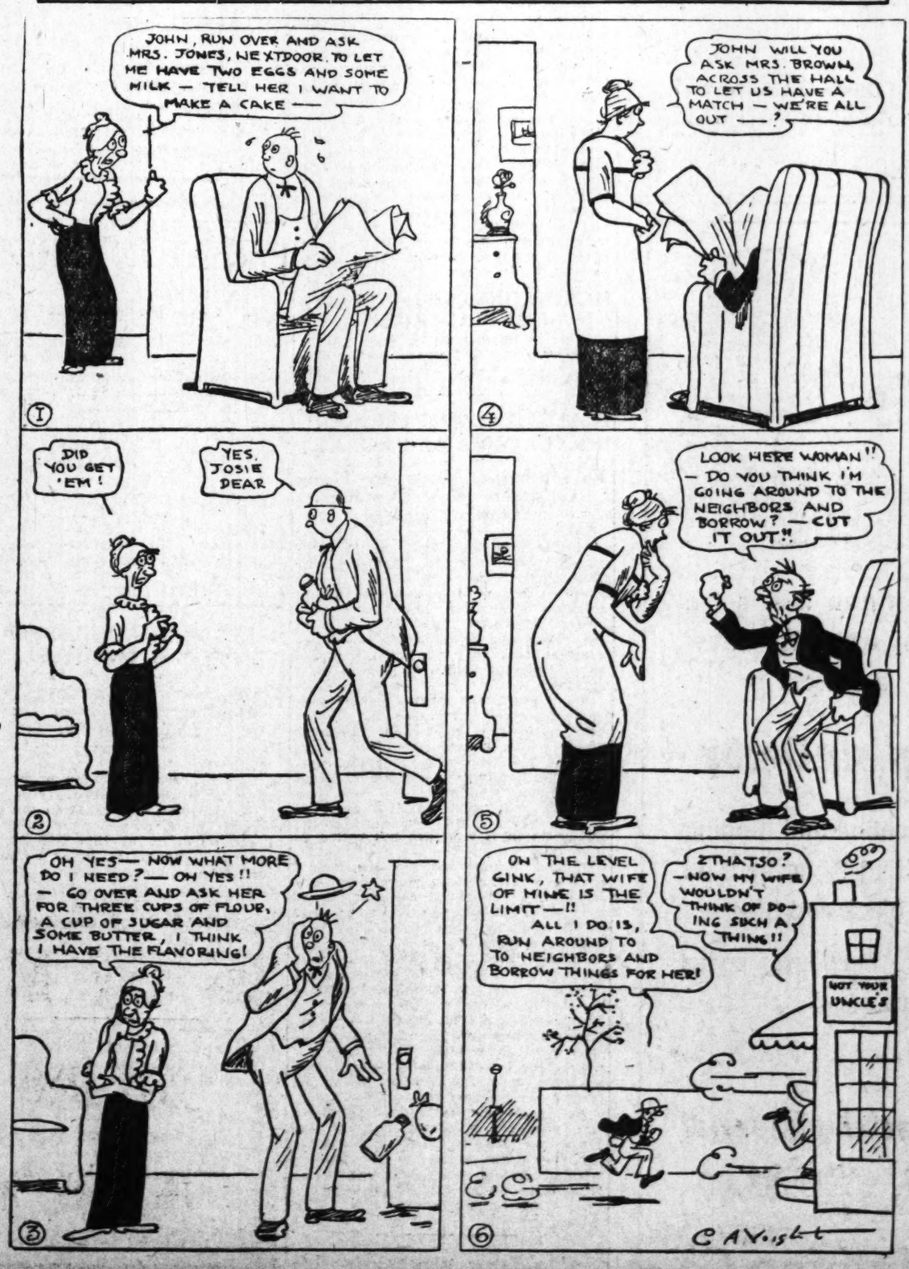

Several members of the city council who were seen Friday by members of the executive anti-charter committee stated that they would vote to amend the election ordinances as desired.

This will enable all men working late to vote for the new charter before going home.

STATE PRESS HOT OVER MILEAGE VETO

Not Free Passes.
(From The Thomson Progress.)
Bear in mind it was not a question of free passes. Papers have advertising space for sale and railroads have transportation for sale. A paid exchange between the two would be of advantage to both parties and to the public, and it will be difficult to discover how contracts of this kind would be dangerous to the public.

Pleased General Public.
(From The Newnan News.)
The public appreciated the passage of this bill inasmuch as it assured the people that the schedules of the railroads would be printed in their newspapers each week. How can the man living in the rural districts who has no telephone in or near his home know the time of the arrival of a train in Newnan or the surrounding towns if he fails to see the schedule in his paper? Yes, the bill's passage was pleasing to both the newspapers and the people.

Surprised.
(From The La Fayette Messenger.)
Governor Smith vetoed the bill passed by the legislature allowing newspaper to exchange advertising for mileage. What surprises us is that the newspapers are even permitted to carry advertising for the railroads in dear old Georgia.

A Hardship on the Papers.
(From The Crawfordville Democrat.)
No doubt, the country papers will still be expected to publish the local schedules as news matter.

An Impossibility.
(From The Greensboro Journal.)
You might as well try to tickle a turtle's back with a chicken feather as to make some people realize that Hoke treated us newspaper fellows very mean about the railroad transportation business.

A Lame Excuse.
(From The Harlem Sentinel.)
We think the governor's excuse for vetoing the bill rather a lame one, for it is a fact, and has been so for a long time, that the people in the country were desirous of having the schedules of the railroads published in the newspapers.

Should Feel Grateful.
(From The Macon Telegraph.)
Still, the chastened weekly press, though deprived of the right of selling its advertising space to whom it pleases, should feel grateful to the Great Guardian and Father in Atlanta that it may still accept wood and vegetables in return for subscriptions.

Working Overtime.
(From The Mount Vernon Monitor.)
While Hoke Smith was recognized as master of the Georgia legislature, evidently some acts of that body were not carved out to his notion, and now he is working his veto machine overtime with a view to getting things in order before transferring the governorship to one of his gang—if possible.

Of Course.
(From the Wrightsville Chronicle.)
Of course the Georgia press will appreciate the action of Governor Smith in vetoing the bill allowing them to accept transportation for advertising.

Don't Like the Veto.
(From The Griffin News.)
The country newspaper editors are giving Hoke the devil for vetoing the bill allowing newspaper men to swap advertising for transportation.

Newspaper Men Singled Out.
(From The Fairburn News.)
When Hoke Smith says that "free passes" were abolished in Georgia several years ago, he is either ignorant of the true conditions or deliberately misrepresents the facts. The fact is, passes are dished out about as promiscuously now as ever, and only the newspapers have been singled out and denied the right to exchange advertising space for railroad transportation.

Aroused Their Ire.
(From The Sandersville Georgian.)
Governor Smith has vetoed the bill which was passed by the legislature allowing newspapers to exchange advertising for 1,000 mile tickets. This action naturally arouses the ire of the newspaper men, a majority of whom have opposed Governor Smith in all of his campaigns.

The Knife to the Hilt.
(From The Clarke County Courier.)
We expected Governor Smith's veto for several reasons. Didn't the weekly newspapers, as a rule, fight him, and don't you know that means the knife to the hilt?

An Insult to the Editors.
(From The Thomasville Times-Enterprise.)
The Athens Banner argues that Hoke Smith's veto of the mileage bill is an insult to the weekly editors of the state.

What They Can Do.
(From The Decatur New Era.)
Governor-Senator Smith says the weekly editors can't exchange advertising space for mileage. Guess we can exchange it for shoes and walk, by heck!

(From The Vienna News.)
The veto power has not yet deprived us of swapping The News a year for a load of wood or four dozen eggs. So you see we newspaper folks have a great privilege left as it is.

State Has No Right.
(From The Boston Home.
The state has no right to prohibit newspapers from exchanging space for mileage any more than it has to prohibit them from exchanging space with the grocer for provisions, or the hardware man for nails, or the clothing man for wearing apparel.

Denied Legitimate Barter.
(From The Quitman Free Press.)
No, the country editor is denied a legitimate barter of commodities, and essentially it is not right. If such an exchange is a public menace, who, may one ask, is the example of a man who holds on to the two most important offices in the state in defiance to all constitutional procedure?

Negligence and Indifference.
(From The LaGrange Reporter.)
Governor Smith owes much of what he is, politically, to the weekly newspapers of Georgia, and it was as little as he could have done to have seen that their interests were properly taken care of by the legislature; that is, if he had the ability in that direction he has so often boasted of. There are two things apparent in this connection: A seeming almost unpardonable negligence and indifference on the part of Governor Smith, and the evidence shown in this and several other instances of the lack of a proper care in preparing bills, and the careless and indifferent manner in which they are discussed and passed by the legislature.

A Great Pity.
(From The Barnesville Gazette.)
Governor-Senator Smith, according to the expressions he has made at different times in the past few years, is about the only man left in the state who will not sell out to the railroads and public corporations if opportunity presents itself. He has accused all the statehouse officials, including all the former governors, the judges of the courts, the legislators of both the house and senate, of being subject to sale, and now he lands on all the newspaper men of the state. It is a great pity that there is only One Righteous Man Left.

Another Bad Mistake.
(From The Lawrenceville News-Herald)
Governor Smith made another bad mistake, and one the effects of which will stick to him like the shirt of Nessus, when he vetoed the bill, which was passed at the request of the Georgia Press Association, allowing the weekly newspapers to sell advertising space in their columns to the railroads in exchange for transportation over their lines. The veto message did not undertake to controvert the right of the weekly papers to dispose of their space in that way, but, in effect, branded their editors as a venal crowd, and likely to suppress their true opinions and become the corrupt allies of these "terrible railroads" if subjected to temptation. An editor who is too subservient and debase to resent so gross an insult deserves all Hoke implies by his words, and the execration of every honest man?

ETNA BELCHES BURNING LAVA

Clouds of Smoke Darken Sky and Make Atmosphere Intolerable.

Catania, Sicily, September 15.—Clouds of smoke from Mount Etna hid the sky and made the atmosphere intolerable today. The volcano continued to throw out lava from the craters and a hundred new fissures.

The river of lava flowing to the north has separated into four main streams, the largest of which is moving toward Alcantara, and is two miles from Francavilla. The railway station of Solicchiata is in immediate danger.

It is estimated that the present eruption has caused so far a property loss of $20,000,000.

A September Roundelay.

I.

September days redolent with light,
Fringed grasses dripping with dew;
Billowy clouds, pink, amber and white
Dappling the skies' ethereal blue—
Zephyrs soft blow,
Lilies sway low,
And sparkling, the waters flow, and flow.

II.

Hurrying on through rush and bracken,
Waves of white shining pebble,
Oh, how they whirl and swerve and slacken
In tender tunes of treble —
They go flashing,
Foaming, and dashing,
Little waters splashing and splashing.

III.

Dancing gayly on, and then darkling,
In green-bright valleys gleaming,
And, on through dense labyrinths sparkling,
In sweet lowlands soft beaming—
And the days seem
One drifting dream
And the nights one gleam, one gleam!

IV.

And down on the river's shaded banks
Where ferns uncurl and breezes play,
Hear the happy birds in gorgeous ranks
All singing a roundelay—
Oh, the blue haze
And jocund ways
Of September days, September days!

CITY NEWS

Tax Books Now Open.—The city tax books are now open for the payment of the last installment of taxes for this year. The tax assessors say they will be pleased to see any good citizen who wants to pay his taxes.

Penitentiary Concert.—The United States penitentiary orchestra will present its first concert in the prison chapel at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The penitentiary orchestra has long been under the careful training of J. P. Matthiessen.

William Fetler Speaks.—Sunday night William Fetler, the hero of the gospel in Russia, will speak at the Second Baptist church. Service begins at 8 o'clock. Dr. John E. White, the pastor, will preach Sunday morning as usual. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. The public cordially invited.

Thrown From Wagon.—E. L. Anderson, a farmer of Gwinnett county, was thrown from his wagon near 74 Pearl street yesterday afternoon, when the horse ran away. At first it was thought he was seriously hurt, perhaps internally, but after receiving attention at the Grady hospital he was able to go home last night.

Sacred Heart Services.—The Sunday services at the Sacred Heart Church, corner Peachtree and Ivy streets, follow: Masses at 7 o'clock, 9:30 and 10:30. Father Rapier will preach at all three masses, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon a meeting will be held for the Sunday school teachers. On Sunday, Father Wilhelmy will hold services in Rome and Father Petit in Cartersville.

Falls From Scaffolding.—Dan Starrett, a painter, fell twelve feet from a scaffolding on the new Smith-Higgins store on Peters street yesterday afternoon, and sustained only a broken arm, when by his presence of mind he managed to catch himself during the fall. He was trying to carry a plank across the scaffold when he lost his balance. He was treated at the Grady hospital, later going to his home, 14 Ridge avenue.

Tyler Cooper Returns.—Hon. John Tyler Cooper, ex-mayor of Atlanta and for years one of its most prominent citizens, returned yesterday from an extended tour of eastern cities. Mr. Cooper left Atlanta nearly a month ago and after a week at Old Point Comfort went on to New York by boat. From New York Mr. Cooper visited Boston and returning stopped off at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Richmond.

Dinner to Ed Barry.—The mail carriers at the Atlanta postoffice who have been associated so long with Ed. Barry, formerly superintendent of the city delivery, but now attached to the postoffice inspecting force, will give Mr. Barry a dinner Monday night of next week at the German Cafe on Pryor street. Many of the carriers have been associated so long with Ed days. Charles Bedford and Charles L. Jones, two carriers, are now arranging for the event.

"Parents and Children."—Rev. A. A. Little, D. D., pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, began a series of sermons last Sunday on the "Family Life." This topic will be presented for several Sundays to come and tomorrow morning. Dr. Little will preach on "Parents and Children," a subject of deep interest to those who are interested in the family life. The Sunday night sermons of Dr. Little on the "Life of Jesus Christ" are attracting good congregations. The hour of service of the night services has been changed to 7:30 o'clock.

Newton Court Convenes.

Covington, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The superior court of Newton county will convene Monday morning with Judge Roan presiding. Several interesting cases are on the docket and in all probability the court will last more than the allotted time. Solicitor Reed will handle the cases for the state and will probably be assisted by his predecessor Congressman William Schley Howard.

CAMILLA CROWD HEARS J. P. BROWN

Candidate for Governor Pledges Himself to Strict Enforcement of the Law.

Camilla, Ga., September 16.—(Special.)—The Hon. J. Pope Brown addressed a large and representative audience here today. He impressed upon the minds of the citizens of Mitchell county that he would enforce the laws that come within his jurisdiction. Mr. Brown was very pronounced in his attitude on state-wide prohibition.

In the course of his remarks, he stated that it was not a multiplicity of laws that the state stood in need of, but the enforcement of those enacted.

Mr. Brown will leave this afternoon for Pelham, where he will deliver another address.

TO FORMALLY ORGANIZE ALTAMAHA BRIDGE CO.

Necessary Funds to Insure Immediate Erection of Structure Have Been Pledged.

Waycross, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Notice has been received here that on September 22 the formal organization of the Altamaha Bridge Company will be made at Lyons. The necessary funds to insure the immediate erection of the bridge that will form an important part of various highway schemes in the state have been pledged.

The entire state is interested in the bridge in view of the frequent tours 'round Georgia. Heretofore the Altamaha has appeared as a distinct barrier to extension of highways, but it will soon be a thing of the past. For several months the movement has been agitated throughout this section and in some cities of the state, the Baxley people taking hold of the proposition in a manner that met hearty response.

NEW SAVANNAH HOTEL CONTRACT IS AWARDED

Philadelphia Concern Will Put Up Building to Succeed Screven House.

Savannah, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The contract for the erection of the new Savannah hotel, which is to occupy the site of the Screven House at Bull and Congress streets, was awarded today to the Charles S. McCaul Contracting Company, of Philadelphia.

The work of demolishing the Screven House will begin tomorrow when the contract is signed and the present occupants of the Screven House move out. The price of the hotel is not made public. It will come, however, within $350,000 at the disposal of the building committee.

An Unusually Good Watch for $15.00

This watch is truly a wonderful value.

It is unquestionably the best combination to be had for anything near the price we ask for it.

In addition to giving a first grade 15-jewel Elgin or Waltham movement, we furnish a genuine 20-year "Crescent" case—either plain Roman, polished, or engine-turned, like cut above.

All of our watches are priced on the same basis as this one, and this means that we give decidedly the best watch values in the South.

Call at the store and see our line, or write for illustrated watch and jewelry catalogue "C."

ROBBERS LOOT MONTREAL BANK

Great Vault Is Cracked and $315,000 Stolen.

Five Cracksmen Blow Safe of Bank of Montreal by Charge of Nitro-Glycerin—Robbers Make a Successful Get-Away With Their Booty.

New Westminster, B. C., September 15.—Three hundred and fifteen thousand dollars was stolen early this morning from the branch of the Bank of Montreal in this city.

Five robbers entered the bank by the front door, broke through the thin metal coating of the vault, blew the safe by a charge of nitro-glycerin and made their escape with their booty without being seen except by a Chinese caretaker.

They probably escaped down the Frazier river in a launch or else by automobile toward Vancouver.

There was in all $350,000 in the bank safes. The robbers took all they could carry, leaving all the silver and notes of small denominations as well as damaged $500 and $10 bills.

The first known of the robbery was when a Chinese caretaker appeared at the police station at 5:30 o'clock and gave the alarm.

He had been tied, but managed to work his bonds loose after the robbers had departed.

It is not known just when the men got into the bank, but it is presumed that it was some time about 4 o'clock this morning, for when the Chinese janitor arrived shortly after 4 o'clock to clean up, he encountered the three men and before the Chinese could give the alarm he was sandbagged and gagged and tied to a chair.

Then the robbers collected the gold and bills in the vault and left the building some time before 5 o'clock, taking more than a quarter of a million dollars with them and leaving about $100,000 behind.

That the robbers are still in the vicinity is apparent by the finding of a powerful automobile stolen from T. J. Trap's garage, broken down in the street. It is thought the safe robbers started to get away in the machine and then had to abandon it.

The Chinese says he opened the door at the front office. He had no sooner set foot inside than he was seized by a large man and two others came a minute later.

"If you make a noise I will kill you," said the larger man, according to the Chinaman's story, and the latter did not make a sound. Two smaller men gagged him, he said, with his own handkerchief. They bound his feet and hands and took him to the basement, where they tied him to a post. It was not until two hours later that he managed to free himself.

The Chinese said he saw only the three men, but he believes at least two others were engaged in the robbery.

This theory is accepted by the police, who think at least two men acted as lookouts during the time that the robbery was taking place.

It is certain that the vault had already been blown before the hour of the Chinaman's arrival, making it appear that the robbers got in their work shortly after midnight for the theft was carried out with great care and precision.

From the front door the robbers evidently had crossed the main office of the bank and ascended a stairway, which led to the rooms of one of the clerks who usually slept in the bank. This young man, however, was not there and there was no person on the premises.

By means of a pick the robbers tore away a hole through the bricks that compose the sides of the general vault and the same instrument was used to break through the thin cast-iron lining of the vault.

The latter was not heavy and it is believed not more than 20 minutes' work was required before the burglars had got into the vault in front of the great steel door.

Robbers Were Pastmasters.

The robbers went at the job like masters. The corners and cracks were filled with nitro-glycerine and from all that can be observed from an examination it is doubtful whether more than one charge was used in smashing the front of the safe. The hole torn out and through which they crawled into the vault, they plugged with the bedding. This deadened the sound and no person has been found who heard the explosion.

A policeman was in the next building not more than ten yards away at the same time and heard nothing. The police station was not more than twice that distance away and nothing was heard there.

Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, all in neat piles of gold and silver and bank notes, was in view when the robbers had blown the inner door. The money was carried into the sleeping room of the absent clerk and there packed up.

There must have been $200,000 in bills of denominations of $500 and $1,000. Then there were many thousands in gold, all of which was taken. The silver was left. Many packages of one, two and five dollars were disdained by the robbers. The two parts of one five-hundred dollar bill was found by the police.

STRUCK BY LIMB, GIRL IS KILLED

Death Comes to Miss Russell, of Metcalfe, While Swinging in Hammock.

Metcalf, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) Miss Laura Russell, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Russell, of this place, died from injuries received when she was struck by a fragment of an old oak tree in the yard of her home.

Miss Russell was in a board hammock when the limb which was one of the swing's supports, crumpled up, a portion striking her in the stomach with such force as to inflict a fatal wound.

She was one of the most charming young women in this section of the state, and since her death her parents have received many expressions of sympathy. Miss Russell was a niece of Mrs. Mary E. Bryan, of Clarkston, Ga.

ONE RICE STREET MADE WABASH AVE. BY CITY

Atlanta Used to Have Three of Them, and They Caused Some Confusion.

Rice street, or rather, a Rice street, for there have been three of them in Atlanta, was changed to Wabash avenue by the street committee of council, which met yesterday afternoon. The particular Rice street which is now Wabash avenue runs from North Jackson street to the railroad crossing.

It was because there were three Rice streets that the residents on one of them asked to be allowed to henceforth reside on Wabash avenue. There appeared before the council committee several ladies and gentlemen who lived on the Rice street which has been changed, and they stated that they were frequently put to great inconvenience because there were too many Rice streets in the city.

"Why have you selected the name of Wabash avenue?" they were asked, and the reply was because Wabash was an Indian name and sounded well.

MRS. JNO. CRANFORD DIES AFTER VERY BRIEF ILLNESS

Married Last September and Was Mother of Babe Three Weeks Old.

Mrs. John Cranford died early yesterday morning at a private sanitarium. Mrs. Cranford was the daughter of L. C. Varnadoe. She was married to Mr. Cranford last September and was at the time of her death eighteen years of age.

The death of Mrs. Cranford was peculiarly sad, as she left a little babe only three weeks old.

The funeral will take place today from the residence of her aunt, Mrs. George Robertson, 31 Ponce de Leon avenue.

NO COMMISSION TO SHACKELFORD

Appointee-Judge Hasn't Claimed His Parchment

Both His and Solicitor Upson's Gubernatorial Warrants for Jobs in Athens Court Await Their Call—They May Be Waiting for an Opinion.

It became known yesterday that for some mysterious reason neither Colonel T. J. Shackelford nor S. C. Upson, recently appointed judge and solicitor, respectively, of the city court of Athens, have not received their commissions, although the terms for which they were appointed by Governor Smith began on September 12.

It was stated at the executive office Friday that the commissions for both Colonel Shackelford and Mr. Upson were prepared several days ago. Both the gentlemen were notified that the commissions were ready for them.

It is customary for the executive office to mail the commissions to appointees by the governor, but in both of these instances Colonel Shackelford and Mr. Upson requested the executive office to hold the commissions, stating they would call for them when in the city.

Accordingly, the commissions have been held at the governor's office while the dispute waxed warm between Colonel Shackelford and Judge Henry West, present judge of the city court, as to who is in office. Since Solicitor Upson succeeds himself there has never been any question concerning his right to office. He at least "holds over."

Secretary Hitch, of the executive office, stated Friday afternoon that Colonel Shackelford had some special reason why he did not wish his commission sent to him, but Mr. Hitch did not state what the reason is.

Mr. Hitch stated further that Colonel Shackelford is expected in Atlanta Monday, at which time it is presumed that he will call upon the governor for his commission and, perhaps, qualify as judge.

Colonel Shackelford could either have his commission mailed to him and take the oath of office before the ordinary of Clarke county or the judge of the superior court, or he could be sworn in by the governor.

It is reported that the matter is being held up pending the rendering of an opinion by the attorney general and other lawyers on the issue of law involved. This could not be confirmed.

It is unlikely that anything will be done until Governor Smith returns to the city.

PAULLIN INVESTIGATES SPREAD OF MALARIA

Will Report to Governor on Conditions in Vicinity of Big Dam.

Following the investigation of conditions at the big dam which has been built across the river at Jackson, Butts county, by the Central Georgia Power Company, and which, it is charged, has resulted in an extensive spread of malarial fever, Dr. J. Edgar Paullin, of the state board of health, has prepared a report which he will submit to Governor Smith upon the latter's return to Atlanta today.

Dr. Paullin visited the dam at the request of Governor Smith, following an urgent appeal which was made upon the governor by citizens living in the neighborhood of the dam.

The committee claimed that the dam had caused the waters to back up and stagnate, resulting in the creation of Myriads of mosquitoes, which, it is claimed, have spread malarial fever over an area of several square miles, and which has resulted in a number of deaths. It was claimed that tenants were moving away from the neighborhood of the dam and that thousands of acres of cotton and other crops were going to ruin in the fields, because there are no hands to harvest them.

Dr. Paullin made a thorough inspection of the conditions at the dam and has covered the subject fully in his report to the governor. He stated Friday that he felt he should not discuss the report until it is made public by the governor.

MAJ. JOHN D. HELMKEN DIES IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Major John D. Helmken, one of the best known citizens of Savannah, died today at the Savannah hospital, after an illness of five months. He underwent an operation at the hospital a week ago.

Major Helmken came to Savannah when 17 years of age from Worsuede, near Bremen, Germany, where he was born fifty-four years ago. Besides his wife, Mrs. Annie H. F. Helmken, he is survived by four sons, Henry F., John D. Jr., William H., and Bernhardt Helmken, all of this city, and a sister, Mrs. H. Otten, of Germany.

The deceased was manager of the Consolidated Bottling works For 27 years he was a member of the German Volunteers, having served in the ranks and held every office up to and including that of major in the First regiment. He was appointed colonel on the governor's staff during the administration of Governor Brown.

Largest and Best Line of Metal Shingles
In the World

No man who gives careful thought to the lasting qualities of a roof will use the old style wooden shingle, which soon rots away and must be replaced, or burns up, house and all. Our metal shingles have come into almost universal use because they are durable—ornamental—waterproof, fireproof and trouble proof—eliminate repair costs—reduce insurance rates.

We manufacture by far the best line of metal shingles in the world, and our long experience is shown in the superior merit of our products—we've made a study of metal shingles, and know how to make them right. The various patterns and grades give ample range for a selection that will meet any idea of style or cost.

"NEW CENTURY" Our well-known, standard metal shingle, now covering more than 250 acres of roofs. A design that harmonizes with any style of architecture.

"DORIC" A new pattern, made after the strong but chaste lines of Grecian architecture. Very popular with architects and builders who prefer simplicity of design.

"OLD ENGLISH TILE" Another new pattern, and one that permits builders to finish roofs in harmony with English architecture. Embossing is square at bottom as well as at top, giving an appearance that closely resembles Old English tile. Write for Shingle Catalog No. 25.

SOUTHERN ORNAMENTAL METAL CEILINGS

Made in beautiful designs of Louis XIV and Colonial periods. Fireproof, last a lifetime, save insurance, and reduce repair expense to a minimum. Eliminate danger from falling plaster. Illustrated catalog for the asking.

GWINNETT COUNTY GRAND JURY COMMENDS BRAND'S ACTION

Lawrenceville, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The grand jury yesterday unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"This jury and the people of Gwinnett county have sympathized with Walton county and Judge C. H. Brand while the wholesale accusations were being made against both growing out of the lynchings in that county. Any intelligent man knows that Judge Brand is not and should not be held responsible for these lynchings, and this jury, and so far as we can learn, this entire county, the county of his adoption, resent such a charge.

"We are opposed to lynching and mob law in all its forms and believe in the law being upheld and obeyed by all, but when a negro man assaults a white woman and is lynched for it despite the officers' efforts to afford him a legal trial, we are unalterably opposed to any and all efforts trying to make a hero out of the ravisher.

"In our opinion Judge Brand never did the people a greater service than when he refused to order the military to Monroe. The course he pursued, in our judgment, was the only wise and proper thing to do under the circumstances. We commend him for the courage and fearlessness he manifested in the face of plots and opposition to move him from his position."

ATLANTA HORSES ARE WINNERS AT THE KNOXVILLE HORSE SHOW

By Miss Isma Dooly.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 15.—(Special.)—Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes, of Kentucky; E. B. Cook, of Shelbyville, Ky., and Mr. J. K. Ottley, of Atlanta, won the greater number of ribbons in the Knoxville horse show.

Mr. Ottley won two championship ribbons on Annie Russell, a reserve championship on Littian, and sixteen ribbons on his horses, Annie Littian, McAltarra and Bonnie Lee.

Mr. D. N. McCullough won ribbons in every class he entered. Aurora won three blues, three reds and three whites. Creme De Menthe won one blue, two reds and one white.

Mr. Inman won fourth money in the five-gaited saddle class, with a $1,000 stake. He won many blues and reds on his two beautiful horses, Chester Bird and Lawson.

Miss Mary Algood Jones, Miss Charles Owens and Miss Josephine Windle won many honors. Mr. W. H. Savage, Mr. Frank Stewart, Mr. Inman, Mr. Jones and Mr. Oglesby were winners of blue and red ribbons.

Bridge Party for Miss Ellis.

Mrs. W. D. Ellis and Mrs. William Rhett entertained at a very delightful bridge party yesterday afternoon at their home on Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Adgate Ellis, who leaves soon for Virginia, where she will enter Hollins Institute for the coming school year. Flowers and ferns added to the attractiveness of the handsome home, golden-glow and ferns being used in the library and hall and pink and white roses in the dining room.

The prizes were silk stockings, for top score and for consolation and Miss Ellis was given a white Irish lace collar.

Mrs. Ellis was gowned in black silk and Mrs. Rhett wore a white lingerie gown. Miss Ellis wore a blue lingerie.

Overflow at Tift.

Forsyth, Ga., September 15.—Bessie Tift college has a problem on its hands. Its 365 girls have overflowed the dormitories and are finding homes among the hospitable people of Forsyth and in the comfortable cottages of the campus. The need of the endowment fund, now under way, to provide buildings, is clearly indicated.

The many changes in personnel of the faculty make it almost new, though the more experienced of the teachers have been retained this year. The heads of the various departments are announced as follows.

Dr. E. C. James, dean of the faculty and director of philosophy.

Miss Denmark, history; Miss Abbott, modern language; Miss Harris, literature; Miss Young, English; Mr. Whatley, science; Miss McDowell, Latin; Mr. Thickstun, music. There are many assistants in the various branches.

The formal opening exercises are over and the college has begun active work on what promises to be the most successful year in its history.

Miss Cobb's Tea to Visitors.

A beautiful event of yesterday afternoon was the tea given by Miss Marie Cobb, at her home on the Boulevard, in honor of Miss Martha McCru and Miss Madge Pollock. The house was attractively decorated with ferns and quantities of garden flowers. In the dining room the color scheme of pink prevailed. Bowls of pink roses were placed on mantels and cabinets, and the tea table, covered with a Cluny lace cloth, had for a centerpiece a large crystal basket filled with pink roses and ferns, and the handle tied with pink tulle.

The silver candelabra held pink candles, under pink silk shades, and the ices, cakes and bonbons were in pink.

Miss Cobb, the charming young hostess, wore a white lingerie gown, and Mrs. Cobb, who assisted her daughter in receiving the guests, was gowned in an embroidered blue mull combined with lace.

Misses Laura Sawtell, Dodo White and Frances Bailey presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Elizabeth Foster, Miss Martha Crane, Miss Elizabeth Denman, Miss Willie Williams, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Mary Rice, Miss Laura Cole and Miss Louise Parker assisted in entertaining.

Dinner Party Given by Miss Mildred Rutherford in London.

Miss Mildred Lewis Rutherford, of Athens, who has been traveling the past summer in Europe with a party of fourteen, reached London early in September, and gave a dinner at the St. Ermins, London, to her party. The honorees, the ones whose birthdays were celebrated on the journey, were Miss Rutherford, at Genoa; Miss Margaret Hawkins, of Atlanta, Paris; Miss Sara Dorsey, Atlanta, on board the Saxonia; Miss Dorothy Harman, Atlanta, Florence, Italy; Miss Helen Michael, Athens, Nuremburg, Germany; Mrs. R. T. Dorsey, Edinburg, Scotland.

Lady Playfair (pink) chrysanthemums were used in great profusion for decorations. Pink was the color used in the details of the table, exquisite in all of its appointments. There were Georgia flags at each cover, and the favors were hand-painted Dresden plates and brides' cups, the onl Nuremburg souvenirs, so ancient and of real silver.

The menu was:

Creme Sarah
Sole-Frite O'Kins (Hawkins)
Pommes Dorothee (Harman)
Poulet Roti d'Orsay (Dorsey)
Salade Hiline (Michael)
Souffle Surprise Washington
Dessert
Chateau Rutherford.

Miss Rutherford was gowned in black velvet and white lace. Mrs. Dorsey wore black messaline; Miss Park's gown was white mull, and the young ladies wore Paris creations in delicate shades. The toasts were varied—many of them witty, but the one that appealed to each one most was Miss Rutherford's "To the Loved Ones at Home."

Miss Rutherford's party has been greatly admired among the many parties they have met while traveling in Europe—as pleased and happy and a credit to the wonderful good management, in all details, of this noted Georgia woman, Miss Mildred Lewis Rutherford.

Miss Rutherford's Party in London.

In a letter received this week by an Atlanta friend from Mrs. James B. Parks, who is with Miss Mildred Rutherford's party in London, she says:

"Miss Rutherford's party have just had a pleasant meeting with Miss Mary E. Johnston, the noted southern writer, who has apartments at the St. Ermines. She was very charming and is looking well and is a type of the women of Virgiina, her native state, which tells the whole story of the useful life."

DAILY FASHION HINTS

HOW ONE WOMAN CONTRIVED A BLOUSE OUT OF SCRAPS.

This charming lingerie blouse was actually made from remnants of material picked out of a bag of odds and ends. Two sorts of embroidery insertion form the blouse and sleeve, the embroidery being joined with Cluny entre deux. There being not enough embroidery to complete the blouse a yoke and under sleeve were made of Val lace, strips of it being joined with the Cluny entre deux. Finally the whole blouse was dipped in a weak tea solution and made a pale ecru in tone to harmonize with the dark-brown mohair tailored suit.

For Mrs. Vidmer.

Mrs. George Vidmer, of Fort Oglethorpe, who is the guest of Mrs. Emil Laurson, was entertained at a delightful little dinner party last evening by Mr. William C. Hall at his home.

Mrs. Laurson was gowned in yellow lace with trimming of black velvet.

Mrs. Vidmer's gown was white lingerie with pink sash.

The guests included Mrs. Vidmer, Lieutenant and Mrs. Laurson and Lieutenant Symington.

STEWART AVENUE PEOPLE WANT STREET CAR LINE

A meeting of the property owners on Stewart avenue, from Whitehall street to Hapeville, was held at the home of Mr. Charles Deckner, in the interest of a new street car line on Stewart avenue from Capitol View to Hapeville.

The meeting was largely attended; there being present the property owners representing 75 per cent of the property frontage on Stewart avenue from Capitol View to Hapeville. Every one present was very enthusiastic and a permanent organization was effected for the purpose of either inducing the Georgia Railway and Electric Company to extend its present line or obtaining a franchise for an interurban line to Jonesboro.

There will be another meeting held on September 30.

FRIGHTFUL SUFFERING OF A WOMAN

Mrs. Garrett, of Vandervoort, Describes How She Suffered and How She Got Relief.

Vandervoort, Ark.—Mrs. Dora Garrett, of this place, says: "I suffered every month, for a year, and got weaker every day. My head and back would ache so bad I could not sit up. I tried all kinds of medicines, and they all failed to cure me. Then my mother told me to take Cardui. When I had taken one bottle, I was able to do all of my work. I can recommend Cardui to be the greatest woman's remedy in the world. I have used it and know what it will do."

When a woman is ill, the real trouble is generally some derangement of her constitution, and the headache, and backache, etc., are merely symptoms of her womanly weakness. The proper treatment, therefore, is Cardui, the woman's tonic. No other medicine, or tonic, has exactly the same results as Cardui. No other has the record of so many years of successful use in cases of womanly ailments.

If Mrs. Garrett had taken Cardui sooner, she might have been spared the long sickness and much suffering. A few doses of Cardui at the right time will often save serious suffering and prevent a long sickness. Don't delay. Begin to take Cardui at once.

TAFT CELEBRATES 54TH BIRTHDAY

Congratulatory Messages Came to President From Four Quarters of Earth.

Beverly, Mass., September 15.—This was President Taft's fifty-fourth birthday.

Congratulatory messages poured into the executive offices from all over the world. One came from King George V of England. It read as follows:

"Balmoral Castle, September 15.—President of the United States: I have great pleasure in sending you my most hearty congratulations on the anniversary of your birthday, and trust that the friendly relations existing between our two countries may ever continue."

GOVENORS CLOSE THEIR MEETING

Supreme Court to Be Presented With Petition for Protection of States' Rights.

Spring Lake, N. J., September 15.—The third annual governors' conference came to an unexpected close here late today, after the conferees had waited two hours to hear Governor Dix, of New York, who was delayed in reaching Spring Lake. Although the program was to have extended through tomorrow, illness and inability to attend on the part of several scheduled speakers led to the discovery today that there would be no matters claiming the attention of the gathering longer.

Fifteen governors who met at the afternoon session today held what they termed an experience meeting. Governor Shafroth, of Colorado, discussed the state prison law, and other reforms in his state, and Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, likewise told of reform movements in his state.

"This," he said in conclusion, "deserves a better name, perhaps, than the governors' conference. This is the ancient and amalgamated order of governors, the governors' union."

Governors Stubbs of Kansas, Vessey of South Dakota, and O'Neal of Alabama, made addresses outlining reforms recently adopted by their respective states. Governor Dix followed the first of these, delivering an address on taxation.

Governor Augustus E. Willson, of Kentucky thanked the committee on arrangements for its work, and the conference adjourned to meet at Richmond, Va., in December, 1912.

The committee of governors who will present on behalf of twenty-four states a plea to the federal supreme court for protection of states' rights met here today.

Governor Harmon, chairman, has decided to map out a line of procedure at once.

"The proposition is a matter of fact one," he said. "As to the method in which it will be taken to the supreme court I cannot see that it should cause surprise. The governor is certainly the representative of the entire state and, by virtue of his office, is entrusted with the duty of seeing that the state's interests are protected."

Before departing for Knoxville Governor Harmon prepared a statement concerning the newly appointed committee as follows:

Line of Procedure Outlined.

"In view of an apparent misunderstanding by some of the action of the conference yesterday, it is deemed advisable that a statement should be made as to its exact nature and purpose.

"As to the decision of the United States circuit court in what is known as the Minnesota rate case, to the effect that the state of Minnesota had no authority to regulate railroad rates within its own borders, because interstate commerce was thereby affected, and as other cases involving the same questions in other states would soon come before the supreme court of the United States for decision, the conference considered it advisable to appoint a committee to see that the state's side of this controversy is properly prepared and presented to the supreme court.

"The committee expects to deal only with the legal side of this controversy and the action taken yesterday was one of only ordinary precaution. Every state in the union is equally and vitally interested in the decision of this question, as the right of each state to regulate its own internal commerce would be destroyed by an adverse decision. We expect to ascertain what cases will first be considered by the supreme court, and, if it is deemed advisable, will ask leave to present to the court a brief and argument in support of the right of the states to regulate commerce wholly within their borders."

CHARLES CRISP VISITS FITZGERALD FRIENDS

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Hon. Charles R. Crisp, of Americus, is in town today looking up old friends and making new ones in the interest of his candidacy for representative from the Third Congressional district. He goes home tomorrow, but will return later and hold a public meeting, at which he will present his claims to the seat in congress, which he held sixteen years ago when appointed to fill his father's unexpired term.

Mr. Crisp feels that his added experience since then will now enable him to serve the people of this district with greater satisfaction than he could at that time. He feels gratified at the encouragement which he has received duirng his visit.

Home for Cloverhurst Club.

Athens, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) The Cloverhurst Country Club, which numbers the leading society, professional and literary men of the city among its membership, yesterday evening adopted plans drawn by Professor Fred Orr for a clubhouse to cost about $6,000, and to be erected on the splendid 45-acre tract adjoining the country home of Judge Hamilton McWhorter, where the golf links are already situated. The committee to superintend the building, which is to be begun at once, consists of Hugh H. Gordon, John Morris, W. O. Payne, Harry C. Stockdell and E. R. Hodgson, Jr. The building will be a beautiful one for the purpose, and original in design. The country club has had applications from twenty-one gentlemen for membership in the past month, and interest is fine in the new clubhouse.

Fire at Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Late last night a store on Knight avenue, owned by Thomas Brothers and used for storage only, was destroyed by fire, with small insurance. A large negro church and several smaller structures were threatened, but the immediate attention of the firemen kept the loss down to the one store.

THEATERS

"The Red Rose" Monday.

(At the Atlanta.)

Monday night Atlanta will get its first taste of musical comedy this season, when the latest success, "The Red Rose," will open at the new Atlanta theater. Seats are now selling for this production, which is counted upon to seat a new record. The comedy is made up of fine dancing, good singing, and real comedy work. Twenty-four song hits are scheduled in the list, including some of the prettiest and most tuneful numbers o frecent years. The dancing is a tremendous feature of the production. The original English pony ballet does some wonderful special toe and fancy steps, while other dancing numbers are decidedly interesting. "The Students' Glide" is a unique specialty dance which was the rage of New York during the run of "The Red Rose" at the Glode theater. Tuesday a popular-price matinee will be given.

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" Coming.

(At the Atlanta.)

Following "The Red Rose" another fine musical comedy will come to the new Atlanta. This is "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which comes south for the first time after a year's run at Weber's theater in New York. A fine supporting company assists the leaders, Charles A. Murray, Maitland Davies and Nannette Flack, principals. The song hits of the show are numerous, including "Alma," "Girlies," "Never More," "The Land of Beautiful Dreams," "Kiss Me, My Love," "Childhood Days," "Boogie Boog," and "Love Me." Seats go on sale this morning for the engagement, which opens Wednesday night of next week and continues through Saturday night, with a popular-price matinee Saturday afternoon.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

Final performances of "The Blue Mouse" will be given at the Lyric at matinee this afternoon and tonight. The summer season at the cosy little theater on Carnegie Way will be brought to a close with the performance this evening and at that time Miss Emma Bunting, the leading lady, and her splendid players, will say goodbye to a host of friends. The farewell week has proved a red letter event in the history of the Lyric. Crowded houses have attended every performance. "The Blue Mouse" is the most amusing farce comedy ever written by Clyde Fitch and it has proved a most acceptable bill. At the hands of the Bunting players it has been given a most sumptuous production. There are three acts and each has been supplied with handsome and elaborate stage settings. Stage Director Leonard has outdone himself in putting the play on in true metropolitan style. Not a detail which could in any way add to the completeness of the presentation has been omitted or neglected. A better piece for the farewell week could not have been selected.

"The Millionaire Kid."

(At the Lyric.)

"The Millionaire Kid," a drama with music by the author of "The Candy Kid," and "The Cowboy Girl," is the offering at the Lyric, commencing next Monday. This play was one of the biggest hits of the season last year and is universally praised by the press, both as a play of intense dramatic interest and music of the kind you whistle for days after you have seen the performance.

Raymond Paine, who again has the title role, is a young actor of exceptional ability and sings and dances in a manner that creates a great hit with the audience. Mr. Paine has a local following here, created by his excellent work in the title role last season and the mere announcement of his being connected again with this popular play, will undoubtedly be met with pleasure.

Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There is a something about that bill of vaudeville at the busy and popular Forsyth that is magnetic. All the week the theater has been crowded, and mind you, this isn't theater-going weather, for walking is right good, front porches are most inviting, and for those who have theater-going in mind there is the farewell of one star, the opening of another theater, and still the firm and established busy Forsyth stays busy. Wonderful, indeed, but not so wonderful after all, for there is one of those worth-while shows doing the entertaining, and there are acts that are powerful enough in their ability to entertain to make folks care to wander from some other line of thought.

The act that is accomplishing most this week is the comedy offering of Swor and Mack. They are not the hits of the bill exactly, but they produce more laughter and leave the audience in a mighty good humor. There isn't any question but that Covington and Wilber scored the best of the week. Here is a remarkably clever play, and it is a play played by two people.

M'CARTHY SAYS HE IS CANDIDATE

Chatham Representative Announces for Office of Commissioner of Labor.

Savannah, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Indorsed by the Savannah Trade and Labor Assembly and importuned by people all over the state to make the race, Hon. Joseph McCarthy, representative in the legislature from Chatham county, today formally announced his candidacy for the position of commissioner of labor.

The bill creating this important department was adopted largely through the efforts of Mr. McCarthy, who offered it.

The position will be filled at the special election to be held at the same time as the governor's election.

Validate Lawrenceville Bonds.

Lawrenceville, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Thirty-five thousand dollars worth of water bonds for the city of Lawrenceville were validated in the superior court here yesterday.

The election was held August 23 for $50,000 to be used for water and sewers, but after the election it was discovered that the city charter forbids the floating of over $40,000, and as there was already $5,000 school bonds outstanding, the court was asked to allow the water bonds to be issued, and at the next session of the legislature the charter will be changed and another election held for sewerage.

Ware County to Exhibit.

Waycross, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been made by Ware county through the board of trade to have an agricultural exhibit at the Michigan state fair in Detroit this month. The same exhibit will in all probability be taken to the Illinois state fair at Springfield for a showing of ten days early in October. The agricultural exhibit that will be used will be general in nature, but will feature corn and pecans.

Attendance at Bunn-Bell.

Waycross, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The registration of pupils at Bunn-Bell institute here continues and now nineteen south Georgia counties have representation among those attending the institute. Plans for better buildings for the boys' dormitories and other improvements are being considered, due to the remarkable attendance.

Eric Harben, Dalton.

Dalton, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) The funeral of little Eric Harben was held this morning at the home of Colonel and Mrs. W. C. Martin. The funeral was conducted by Rev. W. R. Foote, of the First Methodist church. Services were held at West Hill cemetery.

STOLYPIN MAY SURVIVE ATTACK

Physicians Hold Out Hope For Russian Premier.

Attempted Assassination Was Dramatic in Extreme—Premier's Injury, It Is Feared, May Incite Anti-Jewish Outbreaks in South Russia.

Kiev, Russia, September 15.—Premier Stolypin, who was shot down in the municipal theater here last night, in all probability will survive his wounds. Late tonight the surgeons announced that the premier's condition was satisfactory. They declared no complications were feared, and that there were good hopes for his recovery.

The following bulletin was posted at the hospital this evening:

"During the day there was little change in M. Stolypin's condition. His temperature was 98.6, pulse 82 to 90, and respiration 22 to 24. Despite intermittent intestinal pains, the patient had several periods of peaceful sleep."

The local police believe Bogroff, the would-be assassin, is a political malcontent, and the reasons for the crime were his hatred for M. Stolypin, due to the premier's reactionary policy. They fear the attempt to kill M. Stolypin is the first of a series of outrages planned for the autumn and winter.

Bogroff Sullen and Silent.

At his examination today Bogroff was sullen, and refused to give any information concerning the shooting.

Emperor Nicholas visited M. Stolypin at a hospital this morning, and later in the day reviewed 90,000 troops on the maneuver field at Kopylow.

The assassination was attempted under circumstances most dramatic. The would-be murderer, who described himself as a junior member of a firm of lawyers and the son of a well known attorney and wealthy house owner, M. Bogroff, chose a moment when attention of the audience centered readily upon his first unexpected move.

The day had been one of festivities in which Emperor Nicholas and others of the imperial family had personally participated.

Premier Attacked in Theater.

The day's program was to close with a gala performance of the opera and ballet, "Tsar Soltan." Admission to the Municipal theater was by card, and these permits had been issued with great discrimination to leading citizens.

At 9 o'clock the curtain rose. The imperial box was occupied by Emperor Nicholas, the heir apparent; Grand Duke Alexis, and the emperor's daughters, the Grand Duchesses Olga, Tatiana Marc and Anastasia. In the front row of the pit, directly at the rear of the orchestra, were seated Premier Stolypin and his associates in the ministry.

During the second act intermission Premier Stolypin leaning his left arm upon the orchestra fence, had turned his face to the right toward the center aisle, conversing with the minister of war, General Soukhomlinoff and Count Potocky. A young man in evening dress moved quietly down the center aisle, approached the row occupied by the ministers and appeared to accost M. Stolypin.

A second later he drew a revolver from his coat and emptied it seemingly point blank at M. Stolypin.

Wild Cry From Spectators.

There was a wild cry from the spectators, who rose simultaneously, many of the women immediately sinking into their chairs fainting.

Emperor Nicholas sprang from his chair and stepping to the front of the imperial box, stared in the direction of the wounded premier. With a quick realization of what had occurred, his majesty ordered the orchestra to play the national anthem.

One of the coolest figures was that of M. Stolypin who was twice wounded. One bullet had entered the right breast and the other the right wrist. With great courage he faced the imperial box and made the sign of the cross toward the emperor. Then he dropped into his seat and removed his uniform coat to examine his injuries.

Amid wild confusion Bogroff slipped toward an exit. Before he could reach it, however, he was seized and trampled under foot. He was rescued by police. As the premier was being taken down the aisle he witnessed a remarkable demonstration of loyalty. While, responding to the command of the emperor, the orchestra played the national anthem, the curtain rose and the artists, still in the costumes of the opera, knelt at the anthem and repeated it five times, the audience joining in a chorus of "God Save Thy People." The emperor made his acknowledgment by repeated bows. Then with his children he left the theater.

With the departure of the royal family the police took possession of the opera house. The audience was allowed to leave only one by one, after the identification.

ATLANTA REAL ESTATE MEN GATHER AT ANNUAL SPREAD

Leaders in realty field assembled at Durand's cafe for the second annual banquet.

The second annual meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate Men's Association held in Durand's banquet hall, last night proved an unqualified success.

Following the meal, which was served in Durand's best style, President Cochran proposed that the meetings be held monthly and that at each meeting some topic agreed upon by a committee on entertainment should be discussed. Not only, said he, would the meetings be conducive to a closer spirit of union among the members of the association, but they should also be utilized toward bringing the members to a better realization of the necessities and requirements of the cities. "Pull for a better, bigger, brighter Atlanta," was the substance of his remarks. His suggestion was accepted.

The committee upon entertainment had settled upon parks as the subject of discussion for the evening. Naturally parks brought up the question of city government and it did not take long for W. J. Wildauer, an able adherent of the new charter, to point out the fact that under the present system of government the parks of Atlanta have been sadly neglected even though certain officials had done all in their power to remedy such conditions.

He proposed that the mayor and council be requested by the association to refrain from selling any more city property, and that it also be recommended to buy lands in congested sections where parks are needed. "Men who have to sell city property to pay city employees are not competent to govern a city," declared Mr. Wildauer, "and I am in favor of this body taking a stand in the matter. Atlanta certainly needs a new government, and that takes into consideration the fact that few people are now wealthy enough to have back yards adequate for games such as football and baseball and the present lawmakers seem to be in favor of still further limiting, instead of increasing, playgrounds and parks in the city."

Other speakers indorsed his sentiments concerning the parks, while the association went on record as favoring the further purchase of lands for parks, while requesting the mayor and council to abstain from the sale of any city lands hereafter.

GEN. WM. R. BOGGS CALLED BY DEATH

Brigadier General of Confederate Army Was a Native of Augusta, Ga.

Winston-Salem, N. C., September 15. General William R. Boggs, one of the few remaining generals of the confederacy, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Taylor here. He was a native of Augusta, Ga., and was 88 years old.

General Boggs was well last night and his death was sudden.

William Roberson Boggs was graduated from West Point in 1853. He entered the service of the confederacy in 1861, attaining the rank of brigadier general. He was appointed chief of the staff of the Trans-Mississippi department of the southery army in 1863 and served in that capacity until the end of the war. He married, in 1855, Mary Sophia, daughter of Colonel John Symington, U. S. A.

Since 1865, General Boggs has followed the occupations of architect and civil engineer, and was for five years professor of mechanics at the Virginia Mechanical College.

TAFT IS OFF ON LONG TOUR

President Will Cover 13,000 Miles and Will Speak in 24 States.

Boston, September 15.—President Taft left Boston at 7:35 o'clock tonight on his 13,000-mile speaking tour, embracing twenty-four states and continuing until November 1. His departure in the special train prepared for his party was signalized by an enthusiastic demonstration from several hundred persons gathered at the South station to bid him God-speed.

A drizzle of rain followed the president's motor trip from Paramatta to this city. Midway on the road he was forced, with other occupants of his automobile, to alight and get into the automobile of the secret service men, owing to a slight accident to his own machine.

When the special train left, the president's immediate party consisted of Secretary Charles D. Hilles, Major A. W. Butt, military aide, and Major Thomas L. Rhodes, U. S. A., the president's physician. Three secret service guards and nine newspaper men accompanied the party. The train consisted of a baggage car, coach, the Pullman private car Ideal, to be occupied by the president and his immediate party, the Pullman compartment cars Texas and Florida, and a dining car. The coach is to be carried over the entire journey, as it has been found on previous trips that so many committee delegations have boarded the train that there has not been a room in the sleeping cars to properly care for them.

From the beginning to the end of the trip the train will carry superintendents, trainmasters and other operating officials on the various lines over which it moves and it is estimated that between 45,000 and 50,000 railroad men will be directly concerned and engaged in transporting the presidential party.

President Taft will deliver his first address at Syracuse, N. Y., tomorrow afternoon. He has prepared a second, which he will deliver at Erie, Pa., tomorrow night.

Taft at New York Fair.

Syracuse, September 15.—President William H. Taft will be the guest of honor at the New York State Fair tomorrow. Shortly before noon he will deliver his first address on his "swing around the circle."

The president will be entertained at breakfast by the chamber of commerce. Preceding the breakfast, a reception will be held. He will be escorted to the exposition by a cavalry troop of the National Guard, and will speak in Empire court. After the address the president will be entertained at luncheon.

Rain Stops Ward.

Susquehanna, Pa., September 15.—Aviator Ward did not atempt to leave Calicoon, N. Y., today. A cold rain and heavy winds deterred the cross-continent flyer from going into the air. He hopes to resume his trip tomorrow.

'DRUMMER PARSON' IS CHARGED WITH CHEATING AND SWINDLING

Athens, Ga., September 15.—(Special.) A warrant charging cheating and swindling was sworn out this evening by N. M. Embree, who moved September 1 to Athens from Atlanta, for the apprehension and arrest of Rev. H. C. Compton, pastor till last Sunday of the Second Baptist Church of this city, and known over the state and into Alabama as the "drummer parson." He is a revivalist of no mean repute, who, on an invitation of a leading New York Baptist church last year, conducted a great meeting in this city and was commented on much on account of his preaching a series of sermons on "The Seven Monuments of Gotham." He promoted a union theological seminary for Athens also.

The warrant charges cheating and swindling in connection with the transaction of selling to Mr. Embree a soda fountain and cigar stand on the main street, the sale being made September 1. Mr. Embree claims a number of gross misrepresentations.

The warrant was placed in the hands of the chief of police, who learned that the preacher-drummer is in Atlanta and the police in Atlanta have been notified. It is reported that Mrs. Compton and the children of the preacher, by his first wife, left this afternoon for Atlanta.

Mr. Compton has been connected with two or three business firms here, mostly in the drug lines, which he carried when on the road. He took a place as traveling salesman two weeks ago for a Richmond tea and coffee concern.

ELOQUENT LECTURE GIVEN BY DR. CAMPBELL MORGAN

For more than two hours last night Dr. Campbell Morgan, the distinguished English divine, held an audience of many hundreds at the new Baptist Tabernacle under the spell of his eloquence the while he related his entrancing theory of "The Music of Life." The lecture is itself a poem, a poem of many lights and shadows, running the gamut of all the emotions. The orator found music in all the seven ages of man and in his discourse led his hearers through many pleasant places, though the note of the pathos was strongly sounded through it all.

Dr. Morgan was introduced by Rev. Len G. Broughton, who said he regretted that duties of state had prevented Governor Hoke Smith from performing that service.

In the beginning Dr. Morgan explained that our use of the word "music" is a restricted one and that he meant to use it in the sense the ancient Greeks did, who regarded it as synonymous with culture. He said he held strongly that in music we have the most perfect expression of the universal beauty and order. "I venturp to say that in the universe, so far as we know it, man is in himself the most perfect musical instrument it is possible to think of, and I propose to take human life in its seven ages—or pages, let us call them—and speak of the qualities by which life at the different periods is controlled," said he.

The "pages" as he announced them were: Infancy, Childhood, Youth, Manhood, Parenthood, Age and Old Age, and he declared the essential notes which make the music at these periods. Natural humanity is music, he said. The first note in the music of infancy is its absolute perfection. And, as paradoxical as it may seem, the second note is its imperfection. The little lift, while perfect of itself, is dependent upon others; the babe would pine and perish unless cared for by others. The third note, perhaps the supreme note, is the fact that every child is a potentiality, and therefore a promise. It is very true that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, said Dr. Morgan, but it is just as true, he added, that the baby in the cradle rules the hand that rocks it. The speaker grew very eloquent in his pictures of the possibilities of the great things that may be in store for the babes who are now resting in their cradles and the dreams their parents have of them.

Saturday morning Dr. Morgan will continue his series of sermons on "The Christian Church." At 8 o'clock in the evening addresses will be delivered by Dr. McArthur, of New York, and Mr. Fetler, of St. Petersburg, Russia. Dr. Broughton announced that Mr. Fetler has a marvelously interesting story to tell and advised all his hearers to attend the service. The dedication services will be concluded Sunday. The Sunday school department will be dedicated in the lower Tabernacle in the morning. The address will be delivered by N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, N. C., an uncle of the pastor of the ne wchurch. At 11 o'clock Dr. Morgan will deliver the dedication sermon and at 3 o'clock Dr. McArthur will deliver the dedication address. Dr. Morgan will preach the final sermon at 8 o'clock in the evening.

TO STUDY WEEVIL IN TEXAS FIELDS

New Orleans, September 15.—Thomas G. Hudson, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture; E. L. Worsham, entomologist, and John Reese, representing The Macon (Ga.) Telegraph, stopped here today en route to Texas to study the boll weevil at first hand.

Mr. Hudson will make an especial study of the Texas way of fighting the weevil; Mr. Reese will keep his Georgia readers advised of progress, and Mr. Worsham will study the insect scientifically. Mr. Worsham said the weevil was not far from the Georgia line in its eastern march, and he hoped this trip to Texas would aid greatly in the fight.

Strike at Eufaula.

Eufaula, Ala., September 15.—(Special.)—Because they asked for higher wages, which, it is said, was promised them last spring, and which was not forthcoming, about 20 men employed in the card room of the Cowikee Cotton Mills went on a strike Wednesday noon and walked out of the mill. Following the strike of the card room men, 15 weavers, who, it is said, were also promised a raise walked out of the mill. Others employed there joined the strikers, it is said, until about half of the 150 hands employed were included in the strike.

MORTUARY

H. G. Baker, Lyerly.

Lyerly, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—H. G. Baker, aged 69 years and a confederate veteran, passed away at his home near here after an illness of several months. Funeral services were conducted by his beloved pastor, Rev. B. F. Hunt, assisted by Rev. W. C. Cordle. Surviving Mr. Baker are two sons, Russell and Edmund Baker, and three daughters, Mrs. J. V. Wheeler, Mrs. D .D. Dover, of this place, and Mrs. Lester Williams, of Walker county.

Mrs. Mary A. Pond.

Mrs. Mary A. Pond, aged sixty-two years, died at the residence, 310 State street, yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. The funeral will be conducted from the residence this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and the interment will be in Sardis church. She is survived by one son and one daughter.

Randolph Bird.

Randolph, the nine-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bird, died at the residence in Riverside yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. The funeral will be conducted from the residence this morning at 9 o'clock, and the interment will be in Hollywood.

BRIDES DEATH MYSTERY STILL

of Mrs. Maude Childers—which, on account of attending circumstances, has shocked the entire state.

Did young Kennedy administer the fatal dose? Could he have thus taken the young life of the beautiful woman whom he had once professed to so love and admire? What could have been the motive prompting such an atrocious act? She had been for six months the wife of Mort Childers—his friend—and thus was no more to him. Every day he saw them together. He lived under the same roof with them, in fact, yet no one had ever suspected for a moment that the spark of former love still smoldered in his heart, nor do any of his friends believe it now.

What could have inspired him to thus take her pure young life, if take it he did?

Denies Conflicting Statements.

In an alleged statement, made at Carrollton, Ga., where his arrest was effected, he is quoted as saying that he could not bear to see pretty Etta Richardson the wife of another man. But he now denies having made such statement, or another to the effect that, while he, himself, did not place strychnine in the phial of sal-hepatica upon Mrs. Childers' dresser, he knew who did it.

Could he, in this latter alleged statement, have referred to the young husband, against whom, it seems, cruel stories have been circulated? Since the day that pretty Mrs. Childers died in terrible agony such stories have been industriously circulated, and as steadfastly refuted by the bereaved young husband and his hundreds of friends.

What could have been the motive in his case, for a motive there must be in such atrocious crimes? It was first said that Mrs. Childers' life was heavily insured, when, in fact, there was not a dollar of insurance upon her. Their short married life had been ideally happy, with nothing to mar it, so far as their friends or the world-at-large ever knew.

No motive can be ascribed to Robert Kennedy, the former suitor of the hand of Etta Richardson. Surely none can be ascribed to Mort Childers, the seemingly devoted young husband of six short months. Who, then, put the deadly strichnine in the phial of harmless powders kept upon the dresser of the bed room? Will the cold, horrible truth ever be revealed?

Both Well Connected.

Both the young husband, Mort Childers, and Robert Kennedy, his friend, are members of well-known families. The case will be bitterly fought to the finish. Childers' friends will try to bring about the conviction of Kennedy, whom they have had arrested under this terrible charge. Will not Kennedy's friends, in retaliation, as well as for his own vindication, attempt to show that the young husband knows more of his wife's death than has yet been told? A bitter fight, indeed, is assured in this "cause celebre," which has shaken southern Georgia as has no other case in years.

What the detectives employed upon the case have discovered connecting Robert Kennedy therewith will be brought out at the preliminary hearing at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at Leesburg, in the county where the crime was committed.

An able array of legal talent will represent both the state and the defendant, Robert Kennedy. The state will be represented by Solicitor General J. R. Williams, City Court Solicitor Z. S. Childers, brother-in-law of the deceased, and J. B. Hudson. Long & Beazley and Hollis Fort will appear as counsel for Mr. Kennedy.

URGING RUSSELL TO STEP DOWN

Russell, but I am honest in the conviction that he should resign the judgeship and devote all his time to his campaign for governor."

One argument being used why Judge Russell should resign is that when the court of appeals begins hearing cases again in October, there will be so much work to be done that Judge Russell cannot possibly have sufficient time continue his active campaigning. ness of the court, and at the same time continue active campaigning. Which, then, it is asked, will he give up? The campaign or the court?

It is argued further, with considerable effect, that lawyers who do not favor Judge Russell politically, are averse to arguing a case before a judge whom they are known to be opposing for an office.

A Judge Is Only Human, They Say.

This position, according to those who hold it, is not taken as a reflection on Judge Russell's fairness, nor does it call into question his integrity. It simply means that no lawyer can feel exactly comfortable and sure of himself when arguing a case before a judge whom he may at the very moment be actively opposing politically. He realizes that even judges are human.

Why Court of Appeals Was Created.

The court of appeals was established for the purpose of giving more dispatch to litigation. While it has brought about some improvement still there is considerable complaint among litigants about the delay in getting appealed cases decided.

It is said that cases are now pending in the courts of appeals which were argued quite or nearly a year ago.

About ten days ago, the court had more than fifty cases, which, under the law, had to be decided by October 1. Since then, they have handed down 25 or 30 decisions, the other cases still pending, with only fifteen days until the maximum allowed by law for holding a case will expire.

It is reported that Judge Russell has obtained the consent of the other members of the court of appeals to sit with him in conference at night, in order that he may campaign during the day when the court is not sitting openly for the purpose of hearing cases.

However, there is a good deal more to the work of an appellate judge than the conferences. The cases are supposed to be apportioned out among the judges, for detailed study, searching out of authorities, and writing opinions. This is the most arduous work they have to do, it requiring so much time that the delay in litigation is usually charged to it.

Some Feeling Against Court Already.

The failure of the court of appeals to give the relief it was intended for has led many to oppose the abolition of the court and the substitution of another branch of the supreme court.

A large number of lawyers threatened at one time to start a movement with such a result in view.

Seldom in Office.

Judge Russell has announced that he will speak in Hinesville, Liberty county, at noon Monday, September 18, and at Pembroke in Bryan county, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon following.

He has been in Atlanta most of the present week, but repeated calls at his office failed to locate him there.

"Guess you can find him at campaign headquarters," they said at his office when inquiries were made.

ANOTHER WIN OVER LOOKOUTS

Crackers Pin It On With a 3 to 2 Score.

Took Advantage of Every Lookout Misplay—O'Dell's Heady Sprint Won the Game—Final Meeting of the Two Teams Today—Johns v. Kuepper.

By Dick Jemison.

Twice, right in the same place. That's what the Crackers did to their deadly enemies, the Chattanooga Lookouts, squeezing out a 3 to 2 victory on Friday, and making their fourth straight win in three days.

Wideawake at every stage of the battle and using their heads on the sacks, the Crackers plucked out a victory after it looked for a while as if defeat was staring them in the face. Concentrated effort really spelled victory.

But for the deadly arm of Sheldon Lejune, the champion long-distance baseball thrower of the world, the Crackers would have romped home easy winners, the Lookouts' right fielder nailing two men at third base by pretty throws.

Piggy Paige and Forrest More were the opposing twirlers. In all but the third inning, when the Lookouts bunched four bingles for their total of two for the entire nine, the Crackers' hurler had the edge on the hurling.

More Was Wild.

More was showing kinship to that elusive person the March hare all during the game, and some good stabs by his team mates prevented more wild heaves than he really uncorked, though five free tickets was some wildness in itself.

Our lads tallied their initial run in the second round. Sykes worked More for one over the Big Four. Howard dropped a bunt. More had plenty of time to get Sykes at second, but heaved the pellet three feet to the leeward, Sykes cantering on to third. McMurray produced one of those pinch hits you read about, Sykes clattering across the home station. Here's where the big arm of Lejune came into play. He nailed Howard speeding for third with all sails set and stopped further scoring in the inning, More pulling together and fanning Paige and Buemiller.

In the third the Lookouts assumed a one-run lead, when they tallied twice. With one gone, Higgins pasted one to Howardville for a cushion. Sentell duplicated and Higgins arrived at the final stop safely. Sentell then pilfered the keystone. Murch hit a fierce one at Buemiller, on which he arrived safely at first, Sentell arriving at third. Moran uncorked a sacrifice fly out to right, Sentell clattering homeward.

Things rocked along this way until the stand-up session, when the Crackers pulled over two and the winners.

The Lucky Seventh.

Zimmerman laid down a beautiful bunt, which he outsprinted for a bingle. O'Dell smashed a fierce one to center, on which Lejune attempted a shoestring catch, but missed, Heinie arriving at Murchville. Jordan smashed one straight back at More. The hurler deflected the pill and Zimmerman tallied. Nill tried to field it, but threw bad to second, O'Dell taking third and Jordan second.

Then came a queer play on which the winning run was scored. McMurray lined a vicious one over short. Moran came in on the dead run and captured it. He attempted to get Jordan at second, but threw late. O'Dell lit out for the plate and arrived there safely, showing great head work. Nill made no attempt to even throw to the plate.

The two teams wind up the season today, their final meeting being one such as attracts a good crowd and a game which will be hard fought, both teams wishing to close the season with a victory.

Harold Johns will probably be the selection of Manager Jordan in the final game, with Wells on the receiving end. Hank Kuepper and Higgins will be in the points for the Lookouts.

Billies Win Two.

Birmingham, Ala., September 15.—Montgomery won two games from Birmingham this afternoon, not so much as a result of the former's good playing, as of the latter's poor and indifferent work. A large audience witnessed the games, but many hundreds left in disgust before the conclusion. Montgomery won the first in the ninth when Prough, in front of bad support, exploded. Montgomery won the second in the fourth when Foxen, enraged over a decision of Hart, threw his glove at the umpire and was benched. Speer was hit hard.

New Orleans, September 15.—Pitcher Campbell was invincible this afternoon, and the New Orleans club could not score on him, getting only two hits. Campbell's support was good. Manager Frank shifted his line-up after the seventh inning in a vain effort to start a rally. He sent Barr to right field in Doane's place, took Johnston out of the game and put Kirke on first, sending McDuff to second. This combination was as weak as the original one against the Mobile southpaw. A double-header was scheduled, but only one game could be played on account of wet grounds.

Nashville, Tenn., September 15.—Memphis took the second game of the series here this afternoon, when Hargrove, Nashville's new third baseman, tried to field one of Lindsay's chances, allowing Swalm to make the only run of the game in the tenth inning. Walker, a Nashville City Leaguer, pitched for the locals and did well. The fielding was sharp, each club making two double plays.

CURTAINS RING DOWN ON OTHER THAN SHOWS | HUNCHES WELL PLAYED ARE BETTER THAN TIPS

BY DICK JEMISON.

As my worthy associate, Fuzzy Woodruff, is busy conferring with his newly-made friend, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, I take the liberty of grinding out on my faithful machine and, if it does not balk before I am through, I hope to at least have one sentence of interest, though it may not be written in the same happy strain for which the "Knight of the Gondola" is famous.

Curtain! The last act of the five months drama, "The Pennant Race of the Southern League," will take place today. The results of the next to the last act on Friday, make the final act the most interesting of them all.

The Pelicans are leading the Billikens by one scant game and when the curtain rings down on the performance tonight there is liable to be a Billiken star sitting up and grinning at a Pelican has-been.

C. Frank has jockeyed the race down to the last day and it would be the irony of fate if the Billies were to nose him out in the stretch. Such a thing is possible. This morning the Birds lead by one full game. Should the despised Gulls win both games from the leaders today, while the Billies are trimming the Barons, then J. Dobbs and his hired help would be the Southern League champions.

Should Montgomery win from Birmingham while New Orleans is dropping two to Mobile, the standing of the two leaders would be as follows:

Montgomery	78	57	.578
New Orleans	77	57	.575

But what most likely will happen is that the Pelicans will split with the Gulls while the Billikens are defeating the Barons, thus giving Frank the pennant by four points. Here will be the probable finish:

New Orleans	78	56	.582
Montgomery	78	57	.578

Hats off to James Claudius Fox, ex-Cracker, elongated first-sacker and manager of the Columbus pennant winners in the Sally League, for James has about cinched that rag in the Joyner organization.

The count stands 3 to 1 in games in favor of Fox. A win today will settle it. From the way his club is going it looks very much like he will cop. Every Cracker fan will rejoice if Fox does win the rag.

Somehow, hunches are very good things to play, especially in bridge or poker. We have a rage sized hunch that Fred Herreshoff, the Manchester, Vt., golfer, is going to keep H. H. Hilton, the British champion, from adding the American golfing championship to his list.

Why the hunch? Simply because Herreshoff's uncle, four years in succession, designed a boat that successfully defended the American yachting title, and little Freddie is not going to let any "bloomin' Hinglishman" sully the family name or American golfing colors.

Herreshoff furnished a surprise on Friday when he defeated the sensational playing "Chick" Evans, on whom American hopes were resting, and American adherents have now turned to Herreshoff as the man who will make it interesting for the British champ. Hilton yesterday lowered the colors of Charles W. Inslee as handily as he has lowered every other opponent's during the tourney.

Herreshoff is one of the longest-driving golfers in the game today. With a wooden club there are very few golfers in the entire world that are his equal in getting distance and staying in the course, too. When not imbibing in the flowing bowl, and Herresshoff is now said to be on the water wagon, firmly astride, he is one of the hardest golfers in the country to beat.

Hilton had better look to his honors.

The announcements that the Yanks would train here in 1912 and leave several ground-rent men; that Brrooklyn would turn back several of the players she has drafted and purchased, and that six men, whose names were not mentioned, have already been signed, speak well of the prospects of the Crackers for the season of 1912.

You can stick a pin in it that the Atlanta team of 1912 will be in that pennant fight from the start. This year, one of misfortune, hard luck, bad breaks, mistakes and everything else in the category, has taught a lesson that will not be forgotten in a long time.

The local club owners will have to turn out a winner next season. They made a bid as far as spending the money was concerned, but the people of Atlanta want a winner, deserve a winner and will have a winner.

This column is for the club across the board and back and has always been a booster, both of the club, the players and the management, but right now let it be said that it's up to them to have a winner next season or the dogs of war will be turned loose.

Someone was evidently afraid that there would be some kind of foul play at Pittsburg yesterday in the double-header between the Cubs and the Pirates. A new departure was engaged in, when four umpires handled the games.

O'Day and Emslie officiated in the first contest with Klem and Brennan handing the indicator in the second contest. Maybe the warning sent out by Business Manager Bancroft, of the Reds, that O'Day was throwing games to the Cubs, caused Fred Clarke to keep his eye peeled for results.

The golfing fraternity of Atlanta is very much cast down today as the result of the defeat of "Chick" Evans by Fred Herreshoff in the semi-finals for the national amateur golfing title.

"Chick" is a prime favorite in Atlanta and trained here this spring for the British championships. Local players were pulling for him to win the tournament, and believed that he could trim Hilton, the British crack.

"Chick" is one of the brightest, gamest, truest sportsmen that the golfing game has ever seen. He is loved by friends and foes alike.

Cartrer v. Grant.

E. V. Carter, Jr., the present southern intercollegiate tennis champion, and B. M. Grant, formerly a member of the southern doubles champions, will today play in the finals in the tennis meet at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

The winner will meet Carleton Y. Smith, the present holder of he club championship, in the challenge round.

Play in the doubles and in the consolation singles will also begin today.

Women's Golf.

New York, September 15.—The special competition to take place during the week of play for the woman's amateur national golf championship at Baltusrol, N. J., October 14, include a consolation event for non-qualifiers Tuesday, woman's handicap vs. Bogie Wednesday; driving approaching and putting contests Thursday; a scratch best ball foursome Friday, and a mixed foursome medal play handicap Saturday. The entries for the championship close Monday, October 2.

Columbus Defeated Columbia in Their Own Back Yard.

The Final Score 5 to 3—Foxes Drove Fullenweider Off the Mound, and Gamecocks Did Likewise to Weems—Today's Game May Settle the Rag.

Columbia, S. C., September 15.—Fully 3,000 people saw Columbia lose the fourth game of the post season series for the championship of the South Atlantic League to Columbus by a score of 5 to 3 here today. Nearly every county in South Carolina and every city in the South Atlantic League had representatives in the crowd. Columbus won the game by hitting Fullenweider hard in the fourth and fifth innings. Clark, who relieved him, pitched fine ball. Columbia drove Weems from the box in the seventh, Sitton coming to the rescue and checked Columbia's rally. Beck's fielding at third base, three sensational catches by Duncan and the batting of Gaston and two stops by Breyette featured.

Today's victory gave the Foxes three games won against Columbia's one. The pennant winning club must win four games in this series. The fifth game will be played here tomorrow.

Columbus scored first in the fourth inning when Hille opened with a single and advanced to third on Gaston's double. A pass to Breyette filled the bases. Sisson hit to Beck and Hille was forced at the plate. Fox popped out to Beck. Krebs then singled to center, scoring Gaston and Breyette.

Columbia went ahead in its half of the same inning. Beck opened with a single to center; Harbison bunted safely and scored with Beck, when Weems threw the ball away. Duncan then tripled to center and scored on a single by Krug. scored with Beck, when Weems threw the ball away. Duncan then tripled to center and scored on a single by Krug.

In the next inning the Foxes decided the game, driving Fullenweider from the box. After Becker had whiffed, Lewis and Hille singled. Gaston hit to second and with a double play in sight the ball bounded over Delahanty's head and rolled to right field for three bases, scoring two. Breyette singled, scoring Gaston. Clark then relieved Fullenweider and held the visitors safe thereafter.

After Powell and Clark had singled in the seventh, Sitton replaced Weems. In the growing darkness his speed proved very effective.

During the closing innings the fans criticised the umpires and Manager Fox freely for alleged attempts to delay the game and play for darkness.

In tomorrow's game it is probable that Barrenkamp will pitch for Columbia with Radabaugh for Columbus.

Pittsburg, Pa., September 15.—Pittsburg and Chicago broke even in a double-header, Pittsburg winning the first, 3 to 2, and Chicago the second, 4 to 2. The second game was called after the sixth inning on account of darkness. Hendrix pitched fine ball for the home team, and was given errorless support. Reulbach was taken off the rubber after the third inning, and was succeeded by Richie, who made a good finish. In the second game Gardner and Cole were the respective pitchers. Gardner weakened in the sixth, when a single by Sheckard, a triple by Tinker and a home run by Zimmerman netted three runs and the game. The scores:

Cards Win Two.

St. Louis, September 15.—Cincinnati was on the short end of a 3 to 2 score in both games of the double-header with St. Louis today. The first game went to St. Louis in the tenth inning, when Bliss' long single scored Hauser. Benton walked nine and hit two batsmen. Magee was at second in place of Huggins and played a fast game. Cincinnati started the scoring in the second game, gathering two runs in the first inning. The locals tied it in the third and won out in the ninth, when Konetchy singled and went to third on an error, scoring on Oakes' sacrifice fly.

SIX PLAYERS ARE SIGNED BY CRACKERS FOR 1912 TEAM

The local club has signed up six players for the season of 1912. They are discards from a big league club, but their names cannot be announced as yet.

However, suffice it to say that they are good ones and men who should make good in an Atlanta uniform. They will not be members of either the Brooklyn or New York clubs from whom the Crackers will also get several players.

HAL CHASE'S YANKEES WILL TRAIN HERE DURING 1912

It was definitely announced on Friday that the New York Yankees under the management of the greatest first baseman in the world, Hal Chase, would train in Atlanta during the spring of 1912.

The deal which has been hanging fire ever since it was announced that the Washington Americans would not return was finally consummated on Friday morning, Hal Chase deciding to come here.

The training of the Yankees in Atlanta, means that the Crackers will get first whack at the youngsters and some of the discards that the Yanks will turn loose and is sure to get some good ones as the result.

Chase has all along been in favor of Atlanta as a training ground and expressed himself as willing to come here when he was here with his Yanks during the past spring.

LOS ANGELES WANTS BOUT

Los Angeles, September 15.—Manager McCarey, of the Vernon club, has wired an offer of $30,000 to Wolgast and McFarland to meet at the Vernon arena in a twenty-round bout New Year's day. It is stipulated in the offer that $20,000 of this purse shall go to Wolgast and $10,000 to McFarland, regardless of the result. Neither fighter is to share in the gate receipts. The offer was sent by telegraph last night to the managers of the two fighters after the receipt of news here that New York promoters had offered a purse of $20,000.

QUALIFYING ROUND FOR WINSTON CUP

This afternoon at East Lake, the qualifying round in the golf tournament for the trophy offered by Captain E. T. Winston will be played. The entry list promises to equal, if not surpass, any entry list during the present season.

In the qualifying round the club handicaps will apply, the sixteen low net scores qualifying for play for the Winston trophy. As many other flights as fill will also be played.

The entrance fee will be $1. Prizes will be awarded to the winners in the other flights. The second round of match play must be played by the following Thursday, with the semi-finals on Saturday.

DERRILL PRATT TO COACH W. & L.

Montgomery, Ala., September 15.—Derrell Pratt, second baseman of the Montgomery baseball team, was sold sold to the St. Louis Americans, will attend Washington and Lee University the coming year as assistant coach of the football squad. He was one of the star players on the University of Alabama eleven.

TOMMIE ATKINS GOES HOME SICK

That old fellow "jinx" could not wait until the season was over, but had to give the Crackers a parting dig. Tommie Atkins was taken critically ill yesterday morning and as he would be in no shape to twirl either the Friday or Saturday games, Manager Jordan let him go home.

The eggs of the German hen are below the average in weight, running as low as ten to the pound.

DODGERS WILL RETURN PLAYERS

Word has been received from the Brooklyn management, that owing to their luck drafting season, and the surplus lot of players they have on hand, that they are going to let the Crackers have several good men before next spring rolls around.

Sykes, Miller, Mayer and Sitton can be counted on as men who will be returned with the possibility of some other good men, known in this territory.

Verily, it looks like the Crackers are going to have a real ball club during the season of 1912. And they better have.

ATTELL-WELLS BOUT IS NEXT

New York, September 15.—With the conclusion of tonight's contest between Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, and Jim Flynn, the Pueblo heavyweight, boxing fans here will turn their attention to the bout between Abe Attell, featherweight champion, and Matt Wells, the English lightweight title holder, which is programed for Madison Square Garden next Thursday night.

Although Wells will be allowed to make 135 pounds at 5 o'clock, Attell is not alarmed, and expects to offset Wells' weight advantage with superior science. The Briton by the time he reaches the ringside will carry 138 pounds, while Attell will not weigh more than 122. Both men are training carefully for the match.

BILLIES' MOGUL WON'T SELL CLUB

Montgomery, Ala., September 15.—Richard Tillis, millionaire owner of the Montgomery Southern League franchise, today denied emphatically that there have been any negotiations looking to the disposal of the Montgomery berth in the league to Little Rock or any other city. On the other hand, Mr. Tillis stated that there is no danger of Montgomery losing its franchise.

M'ALEER BUYS INTEREST IN DOVES

Boston, Mass., September 15.—The purchase of a half interest in the Boston American League baseball club by James R. McAleer, of Washington, and Robert B. McRoy, of Chicago, was announced tonight. Neither will be active in the team management until the beginning of the 1912 season. Plans for a new ball park will be formulated at once.

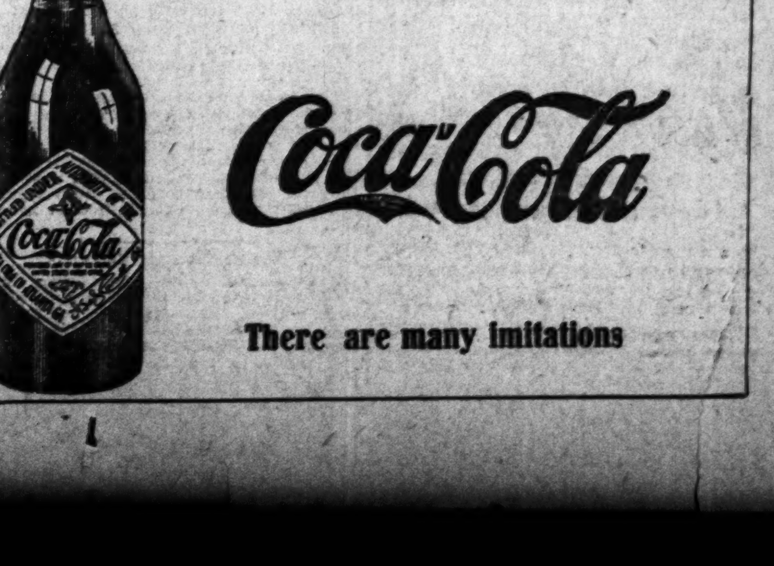

John I. Taylor, of this city, retains a half interest in the club.

Chicago, September 15.—Robert B. McRoy, who today acquired part interest in the Boston American League club, has for a number of years been secretary to President B. B. Johnson, of the league.

FRED HERRESHOFF DEFENDS TITLE

Of American Golf Champion Against Briton Hilton Today.

Hilton Defeated Inslee and Herresshoff Downed Evans in Semi-Finals—Poor Putting of "Chick" Cost His Match—Hilton Rules a 2 to 1 Favorite.

Rye, N. Y., September 15.—Can Frederick Herreshoff, of New York, a nephew of the designer of four of America's yacht cup defenders, prevent Harold H. Hilton, of England, from adding an American to his British golfing championship, and carry the Havemeyer cup to the Royal Liverpool Club? This interesting question was debated at the end of the semi-annual national championship today.

Hilton won his place in the finals today by putting out Charles W. Inslee, of the Wykagyl Club, of New Rochelle, by a score of 8 up and 6 to play.

Herreshoff had a much harder proposition in Charles Evans, Jr, of the Edgewater Club, Chicago, who succumbed on the sixteenth green of the afternoon play, where his opponent won by a score of 3 up and 2 to play.

On the finals tomorrow Hilton's chances over Herreshoff were quoted tonight at about 2 to 1.

To the 500 golf enthusiasts who braved a rainstorm to see the game, "Chick" Evans was a strong favorite over Herreshoff, who is playing from the Ekwanok Club of Manchester, Vt., and many were surprised when the young westerner tossed away hol eafter hole in the afternoon play, after establishing a lead of three holes in the morning round.

Evans Weak on Putts.

Evans' weak point is putting, and today this was manifest more than ever before. Had he been able to run down putts of ordinary length, the result probably would have been reversed. His long game was a trifle better than Herreshoff's, and he played his iron shots with the precision and confidence of a Hilton. But upon the smooth greens his cleverness seemed to ooze. Herreshoff was not any too sure on the green.

The crisis of the match came on the fifteenth green of the afternoon play. Evans, ho had been 3 up at the end of the morning round, had allowed Herreshoff to pass him in the first eleven holes of the afternoon, until the New York player was 3 up and 7 to go. Then Evans took two holes. The fourteenth was halved, and Evans, with the honor, drove out a clean one for the fifteenth hole, 360 yards away. Both were on the green in two shots, and then Evans spoiled his chance by trying to hole a 10-yard putt and overrunning the cup. Herreshoff, playing carefully, won the hole and made the match 2 up and 4 to go.

The New York player drove the green on the next hole, while Evans hooked his drive into the rough. He had just a chance to halve the hole in three, but lost it by 1 inch. Herreshoff won easily, and stood as the competitor of Hilton for the highest golfing honors of the land.

Inslee Worried Hilton.

Hilton had no easy time with Inslee. On the two outward journeys, morning and afternoon, the New Rochelle man played with a methodical persistency that at one time gave him a lead of 2 up, the farthest Hilton had been down since his arrival on these shores.

But Inslee could not keep his game in action and in the afternoon it became only a question of time when the Englishman would win. It was all over at the 12th hole.

In playing Herreshoff tomorrow, Hilton will meet a veteran. He was runner-up to Chandler Egan at Baltusrol in 1904, and took the medal in the qualifying round last year. He has been Metropolitan champion several years.

Tomorrow's match will be a 16-hole affair. A gold medal and the Havemeyer cup await the winner, but the latter trophy must be returned to the association at the next championship match. The loser tomorrow will receive a silver medal. Evans and Inslee won bronze medals today. Evans won a bronze medal last year.

Yale Kickers Arriving.

New Haven, Conn., September 15.—Yale's 'varsity football players have been slow in arriving, tonight less than half a dozen being here, including none of the veterans. Coaches Kistler and Brides, with Captain Howe and Trainer Mack, visited Yale field this afternoon in uniform and practiced kicking and passing. The first drill has been set down for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, but Captain Howe said tonight that unless a good sized squad reported practice would be omitted until afternoon. Definite word has been received from Kenneth McClintock, of Pittsburg, stellar freshman half back last season, that he has been conditioned in his studies and will be ineligible to play this season.

GLIDDEN SCOUT GIVEN WELCOME

Big Cavalcade of Cars Escort Pathfinder Into Atlanta.

A. A. A. Pilot Westgard Says That the Highways to Be Covered by Tour Will Be in Very Passable Shape by the Time the Tour Will Begin.

By Paul H. Bruske.

To the music of thouands of automobile horns, and in the escort of about 125 Atlanta motor cars, the Flanders "20" Glidden tour pathfinder, with Official American Automobile Association Pilot A. L. Westgard on board, was welcomed to Atlanta Friday evening.

The local demonstration was an enthusiastic tribute to the record-breaking feat of the pathfinding car, which has set many new records in the history of America's famous classic of the road. It is the first car of 20-horse power ever selected for the work of Glidden pathfinding. It is the first car to maintain, for even a few days, the same schedule which will be followed by the tour. It is the first Glidden pathfinder on which a lady has ever taken passage. It is the first car to ever cover anything like 1,000 miles of highway in a week of mapping, detail arrangements and receptions along the route.

The Atlanta Welcome.

The Atlanta welcome began several miles from Buckhead, where a locally owned Flanders "20," owned by the E-M-F. Atlanta Company, with Harry Cohen at the wheel, extended the first glad hand.

At Buckhead the pike was full of motor cars of all sizes and types. There was an impromptu reception and then an E-M-F. "30," carrying Police Chiefs Beavers and Rowan, led the van. The car carrying Mayor Winn followed. Then came the pathfinder and her faithful baggage car, also a Flanders "20." A squad of locally owned Flanders came next, after which came the main body of Atlanta motorists. The parade entered the city along Peachtree street, which will also be the route to be followed by the Glidden tourists when they arrive next month. There was a short detour about the business section of the city, after which the line of march brought the travelers to the Piedmont, where they will be quartered tonight and tomorrow, Pilot Westgard having decided to maintain the same schedule as the tour, which will also spend a day in Atlanta, remaining over Sunday. The representative of the American Automobile Association will also employ the day of rest to bring his trip maps to date.

Friday's run of the pathfinder was from Anderson, S. C., about 138 miles. In general the roads were reported good. They will be considerably better when the tour arrives, in the judgment of Pilot Westgard, as there are many places where grading is being done and bridges repaired.

An incident of the day was the stirring drive of "Pete" Kuntz, at the wheel of the baggage car. "Pete," who has had a string of tire misfortunes on the entire trip, picked up two nails during the forenoon and had to make repairs each time. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon a rear tire blew out, requiring a stop of about forty minutes. The pathfinder was scheduled to arrive at Buckhead at 5:30 o'clock and Kuntz was left to work out his own salvation. Reports received late at night state that he took the injured tire off with his teeth. Be that as it may, he drove the last 30 miles of the trip in less than an hour, arriving at Buckhead, covered with dust, just as the parade was forming.

Perfect Mechanical Score.

As yet tire trouble has been the cause of the only compulsory stops of the entire trip and both cars maintain a perfect mechanical score. This will be glad news to the many tourists in the south who expect to be members of the big party that will leave New York for Jacksonville October 14.

The pathfinder is driven by Will H. Soules, a prominent figure in the world of track racing several years ago, and carries, besides Pilot Westgard, Mrs. Westgard and Paul Hale Bruske, the Studebaker Corporation's contest manager. Mrs. Westgard says she has enjoyed every foot of the trip. The presence of the baggage car enables her to travel with as many comforts as she can pack into a steamer trunk.

Mr. Westgard expressed his belief that the Glidden tour would this year be the largest in the history of the event. He was immensely pleased with the enthusiasm shown by Atlanta.

In general, Mr. Westgard stated that the highways which the tour will traverse will be in very passable shape at the time of the tour.

On Sunday morning the pathfinder will resume her trip southward. Cordele or Macon will be the location of the night stop.

Dixie IV. Wins.

Buffalo, N. Y., September 15.—Dixie IV., Frederick K. Burnham's hydroplane, easily won the free-for-all championship for the United States in a 30-mile race in the Niagara river today. Of the four other starters, the Reliance IV. was the only one to finish and se was beaten by nearly four miles.

Disturber II., owned by James A. Pugh, of Chicago, which had been regarded as the Dixie's most formidable rival, dropped out at the end of the tenth mile when flames began to shoot out of her funnels. The Courier III. and the Gretchen II. were withdrawn after covering two miles.

The Dixie's time for the six 5-mile laps was 7:27, 7:33, 7:32, 7:30, 7:34 and 7:29.

MORRIS 'THE HOPE' IN LEMON CLASS

Although Outweighed 47 Pounds Flynn Wins Easily.

Oklahoma Giant Befuddled by Opponent's Cleverness and Ability to Swap Blows—Victor Unscathed, While Vanquished Is Badly Battered.

Madison Square Garden, New York, September 15.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, fought a winning battle of ten terrific rounds with Carl Morris, the gigantic heavyweight of Oklahoma, at the Madison Square Garden tonight. At the end the Oklahoma man's face was battered to a pulp, while Flynn was not marked, save for a lump over the left eye.

As a possible "white hope" for championship class recognition, Morris is a failure. He had nearly fifty pounds in weight and 5 inches in height over the Pueblo man, but failed to daze Flynn at any stage. Morris really had only one round, the third. In all others Flynn was the master. All through the fight Morris kept using his great weight and strength to weaken Flynn, but the latter invariably had the better of all the close work. His left hooks and jabs soon set the blood flying, and at times he was willing to take punishment to send back worse than he got.

Flynn Stood Grueling.

Morris landed many hard lefts and rights in every round, but Flynn seemed to be impervious to the grueling he got. It was the bloodiest fight ever seen in this city, and many of the spectators around the ringside were astonished at the stamina of both men which carried them at a wonderfully fast pace throughout.

There was no denying the verdict of the onlookers as to who had won, for Flynn was cheered vociferously as he followed his seconds to the dressing room, while only pity was expressed for the western giant.

Among the spectators in the ringside boxes were Senator Frawley, author of the present boxing law, and a party of friends.

During the seventh round he shouted, "Stop it! Stop it!" to Referee Charley White, but the latter either did not or would not hear.

The Fight By Rounds.

Round 1—Morris hit for head, but missed. Morris was cautioned for holding. Morris sent in a right uppercut and Flynn hooked left to body. The big man drove Flynn to the ropes, but Flynn came back with lefts to the jaw. They clinched frequently, but Flynn put right and left to body, with Morris throwing his weight on him. Flynn's left-hand hooks drew blood from Morris' mouth. Morris in all landed three right-hand uppercuts before the bell.

Round 2—They went to close quarters again, with Flynn uppercutting with lefts on body and neck. Morris sent right and left to the body. Flynn tried right swing and slipped to floor. Again he slipped in the same way, and then they fought at close quarters, with Flynn keeping his left working up to the face. Morris' right eye was closed at the bell.

Round 3—Morris landed four short rights to head without a return. Then Flynn forced the big fellow to his knees with left and right to body and a right over to the jaw. Flynn kept working into the body with both hands, and Morris sent back three short right-hand punches to the head. Morris forced Flynn to the ropes at the bell.

Flynn Opens Morris' Eye.

Round 4—Flynn, at close quarters, kept digging both hands to the body, and got over a right hook to the left eye. Morris laid on the smaller man, fighting hard for the body and neck. Flynn, with a left hook and right uppercut opened a gash over the right eye. Morris forced Flynn around with his weight, and Flynn was bleeding from the mouth at the bell. Morris' face was fearfully marked up, and he bled profusely.

Round 5—Morris put four lefts and rights to head, but Flynn hooked and uppercut on the body and head with good effect. Flynn drove two straight lefts to the nose. Morris held and Flynn fell in close. He drove Morris back with two lefts and a right to the face. Flynn had Morris bleeding freely at the call of time.

Round 6—Flynn kept tearing at the face with left uppercuts, and just missed a right swing for the jaw. Morris landed heavy short-arm blows on the head and body. Then Flynn opened up and shot an awful right wallop, to get in return a hard left hook. Both of Morris' eyes were almost closed when he went to his corner.

Flynn Takes Punishment.

Round 7—They fought at close range again, and Flynn took a lot of punishment to get in his hook. Both men were covered with blood from Morris' face. Flynn let Morris beat him on the head and face, but sent back facers with both hands. Both men were weak at the bell.

Round 9—Both tried left swings, without result. Morris jabbed right, and Flynn hooked his left to head, being willing to take a punch in order to send one back. They were fighting hard at the bell.

Round 10—After shaking hands, they exchanged heavy body blows. Flynn sent right to the jaw, and Morris clinched. Flynn forced matters, landing two left-hand uppercuts. Morris was hanging on, using his weight, but Flynn kept boring in, hooking hard lefts, and they were locked in a hard mix-up when the gong sounded.

The popular opinion was that Flynn had won handily, and, considering the difference in size and weight, had fought a wonderfully clever battle.

Morris' face was badly cut and battered, while Flynn only showed a bump over the left eye. Flynn was loudly cheered as he left the ring.

RAILROAD LEAGUE PLAY OFF TODAY

Owing to the inability of the president of the Railroad League to secure the Grant park grounds, the first two of the post-season championship series of three games between the Southern Railway Inman Yards and S. E. F. A. teams will be played at Brisbine park. The first game will be called promptly at 2:30 p. m. and the interest manifested by the fans of the city forecast a record-breaking attendance.

The season has furnished no games between amateurs which will be harder fought, nor can two teams be found that are more evenly matched and capable of playing a finished article of ball. From all points of view, it appears a toss up between the two. The S. E. F. A. club will pitch Falvey, of Marist fame, in the opening game, and probably use McGovern in the second. The Inman Yard boys will bank their hopes on the two Robinsons, or Martin may twirl one.

In the event of a split a game will have to be played the following Saturday, and judging from the comparatively equal strength of the teams, this will probably occur. Each team, however, will do its utmost to win both Saturday, and be crowned the leaders of the best amateur organization in the city.

The line-up of the two clubs:

Dinkins	Catcher	Waites and Callahan
Falvey and Lyons	Pitcher	P. Robinson, N. Robinson and G. Martin
McDowell	First	G. Goree and Dickerson
G. Harrison	Second	Chisolm
Jentzen	Third	B. Gillette and B. Warren
C. McGovern	Short	Lunger
Armistead	Left	Relifo'd
R. Jones	Center	D. Schaefer and Elder
O'Farrell	Right	W. Smith

The fans of Atlanta are welcome. A great time and a great occasion.

CRACKERS LOSE PLAYER KERR

Although the local baseball club was tipped off by Scout Arthur Irwin, of the Yankees, to Outfielder Kerr, of the Trenton, N. J., team, the leader in his league in batting and although a draft was filed for him, he will not become a Cracker.

It seems that Cleveland drafted the player first and has now turned him over to the Memphis team of the Southern League.

The Associated Press dispatch verifying this is as follows.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 15.—Outfielder Kerr, secured from the Trenton, N. J., club, was released to Memphis, Tenn., by the Cleveland American League Club today.

White Caps-Ga. Ry. to Play.

The White Caps will play the Georgia Railway Saturday afternoon. The White Caps will rush an all-star team on the Georgia Railway boys with the expectation of defeating them, and no doubt a great game will be witnessed. After numerous efforts to get the Railway boys, the White Caps have at last succeeded, and will certainly do their best to down them. The game will be called at 3:30 sharp, Brisbine Park.

Curly's Wife Sues.

Chicago, September 15.—The profits accruing to Armund Schuhl, known in sporting circles as Jack Curley, who promoted the Gotch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match recently held here, were tied up yesterday by an injunction issued by Judge William H. McSurely, of the supreme court.

Mrs. Mildred Schuhl, wife of the promoter, applied for the injunction as a preliminary step toward filing suit for separate maintenance.

SPEAKERS ATTACK NEW CITY CHARTER

A meeting was held at the old city hall last night by citizens who are opposed to the new city charter.

The meeting was called to order by C. H. Girardeau, who presided as chairman.

There were present about 400 voters, mostly from the Second Ward, the citizens from that ward having called the meeting.

In calling the meeting to order, Mr. Girardeau said nobody knows who framed the compromise charter.

Judge George Hillyer was the first speaker. Judge Hillyer gave a brief history of old Atlanta when the charter was adopted in 1874.

Judge Hillyer took up the proposed new charter and confined his remarks to its several provisions. He said that often men's personal interests misled their judgment.

"If we adopt this charter" he said, "we will make Tweedism or Tammanyism ashamed of itself."

The next speaker was Dr. George Brown, who gave what he said was a history of how the compromise charter was drawn. He said the only question before the people was whether or not the people of Atlanta should surrender their rights as freeborn citizens to a few men.

Mr. Brown was followed by John S. McClelland, councilman from the Second Ward. He said there were men in council today who would see to it that the common man would get his rights. He mentioned instances in which he claimed big property owners were dodging taxes. He charged that the compromise charter was nothing but a commission charter.

B. M. Blackburn was the next speaker. He said that the fact that such a citizen as Judge Hillyer was so enthusiastic showed that Atlanta had reached a crisis which meant much to her weal or woe. He claimed that under the new charter the commissioners and council would work in perfect harmony and there would never be any recall.

The next speaker was W. S. McNeal, who spoke for ten minutes against the new charter, saying it was not for the best interests of Atlanta. He said he had been to Houston, Texas, and, he claimed, that commission government there had been a failure.

Frank Wilby spoke next, and he said one, B. B. Jones, of Houston, Texas, had told him that commission government was pronounced a failure by the poor man.

He charged that the Fulton county board was a commission government and it had not acted for the best intrests of the community.

The following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote:

Be it resolved by the cvitizens of the Second Ward in mass meeting assembled, That we are opposed to the so-called compromise charter, and that we will do all in our power to bring about its overwhelming defeat in the coming election.

MOROCCAN ROW NEARING END

Controversy Between France and Germany About to Be Settled.

Berlin, September 15.—Considerable progress is believed to have been made tonight toward a settlement of the controversy between France and Germany over Morocco.

The French ambassador this evening delivered to Foreign Minister Von Kiderlen-Waechter France's reply to Germany's note, and afterwards the two diplomats engaged in a conference lasting an hour and a half.

As a result of this conference, it was learned from an authoritative source, an agreement between the two powers seems assured. Several questions, however, remain open to further discussion, but both sides are showing good will, and no difficulty that would prevent a settlement is expected. It has been decided that no further communication on the Moroccan question, direct or indirect, shall be published until the negotiations between M. Cambon and Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter have been completed.

The semi-official Cologne Gazette says that France's reply to the German propositions indicates compliance on various points, and in several other instances necessitates only simpel changes to accord with Germany's views. While a complete agreement has not yet been reached, according to the newspaper, the negotiations will continue, and it is expected a new note embracing the points agreed upon and new propositions which Germany considers debatable will soon be communicated to Paris.

"Anyway," The Cologne Gazette says in conclusion, "the efforts to bring about an understanding between Germany and France have made considerable progress."

DISAGREEMENT NEARS CRISIS

Breach Seems to Widen Between Shopmen and Harriman Line Officials.

San Francisco, September 15.—F. A. Athearn, head of the department of economics of the Southern Pacific railroad, said today that important developments in the disagreement between the officials of the Harriman lines and the shopmen's federation are expected tomorrow.

While Mr. Athearn refused to give details, he left the inference that the situation has become more serious than at the time of the departure of J. W. Kline for Chicago.

Kline, president of the International Blacksmiths' Union, and spokesman for the shopmen, is expected to arrive in Chicago tomorrow. His mission, according to local leaders, is to serve an ultimatum on Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Harriman lines, demanding the recognition of the federation of shop employees.

"The Harriman lines are doing nothing to disturb the present arrangement with the men," said Mr. Athearn. "Something is like to develop tomorrow, but it will not come from us."

Rumors received here by local officers of the federation that the Southern Pacific is preparing to lockout the union men next Monday are denounced as false and malicious by Mr. Athearn.

ROCKEFELLER, JR. HAS CLOSE CALL

Tarrytown, N. Y., September 15.—In an accident during the construction work on an addition to John D. Rockefeller's country home at Pocantico Hills today, five workmen were injured, one of whom may die, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had a narrow escape. A bundle of steel which was being raised to the top of the building struck a projection, tipped up and came crashing to the ground.

The falling pieces of steel scattered and all five workmen hauling on the hoisting rope were struck. The Standard Oil magnate's son, who was watching the operation, had just walked by the spot when the falling metal struck.

Young Mr. Rockefeller personally played an active part in dragging the injured men from among the steel beams.

The younger Mrs. Rockefeller, also went to the hospital and is doing all that she can to assist in caring for the victims.

The injured man who is not expected to live suffered complete paralysis. Three others were severely cut on the head and body. The fifth escaped with minor injuries.

Marion Jackson Returns.

Marion Jackson, the leader of the Brotherhood Bible class for young men in the Central Presbyterian Sunday school, has returned to the city after an absence of a few weeks and will rejoin his class next Sunday. Especial interest attaches to his return because of the lesson for the day, which deals with Daniel's companions in Babylon.

Dr. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of Central church, will commence a series of sermons next Sunday on the subject, "The Creed of Christendom."

Druggists Name Officers.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., September 15.—The officers of the National Association of Retail Druggists for 1911-12 elected at the annual convention here are as follows: President, H. P. Suptrine, Savannah; vice presidents, T. B Cartmell, Wilmington, Del.; A. E. Bernus, St. Louis; Saul Extein, Milwaukee; secretary, Thomas H. Potts, Chicago; treasurer, Harvey I. Leith, Providence.

CANADA ELECTION HINGES ON QUEBEC

That Province Will Win for Reciprocity or Defeat the Issue.

Montreal, September 15.—It is now conceded by both sides that the result of the election will largely, if not entirely, depend on the verdict of the province of Quebec. As a result this province is now a maelstrom of political activity, the campaign being marked by an intensity and bitterness never before equales. While the liberal leaders continue to insist that reciprocity is paramount, the nationalists treat it as a side issue and insist upon forcing the naval question to the front. So energetic has been this attack on the naval policy that the liberals are compelled to spend much time in defense argument.

The prestige of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name is being employed more widely than ever before, the example being set by the premier himself, who at Victoriaville, a little village where he began his career as a lawyer, made a personal plea that his countrymen should not desert him at this supreme hour.

That Sir Wilfrid's appeal will be effective is not doubted, but whether it is sufficient to counteract the inroads made by Henri Bourassa is questionable. The conservatives claim they will cary thirty-seven seats out of the sixty-five in Quebec province. The liberals will not be surprised at slight conservative gains in Quebec, although not sufficient to alter the general result of a victory for the country-at-large.

BUCKHEAD CO. ASKS CHARTER

"The Buckhead Improvement Company," an organization having on its list of stockholders some of the principal citizens of Atlanta, yesterday filed an application for charter in the office of the clerk of the superior court. The object of the company is to deal in property investments, such as real estate, waterworks, sewerage plants, gas, electric light an dpower plants and other commercial pursuits.

Backed as it is by citizens whose total fortunes would run up into the millions, it is generally thought that the formation of such a company indicates the strong possibility of vast development in the vicinity of Buckhead, which is only six miles from Atlanta, within a short time. Full plans as to future movements have not yet been completed.

Among those whose names appear as stockholders in the new corporation are Robert F. Maddox, L. C. Hopkins, F. S. Ellis, J. L. Riley, E. Rivers, Morris Brandon, C. J. Haden, J. W. Grant, W. B. Lamar, J. L. Dickey, Jr., C. E. Caverly, W. S. Witham, Mrs. L. S. Huntley, F. E. Bronwell, Austell Thornton and H. F. Scott.

Georgian Gets Alabama Job.

Montgomery, Ala., September 15.—Upon reaching Montgomery today, D. T. Herndon, of Elberton, Ga., announced that he has accepted the office of director of the department of archives and history of Arkansas, and he is here for a few days to study methods used by the Alabama department before taking up his duties in Little Rock.

MANY PROMISE TO ADORN STORES

Decorations For "Old Guard" Will Be Immense.

Practically Every Business House Approached Has Agreed to "Dress Up" for the Great Military Event Here in October.

Bedecked as never before in her history, will be Atlanta when the thousands gather here October 8, 9 and 10 to celebrate the unveiling of the Gate City Guard monument. Bunting by the mile, flags by the thousands and rosettes unnumbered will be strewn from one end of this gay old burg to the other, which with the thousands of gay uniforms to be seen on the streets will give the city a touch of color she has never before known.

Already upwards of 40 firms have announced their intention of decorating their places of business for the occasion and others are coming into line daily. So far those who have announced their intention of putting gala attire on their places of business are confined exclusively to Whitehall and Peachtree streets, but it is believed that before the momentous day arrives there will be hardly a business house of any description anywhere near the center of the city which will not have done its part towards making Atlanta ready for the greatest holiday and celebration she has ever known.

As yet no systematic canvass has been made with view to ascertaining just which of the firms are planning to decorate, in view of which fact, the promoters of the movement feel that the showing made up to date is an excellent one. They point out that a large number of the most prominent firms on the two streets mentioned are not in the last just announced, and it is practically certain, they believe, that every one of these can be counted not only to decorate, but to do it most handsomely.

Following is the list of the firms which have, up to this time voluntarily signified their intention of putting gala attire on their places of business in honor of the unveiling:

CORSETS

LOW, LOW, LOW.

The new CORSETS are very LOW.

We wish to tell you about them.

There are two notable and SEEMINGLY irreconcilable features of FALL FASHIONS.

FIRST: Woman's waist-line has gone UP.

SECOND: Woman's bust-line has gone DOWN.

The apparent incongruity and anomaly create well-nigh faultless physical harmony.

The whole HUMAN FAMILY should rejoice.

The new CORSET models cannot injure a woman's health.

They cannot hurt a woman's vanity.

However, the foregoing two statements can only be made truthfully by one qualifying addition.

IF PROPERLY FITTED.

Yes, all the grace, all the beauty and all the comfort of the CORSET depend on whether or not you are properly fitted.

You must wear a CORSET---but no one---not even you must be conscious of wearing it.

That's the whole thing in a nutshell.

Therefore, the CORSETS are made of light materials and are LOOSELY boned. They extend far over the hips---some of them half way down the thighs allowing unaffected simplicity and naturalness of attitude and movement.

Women are wearing little and thin clothing, hence the ARBITRI ELEGANTIARUM and fashion setters had to modify CORSETS. The deviation has given them a purer primitive GREEK expression.

In fitting CORSETS, our people do not attempt to subordinate your figure by forcing or compressing it within the least space possible. The effort is made to make the FIGURE and the CORSET complementary. This produces the ideal outline.

Of course, the new models require BRASSIERES.

We have various models in all our exclusive brands—CORSETS designed to wear when traveling--fitting perfectly, but leaving the body free—CORSETS meant to be worn with tea gowns, tailored suits and evening gowns—each model has a special side use.

Our fitters are experts. They make the human form an object of scientific study. Trust to the skill and judgment of our people and you'll win the approbation of your physician, your dressmaker and yourself.

O. W. UNDERWOOD EXPLAINS EFFECT OF FREE LIST BILL

Birmingham, Ala., September 15.—Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, speaking here tonight before the Birmingham Transportation and Traffic Club, explained the effect that the free list bill would have had on the Birmingham district.

"Barbed wire and wire used for fencing are the principal items placed on the free list that are manufactured here," said Mr. Underwood. "The imports for consumption ror the fiscal year 1911 of all classes of wire amounted to 20,988,000 pounds, valued at $1,666,000, whereas the exports of wire for the same year amounted to 254,274,000 pounds, valued at $5,556,000.

"Only 160 pounds of barbed wire for fencing were imported into the United States the last fiscal year. This was valued at $4 and paid the enormous duty of $1.20. On the other hand we exported to foreign countries 185,811,000 pounds, valued at $4,643,000."

Mr. Underwood maintained that these figures proved that the fence manufacturers were in no danger of foreign competition, no matter what congress may do with the tariff. He stated that he did not believe the manufacturer was entitled to have his profits protected either in Birmingham or anywhere else. With the building of the Panama canal and the development of water transportation from Birmingham to the gulf, he said, the time was near at hand when the surplus products of the Birmingham district that were not consumed in the southern markets would find their way at profitable prices in the markets of South America and the Orient, and that in a few years the people of this district would be far more concerned as to the development of their foreign trade than as to what effect a high tariff wall might have on their manufacturing plants at home.

CITY PLANS TO START WAR ON DREAD DISEASE PELLAGRA

After a lengthy discussion of pellagra, the members of the board of health yesterday afternoon appointed a committee of three to confer with the Fulton County Medical Association in regard to the disease in order to ascertain what the city should do to assist in the efforts to stamp out the disease.

Dr. Bradfield started the discussion by stating that he believed the board of health should require a report made of all cases of pellagra.

Dr. Dorsey said there was some question as to whether or not the disease was contagious. He said that it was claimed there were 30,000 cases of pellagra in Georgia.

"I think the authorities say," stated Dr. Dorsey, "that the disease was first recognized in Spain in 1735, and that the cause is said to be corn."

"Well, what is the real cause of pellagra, asked one of the lay members of the board, and Dr. Dorsey replied: "I will guarantee to hand you over $50,000 if you can satisfactorily settle that question."

After the pellagra matter had been referred to a committee, Dr. Dorsey said that it was a deplorable fact that there was no training school in Atlanta for nurses in cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever. He said he thought it might be advisable to have the Grady hospital nurses take a short course in the contagious hospital, where scarlet fever and diphtheria patients were treated.

The board decided to appoint a committeee to confer with the trustees of the Grady hospital.

The semi-weekly reports of the milk inspectors showed that 246 gallons of sweet milk had been condemned in Atlanta within the past two weeks. The inspectors stated that every precaution was being taken to insure a supply of good and sanitary milk to the consumers in the city.

PUT OFF TRAIN, NEWLYWEDS SUE

Claim That Railroad Conductor Wouldn't Accept Tickets. Hadn't Cash.

Through Attorneys Lawton Nalley and M. Hirschberg, J. Coplin and his wife yesterday filed suit in the superior court of DeKalb county for $2,000 each against the Southern railroad.

The plaintiffs allege that while returning to Atlanta from New York and Washington on September 4, after being married in New York, they were approached twice by conductors of the road who demanded fare in addition to the tickets which they had already purchased. The first conductor, the plaintiffs allege, demanded $8.85. They protested against the demand but paid it to prevent ejection from the train.

The second conductor, it is alleged, approached the couple when the train was near Gastonia, N. C., and demanded $6.85 as fare. Neither Coplin nor his wife had the necessary sum and they were put off the train at Gastonia, it is alleged. The suits for damages followed the ejection.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE IN M'NAUGHTON CASE

Attorney to File Motion for a New Trial in Georgia Court.

Augusta, Ga., September 15.—(Special.)—The statement is made tonight by Attorney A. L. Franklin, of Augusta, counsel for the defense in the case of W. J. McNaughton, condemned to death in conviction of the poisoning of Fred Flanders, of Swainsboro, that the extraordinary motion for new trial, which is being prepared for filing with the supreme court, will be based on a claim of newly discovered evidence of an important nature. What the evidence is cannot be ascertained.

Mr. Franklin states that this motion has no connection with or bearing upon the writ secured from the supreme court this week on which the case can be taken to the United States supreme court. It is understood that the defense, in its final effort to save Dr. McNaughton from the gallows, will first rely upon the extraordinary motion to the state supreme court, on which they hope to secure a new trial. In the event of failure in that direction the case will, it is understood, be taken to the United States supreme court on the ground that the full Georgia court will not sit in hearing on the original motion to reopen the case. If that movement fails the defense will very probably make petition to the governor for executive clemency.

The council acts as an executive or steering committee for the association and is largely responsible for the conduct of the association's affairs.

Sliding Prices for Babies.

Louisville, Ky., September 15.—Because it is a good deal more trouble to take care of some babies than it is of others, the Union Presbyterian Church Society, conducting "the nursery" at the state fair, has established a sliding scale of prices. A real good baby can be left two hours at the church for 25 cents, while those which fret must be paid for at twice that rate. So far the society has been able to get along with the two classifications only.

S. R. ATKINSON HEADS RUSSELL'S COMMITTEE

State Organization Formed to Boost Judge's Candidacy.

At a meeting of friends of Judge Russell in the Kimball House yesterday, Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, of Atlanta, was elected chairman of Judge Russell's state campaign for governor.

Some time ago Judge Russell engaged temporary headquarters at the Empire Hotel. Arrangements were made Friday for locating the headquarters permanently in the Kimball some time next week.

J. Pope Brown, the prohibition candidate for governor, opened headquarters Friday in the Aragon. It is understood that Mr. Brown proposes to manage his own campaign for governor.

Mr. Brown spoke Friday morning at Camilla, in Mitchell county, and again Friday afternoon at Pelham, in the same county. He will speak at Moultrie and Hartsfield Saturday, Springfield, Monday, Trenton on Thursday, Hamilton on October 2, and at Oglethorpe on October 5.

Judge Russell will go to Hinesville Sunday night, where he will deliver an address Monday morning. Tuesday afternoon he will speak at Pembroke in Bryan county.

SUNDAY EXCURSION TO WARM SPRINGS CONTINUED

The A., B. & A. have decided to continue excursions to Warm Springs to and including Sunday, September 17. $1.00 round trip.

"Roddy" Takes First Prize in the Jumping Contest at Knoxville.

"Roddy," the Atlanta blue ribbon winner in the Appalachian exposition horse show at Knoxville, is the property of Miss Margaret McKee, of 721 Piedmont avenue, and not of Miss Josephine Windle, as is set out in dispatches from the Tennessee city. Miss Windle rode the horse in the jumping contest in which he carried off the honors and it is presumed that the mistake grew out of this fact.

Miss McKee, who is now more proud than ever to be able to call "Roddy" her own, purchased the horse something over two months ago. It was known at the time that "Roddy" was "some jumper" and Miss McKee was urged by her friends to enter him in the show at Knoxville. This she finally decided to do and reports from that city are to the effect that the Atlanta horse led the field with room to spare. In addition, "Roddy" also pulled down a "third" just for good measure.

Believing that "Roddy" is in a class by himself among horses not only in Atlanta, but everywhere, Miss McKee was most naturally delighted when she learned of his winning. For the identical reason she is correspondingly averse to having the honor of ownership taken from her by the mistake of just an ordinary newspaper reporter, which her friends feel is most natural.

FINED FOR VIOLATING MUFFLER CUT-OUT LAW

"A lot of people don't seem to know that the mayor has signed this muffler cut-out ordinance," said Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon in police court during the trial of C. H. Ridley for violating it. Ridley's plea was that he had never been notified of the law and thought it had not been signed. He was fined $5.75.

"This ordinance has been passed by the council and signed by the mayor," continued Judge Broyles, as he imposed sentence. "It has been in effect for some weeks and will have to be enforced. It applies in the city limits, but we have nothing to do with the county, and I understand there is no state law on this subject."

SPALDING SUPPLEMENTS STATE SCHOOL FUNDS

Every District in the County Has Voted for Local Taxation.

State School Superintendent M. L. Brittain announced yesterday that every district in Spalding county has voted for local taxation to supplement the funds given by the state.

Spalding county is the twenty-seventh county of Georgia to take this advanced step whereby every school in the county gets a lengthened term and increased school facilities instead of being content to take what is given from the state treasury.

"This is the ideal plan for our school work," said Superintendent Brittain, "and is superior in every way to the arrangement sometimes found where a town or a few districts take this advanced step and leave the balance of the county in a more difficult situation than before."

"AFTER WEDDING DAY," SUBJECT OF NEXT SERMON

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

SEPTEMBER LOWER; LATER MONTHS UP

Cotton Market Somewhat Irregular, but Showed Steady Tone—Spot Quiet.

New York, September 15.—The cotton market continued quiet today, and although somewhat irregular, showed a steady tone, with the close steady at a net decline of 4 points on September, but from 4 to 6 points higher on later months.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2@6 points on scattered coverings and moderate support from leading bull brokers, which had the encouragement of steady Liverpool cables, although general news from abroad seemed bearish on the trade outlook, owing to unfavorable reports of the Moroccan situation, accounts of floods and revolt in China and labor troubles in Spain.

After selling about 5 to 8 points net higher, right after the call, the market weakened under southern offerings, favorable weather reports and scattered realizing, but the decline was sufficient to attract a renewal of bull support, as a result of which the market soon firmed up again and at one time during the early afternoon sold 9 to 11 points net higher. Some of the larger sellers of the early week were said to be covering cotton on this advance, but there were offerings of December around 11.51, which were attributed to the leading longs, and the market weakened later under scattering liquidation and some local selling, which may have been inspired by bearish week-end statistics. There was some selling of September late in the day, said to be against shipments from the south and that position was again relatively easy toward the close.

Last prices were about 5 points off on best active months. The advance during the middle of the day followed reports of rather a better demand for goods in domestic markets and greater activity in southern mill circles.

Receipts today 50,549 bales, against 27,879 last week and 34,098 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 815 bales, against 970 last year, and at Houston 17,378 bales, against 18,312 last year.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 11.80; do. gulf 12.05; sales, none.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 15.—Spot cotton quotations revised; steady; middling unchanged at 11 9-16; sales on the spot 550 bales; to arrive 1,125. Low ordinary 8⅛, nominal; ordinary 8 15-16 nominal; good ordinary 10 3-8; strict good ordinary 10¾; low middling 11 1-16; strict low middling 11 5-16; middling 11 9-16; strict middling 11 11-16; good middling 11 13-16; strict good middling 12; middling fair 12 5-16; middling fair 12 5-16; middling fair to fair 12 11-16; fair 13 1-16, nominal; receipts 815; stock 20,715.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points. Cables were about as due and the weather map was favorable, but the market was bullishly affected by renewed reports of deterioration and damage in central portions of the belt and also on account of a continued good spot demand. Bears were not aggressive and were rather disposed to buy covers.

At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 5 to 6 points over yesterday's close.

The market felt the force of hedge selling around the middle of the morning, and this caused the advance to become very slow. Reports of an improvement in the spot demand caused a moderate amount of fresh buying for long account and bullish cable messages from Liverpool and Manchester regarding the extent of the cloth business being done in the latter market, helped the bull side. Cablegrams from Egypt said that estimates of the crop of that country were being reduced because of unseasonably cold weather in upper Egypt.

At noon prices were 7 to 9 points over yesterday's close.

In the afternoon the market was very dull and prices were inclined to be lower.

At 2 o'clock the trading months were 1@2 points over yesterday's last quotations.

The market closed steady at a net advance of 1 to 3 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 15.—Another new price, 7½ cents, has been made on printed batistes for the spring of 1912, this time by a Chicago jobber. This reduction of ¼c a yard has been met by a New York jobbers' converter. Cotton goods trade has been broader and more active, and the market is firmer. Staple ginghams, prints and brown cottons are selling. The local wool market is quiet with a firmer tendency. Yarns are more active. Velvet and velveteens have been advanced sharply.

Dates of Cotton Reports.

Washington, September 15.—The last regular cotton condition report of the season, which is awaited with marked interest owing to the controversy over this year's cotton crop, will be issued by the crop-reporting board of the department of agriculture of Monday, October 2, at noon, eastern time, and will show the condition o fthe crop on September 25. The final condition report will be preceded by two census cotton reports. The first, which will be issued September 26 at 10 a. m., will give the supply and distribution of this year's cotton up to August 31. The other will be the second ginning report of the season, to be issued October 2, at 10 a. m., giving the amount of cotton actually ginned from this year's growth up to September 24.

The official estimate of the total production of cotton in the many states for the growing year of 1911 will not be announced by the department of agriculture until early in December.

NERVOUS TENSION OF STOCKS RELAX

Change Attributed to Cessation of Pressure on Market From Abroad.

New York, September 15.—Fluctuations in stocks were narrower today than during the erratic movements of recent days. The nervous tension of yesterday was relaxed, and there was a difference of opinion in sentiment. The change came largely from the cessation of pressure from abroad. Europe brought back some of the securities it recently has thrown on this market, London's balance of purchases probably reaching 25,000 shares. Advices from European capitals were more cheerful, and there was no trace of a renewal of liquidation.

After an irregular opening, the market became heavy. Declines amounted to a point or more for Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading an da few other standard shares, but the majority of stocks lost only fractions. There followed a recovery, which placed most of the list above yesterday's close. Trading fell far below the previous day and net changes were slight.

Uncertainty as to development abroad was pointed out to the chief restraining feature. Until a definite settlement of the Moroccan question is reached, securities undoubtedly will be handled with the greatest care. A sharp attack on the market late in the day showed also that the bear party is still to be reckoned with.

New Haven recovered 4½ points of its decline today. Western Union developed strength following the favorable quarterly report of the company. National Biscuit was exceptionally weak, breaking 5 points, and Minneapolis and St. Louis, which recently advanced on the announcement that it was to lease the Iowa Central and form part of a new route from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, relapsed 8 points.

The weekly statement of the country's clearings was distinctly encouraging. Exchanges increased more than 15 per cent over the corresponding week of last year, the gain being especially marked in the east and south.

Reported movements of currency during the week indicate a small cash gain. Gains made from the interior were partly balanced by losses to the sub-treasury, and a net gain of about $2,000,000 is indicated. The money market reflects the placing of loans in Germany.

Notwithstanding heavy liquidation of securities, both for domestic and foreign account, the time money market is working definitely harder. The rates quoted for four, five and six months were at the maximum of the year.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,635,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

PRICES TUMBLE IN WHEAT MARKET

Canadian Reciprocity Scare Again Acts as Check on Wheat Bulls.

Chicago, September 15.—With buyers inclined to await the Canadian vote on reciprocity, the wheat market today proved a dragging affair. Closing prices were ½ to ⅞@1 cent under last night. All other leading staples showed net declines. Corn down ½@⅝ to ¾ cent; oats ½@⅝ to ⅝@¾ and hog products 2½ to 12½.

In several additional respects the Canadian situation had a bearish effect on wheat. An official estimate put the crop of the northwest provinces as high as 185,000,000 bushels. Liverpool also reported that Canadian offers were cheaper. A weak cash demand in Chicago added to the burden of the bulls and there was an almost equal deficiency of speculative orders to buy options.

An increase of stocks at Duluth acted in favor of the bears and so did continued large arrivals at Omaha. In consequence, predictions were current that the United States visible supply total Monday would show a gain. On the other hand, good flour trade at Milwaukee, St. Louis and Minneapolis had a restraining influence and helped cause a steady tone at the close. During the day December ranged 95½ to 96¼ and in the end was 95⅝, the net loss of ⅞@1 cent.

Corn weakened on account of selling by commission houses, representing both country dealers and local owners who had recently taken the holdings of the larger longs. December moved between 64@64⅝. The close was steady but ½@⅝ cent down from last night at 64⅛. Cash grades were dull. No. 2 yellow finished at 68@68¼.

Poorness of shipping demand tended to carry oats lower. High and low points reached by December were 45⅞@46 and 45¼, with the close ⅝@¾ cent off at 45¼.

There was a selling drive at prices of all hog products. When trading came over, pork showed a fall of 5 to 10 cents, lards was off 2½ to 5 and ribs 5@7½ to 12½.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 15.—As anticipated, Liverpool was higher today and the local trade absorbed the hedge selling by the cotton houses, who were buyers in the south. Little interest was shown by the outside public in the market, which by the steady tone of the past fortnight has brought about their gradual withdrawal. They apparently regard the factors at the moment so evenly balanced as to foreshadow a quick market in the near future.

Tomorrow Liverpool should be a shade easier on the somewhat lower close of our market.

We think the short interest is being reduced by the absorption of the hedges.

HESTER'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, September 15.—Cotton crop movement September 1st to 15th, inclusive. Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange statement, issued before the close of business round figures, in the movement into sight for the past seven days of 104,000 over the seven days ending September 15th last year, an increase over the same time year before last of 34,000, and an increase over the same time in 1908 of 67,000.

The amount brought into sight for the week ending this afternoon is stated at 305,443 against 201,210 for the seven days ending this date last year, 271,601 year before last and 238,207 same time in 1908; this brings the total crop moved into sight for the fifteen days of the new season to 526,603 against 346,178 last year, 477,862 year before last and 416,862 same time in 1908.

The movement since September 1st shows receipts at all United States ports 410,124 against 259,800 last year, 345,500 year before last and 291,255 same time in 1908; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 2,697 against 3,093 last year, 2,526 year before last and 9,781 the same time in 1908. Interior stocks in excess of September 1st 48,782 against 22,574 last year, 50,060 year before last and 48,694 same time in 1908. Southern mill takings 75,000 against 60,711 last year, 79,716 year before last and 67,132 same time in 1908.

Foreign exports of American cotton since September 1st have been 266,501 against 188,197 last year. The total takings of American mills, north and south and Canada, thus far for the season, have been 123,294 against 125,800. These include 48,204 by northern spinners against 63,381.

Since the close of the commercial year stocks at American ports and the twenty-nine leading southern interior centers have increased 146,808, against an increase for the same period last season of 32,173 and are now 153,647 larger than at this date last year.

Including stocks left over in stocks at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far for the new crop the supply to date is 823,577, against 594,140 for the same date last year.

Hester's World's Visible Supply

New Orleans, September 15.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before. It shows an increase for the week just closed of 126,977, against an increase of 33,081 last year and an increase of 88,938 year before last.

The total visible is 1,697,944, against 1,510,967 last week, 1,450,014 last year and 1,974,090 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,011,944, against 842,967 last week, 831,079 last year and 1,581,090 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 686,000, against 728,000 last week, 619,000 last year and 393,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton as above shows an increase compared with last week of 126,977, an increase compared with last year of 247,865 and a decrease compared with year before last of 276,146.

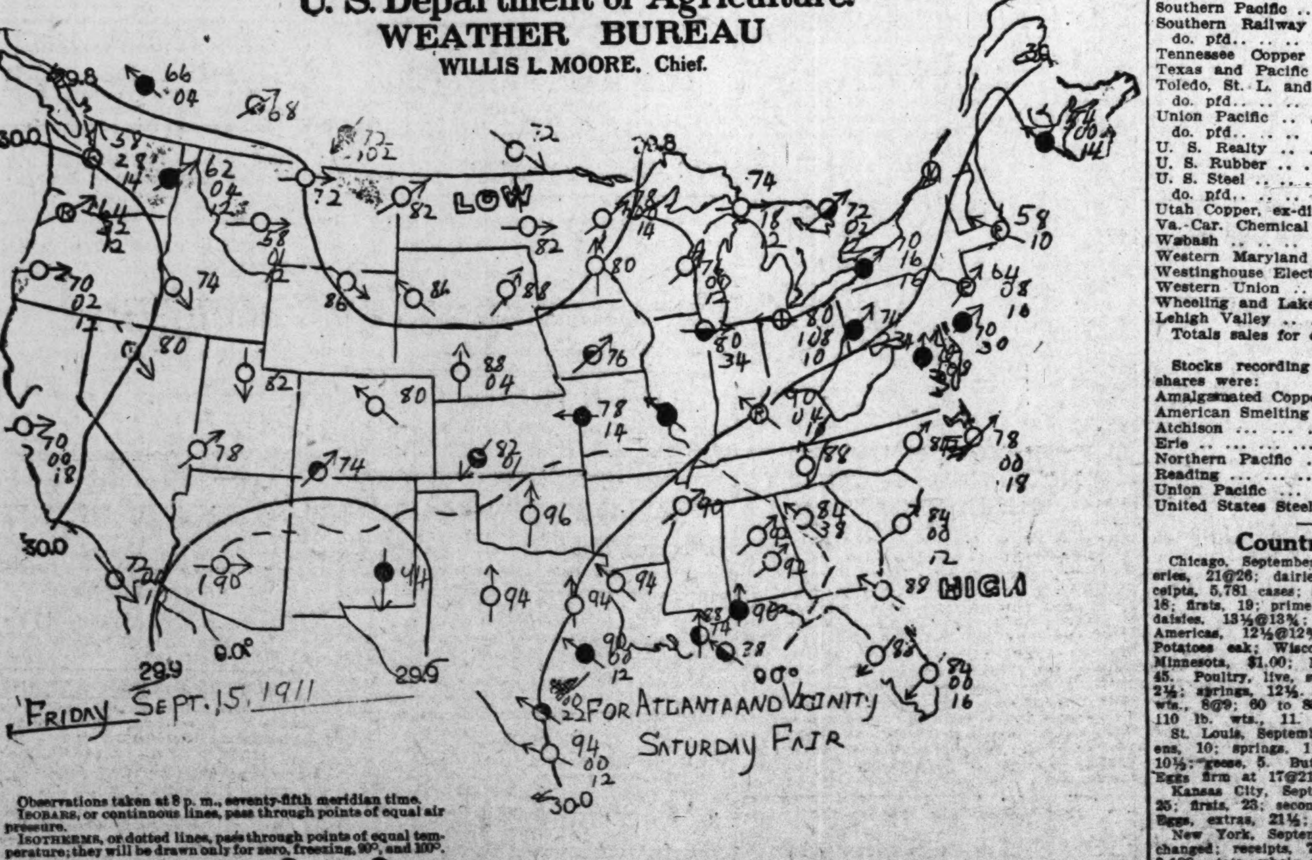

Of the world's visible supply of cotton as above there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 845,000, against 790,000 last year and 1,319,000 year before last; in Egypt 35,000, against 34,000 last year and 41,000 year before last; in India 384,000, against 367,000 last year and 147,000 year before last; and in the United States 434,000, against 259,000 last year and 467,000 year before last.

REAL ESTATE, RENTING AND LOANS, 9 AUBURN AVE.

$4,200—SEMI-CENTRAL LOT.

ON WEST CAIN ST., in a stone's throw of the Lyric Theater, and in 1,000 feet of Peachtree street, we offer a sub-division of small store lots, 21 feet front by 75 feet. This is the kind of property to buy and lay aside for a nest egg. They looked so good that we purchased one, and have made arrangements to build at once; $500 cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years; interest at 6 per cent. Be wise and pick out your lot.

$275 PER FOOT—SPRING AND WALTON STREETS.

ACROSS from the Moore property that is to be improved with business property, on Spring street, near Walton, we can deliver a lot fronting 75 feet on Spring street. It is within 350 feet of Marietta street, where they are asking $2,000 per front foot. It is within 100 feet of Walton street, where they are asking $1,000 per front foot, and fronting property that sold at auction for $365 per front foot twelve months ago. The grade work is to be started soon, and it is certain to bring $500 per front foot then.

WHICH IS BETTER?

TO BUY a house already built, paying a good profit to the one who built it, and has been living in it long enough to enjoy all its freshness, and now sells it to you when it needs repairs; or to build your own home, planned to suit you, enjoying its newness, and make the profit yourself, if you should want to sell? Honestly, which is more sensible? If you want a "hand-me-down" house you can get it, for there are plenty of 'em for sale. But if you want a home, planned to meet your ideas of comfort, see us. That's our business. We build HOMES, not houses.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, September 15.—Cotton, after declining, fluctuated within very narrow limits, apparently because of a general disposition to await the situation's clearing. With predictions of a 14,000,000 to 14,500,000-bale crop, liberal reecipts, generally favorable weather, seemingly dull spot markets, the south's apparent disposition to sell, increased southern offerings in Liverpool and the Morocco incident still looming more or less threatening, accompanied by marked stock market depression in London, Berlin, Paris and New York, trade in goods is still cautious and pretty much everybody feels at sea. It is feared that the buying power of the world may be impaired by short grain crops, the high cost of living and reduced wages should labor be liquidated, as most other things have been or are being. Spot houses have been sellers. Liverpool and the south, also, have sold and so have speculative interests. The very universality of the short interest and its probable size are regarded by some shrewd operators as a menace to the bears, especially as powerful metal interests seem to be identified with the bull side. Furthermore, the size of the crop is naturally more or less problematical until killing frost occurs. Some damage by army worms is reported in Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

Yarns are reported in rather better demand. Manchester spinners have of late been calling cotton more freely and numerous New England mills have resumed work.

In the south an agitation in favor of holding cotton for higher prices continues. Some large interests in and out of Wall street have been buyers evidently looking for an advance. The tone however, is unsettled and the belief in a possible rise is not general. The Morocco incident, the uprising in China, cholera in parts of Europe, the commercial and financial unsettlement in this country, together with the aloofness of spinners and the very general belief that the cotton crop this year is exceptionally large, are all regarded as adverse to bullish speculation. Nevertheless, some well-known bears have been covering shorts. A private local statistician is expected to issue a rather bullish crop report on Monday. Georgia mill advices are rather more favorable and some new mills are calling for quick shipments of cotton already purchased.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, September 15.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that despite irregular weather conditions, cold or rainy north and west and warm south and southwest, general trade in fall and winter wearing apparel, hardware and groceries show a further slight expansion. Buying has been and is conservative and business as a whole lacks snap, but nevertheless certain lines or trade show a strengthening of demands which augurs fairly well for the future. Jobbing trade and commission business for spring in cotton goods has been improved by price revisions of fancy cotton goods, made possible by the lower range of raw cotton prices. There is even said to be a moderate improvement in export trade in cottons and the yard markets show more confident buying. Best reports are had from the larger markets. In the northern half of the country retail trade has been helped by lower temperatures. The free marketing of cotton at the south has helped trade to some extent in that section. Collections are varied, but rule about fair.

Industrial reports are irregular. The number of idle spindles and idle cars is smaller than some time ago, but production is still below capacity. Iron and steel demand varies. Railroads are reported buying cars, but not rails. Prices of finished lines of steel are being shaded to get business. Building returns, a few cities excepted, show decreases.

Business failures for the week ending September 14 in the United States were 219, against 194 last week, 210 in the same week of 1910; 198 in 1909; 266 in 1908 and 179 in 1907.

Business failures in Canada for the week numbers 2, compared with 22, last week and 30 in the same week of 1910.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending September 14, aggregate 3,369,943 bushels against 2,632,243 last week and 2,174,053 this week last year. For the eleven weeks ending September 14 exports are 29,227,120 bushels against 15,950,694 in the same period last year.

Coffee.

New York, September 15.—The market for coffee futures opened firm at an advance of 4@10 points on covering by near month shorts, steadier French cables than expected, smaller receipts at the Brazilian ports and a little support from leading bulls. There was no aggressive buying, however, and the market soon turned easier, under scattered realizing or selling for a reaction with September at one time selling at 12.40 or a point under the closing figures of yesterday. Other near months hold comparatively steady, however, and the market closed steady at a net advance of 1@4 points. Sales 53,000 bags Havre was net unchanged to ¼ franc lower. Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ higher. Rio unchanged at 7$825; Santos 50 reis lower; fours 7$550; sevens 7$750.

Receipts at the two Brazilian ports 87,000, against 98,000 last year. Jundiahy receipts 78,000, against 64,200 last year. Today's special Santos cables reported fours unchanged, and Sao Paulo receipts 77,000, against 76,000 a year ago. New York warehouse deliveries yesterday 13,048 bags, against 15,536 last year.

Review of the Sugar Market.

New York, September 15.—The pinch in the sugar market continues to be keenly felt. Distributors compelled to buy sugar have paid as high as 7.25 cents, less 2 per cent, this week t olocal refiners who could give prompt shipment, though the American took some business at ½ cent less without guaranteeing delivery. None of the refiners have much available raw sugar, the total stocks being estimated at only three weeks' meltings, and since they have sold ahead, little advantage accrues to the m from the extraordinary rise.

The wholesale grocers have made a good thing out of sugar this year. Were it not that refiners sold granulated upon purchasing raws, their gains would also be large, a cargo of Javas arriving this week, for instance, being worth $200,000 more than when contracted for. Conservative circles are wondering how much further the wild speculation in beet options will go, this having apparently more than discounted the damage by drouth, the full effect of which cannot be known for a month or six weeks. Even though there should be a severe break abroad, as a result of financial troubles or a war scare, the effect here would be less marked, since little prompt raw sugar is availabl. The critical point for the consumer will be passed by the middle of next month, when domestic beets should be moving freely, Louisiana cane sugar, moreover, being available the latter part of October. Both of these crops promise to surpass last year's yield.

WILEY UPHELD BY PRESIDENT

to be taken as a reflection upon the attorney general or the personnel board. He expresses the opinion that a different recommendation would have been made had the authorities had all the facts now known before them.

The president limits himself at this time to the Rusby case, leaving the "broader issues" developed in the congressional inquiry for consideration later. His remarks in this connection are construed as indicating that there will be a serious shake-up in the agriculture department next winter as a result of the revelations before the house committee concerning the bitter internal strife in the department about the feud between Dr. Wiley and Solicitor McCabe.

In his opinion the President exonerates Dr. Rusby from blame because he was ignorant of the legal limitations, directs reprimand for Dr. Bigelow, assistant chief of the chemistry bureau, and Dr. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory, with whom Dr. Wiley was alleged to have "conspired." The personnel board and Attorney General Wickersham recommended the dismissal of Rusby and Bigelow and the reduction of Kebler.

Dr. Kebler Reprimanded.

Dr. Kebler is reprimanded for "disingenuous conduct," in his letter-writing to Dr. Rusby, and the president says that the letters suggest a "willingness to resort to evasion." Dr. Bigelow is held to have been "overzealous."

Dr. Rusby is held to be as guiltless as Dr. Wiley in this particular matter. A charge against him, however, of securing the appointment on the common "laborers roll" of a physician and expert "whom he could use to do his work at a very small stipend when he, himself, was called away," the president holds to be "not especially creditable."

The president declares that the limitation upon bureau chiefs and heads of departments to exact per diem compensations for the employment of experts is a doubtful legislative policy and adds:

"Here is the pure-food act, which it is of the highest importance to enforce and in respect to which the interests opposed to its enforcement are likely to have all the money at their command needed to secure the most effective expert evidence. The government ought not to be at a disadvantage in this regard and one can not withhold one's sympathy with an earnest effort by Dr. Wiley to pay proper compensation and secure expert assistance in the enforcement of so important a statute, certainly in the beginning when the questions arising under it are of capital importance to the public."

The president's conclusions, he says, were ready weeks ago, but he did not put them on paper because he hoped for a time for the report of the house committee that was investigating the department of agriculture. The committee's work was halted when congress adjourned, but will be resumed this fall. Practically all evidence considered necessary has been heard and a report probably will be made when congress convenes in December.

President's Letter.

His letter reads as follows:

"I return herewith the papers which you have submitted to me in the matter of the report of the committee on personnel of the department of agriculture in which after summarizing the evidence adduced before them, they recommended that Dr. H. H. Rusby, pharmacognosist in the bureau of chemistry, be dismissed from the service, that Dr. L. F. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory in the bureau of chemistry, be reduced from his present position, and Dr. H. S. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, and Dr. W. D. Bigelow, assistant chief of the bureau, be given an opportunity to resign from the positions which they now hold in the bureau of chemistry on account of the irregularities in the appointment of Dr. H. H. Rusby.

"The fact shown by the papers stated shortly are as follows:

Dr. Rusby's Fees.

"Dr. Rusby lived in New York and was employed as a scientific expert in the bureau of chemistry to examine importations of drugs under an agreement by which he received $20 a day for laboratory work and $50 a day for attendance in court.

"On May 24, 1909, the attorney general advised the secretary of agriculture that under the act of March, 4, 1907, (34 stat. 1280) no classified scientific investigator should receive a salary to exceed $9 a day. On May 29, 1909, an order was issued putting him on the roll at a salary of $9 a day when actually employed. Dr. Rusby objected to this and applied to Dr. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory, to secure a different arrangement. The matter seemed to have been held in abeyance for some time. Finally, as a result of conference between Dr. Kebler, Dr. Bigelow and Dr. Wiley, with respect to the request of Dr. Rusby for an increased compensation, Dr. Wiley said he would submit to you for your approval an appointment of Dr. Rusby at a salary at the rate of $2,000 per annum on the miscellaneous roll. Dr. Bigelow then wrote to Dr. Rusby under date of January 21, 1910, as follows:

Take Matter Up With Wiley.

"'Kebler and I took the matter up with Dr. Wiley today and he said he would approve it if we had on record an understanding with you so we could not be held responsible for your receiving an annual salary and not devoting your whole time to the bureau. I told him that if you were given an appointment at the rate of $170 a month you would agree not to receive more than $20 a day for time actually employed. By that I mean the usual official day of 7½ hours. This would be equivalent to 8½ days a month on the average. I told him that if it happened your work for the department amounted on the average to less time than that you would ask for leave of absence for sufficient time to bring it to that basis.'

"Dr. Rusby answered this letter and questioned what was meant by it. He said he did not understand Bigelow's letter clearly and supposed that if he did not earn the entire salary he would not expect to receive any more than was earned.

"Meantime on February 6, Dr. Wiley submitted to you an appointment of Dr. Rusby at a salary at the rate of $1,600 per annum on the miscellaneous roll. He made the reduction after examining the records and finding the amount of work done by Dr. Rusby during the preceding two years. You approved this appointment.

Bigelow Writes Rusby.

"After the appointment Dr. Bigelow wrote Dr. Rusby that he thought the present arrangement was better than he former arrangement when he was receiving $20 per days for laboratory work and $50 a day for court work, because he said 'you are now assured of getting a certain amount each month, irrespective of the time spent and you can still so plan your work as to interfere with your regular duties to a minimum extent.'

"This did not satisfy Dr. Rusby and he sought further information in a letter dated March 3, 1911, as follows:

Rusby Not Satisfied.

"'Kindly recall that on my side the basis of compensation is not less than $20 per day. At that rate only eighty days work per year are provided for and that is not time enough to satisfactorily perform more than the current port work here, leaving no time for examination of interstate samples, especially microscopic examinations or for attendance at court. For every day at court you average one day of preparation is required.'

"The above facts leag to the inquiry, would not the salary named compel me to either do very much more than eighty days work per year or otherwise fail to do the necessary amount of work in a satisfactory manner.'

"In March 4, Dr. Kebler wrote to Dr. Rusby, stating among other things the following: 'Personally I am of the opinion that your new appointment is much better than the old. Under this appointment you can do as little as one day's work per month and get your salary. On the other hand if you work five or ten days, your salary would be the same per month. It seems to me that you have the matter largely in your own hands. I am satisfied that if you do not accept the new appointment nothing more can be done, and your services, so far as our work is concerned, no longer be utilized materially in the future.'

"On March 6 Dr. Rusby wrote to Dr. Kebler saying that he had decided to accept the appointment. The nube of the charge by the personnel board was that Dr. Wiley, Dr. Kebler, Dr. Bigelow and Dr. Rusby in effect conspired to put on the record a contract for a general employment of Dr. Rusby's services for $1,600 a year, but actually and secretly made a contract with him by which he was only to do enough work during the year for the $1,600 to secure him a compensation of $20 a day and that this was done in deliberate and defiant violation of the law as interpreted by the attorney general in the opinion already referred to, in which he held that congress had limited the compensation of experts to $9 a day.

Opinion of Wickersham.

"After you submitted to me the report of the personnel board, I asked the attorney general to examine it and give me his opinion in respect to the matter because it concerned the violation of the law as interpreted by him in one of his opinions. He did and advised me that the recommendations of the personnel board ought to be carried out. In connection with his recommendations he directed attention to a clause in the appropriation bill of March, 1907, still in force, that enjoins upon the head of each department the duty of exacting from the employees in that department who are under an annual salary, labor amounting to seven hours a day.

Full Defense Denied.

"An examination of the records satisfied me that the questions had not been presented to the persons involved in such a way as to enable them to make full defense. They had only been called as witnesses, and cross-examined without a full understanding that they were under trial which might involve their dismissal. Accordingly I directed you to submit the whole record, together with the opinion of the attorney general, to each one of the persons charged, and invite from him an answer. These answers were filed in due course, and are quite full in detail. The answer of Dr. Wiley specifically denies that he ever saw the correspondence between Dr. Kebler and Dr. Rusby, or that he ever consciously entered into an arrangement by which Dr. Rusby was, in effect, to receive compensation at a rate in excess of that prescribed by the statute as interpreted by the attorney general. The truth is, it appears, from the anwsers of Dr. Wiley, Dr. Kebler and Dr. Bigelow, that there had been a good many precedents in the department which seemed to justify the employment of Dr. Rusby at an annual salary, when it was not expected that his entire time would be taken up.

The Remsen Board.

"This was the case with respect to the employment of what was known as the Remsen board. That board was credited by order of President Roosevelt for the very important purpose of enabling the secretary of agriculture to have reviewed the decisions of the bureau of chemistry in cases where those decisions involved disputed technical questions, and would, if sustained, have destroyed valuable and profitable business heretofore regarded as lawful. In such cases it was deemed wise not to allow the destruction of what would be otherwise lawful property and business on the decision of only one expert or the head of a bureau. Accordingly, the Remsen board as created by a number of experts, all of whom were known to be engaged in other professional work than that of the reviewing board. Dr. Remsen, the head of the board, occupies an important position in Johns Hopkins university, and that is his principal occupation. Another member, Dr. Russell Chittenden, of the Sheffield scientific school, is dean of that school, and that is his chief vocation. Hence, the employment of the Remsen board at the rate of $2,000 a year for each member necessarily involved the proposition that such an annual salary might lawfully be paid without requiring labor of seven hours a day from each person so employed. This, the attorney general in his opinion intimates, is contrary to the statute, but in the agricultural department it was not thought to be the case. Solicitor McCabe, to whom I referred the question of precedents made in the case, replied that in the practice of the department the clause in the appropriation act of March 4, 1907, had been held to have no application to the employment of experts outside of Washington.

Calling of Experts.

"It is necessary fully to understand this difference between the attitude of the department toward an employment at an annual salary of this kind, and the opinion of the attorney general in this matter, because if Dr. Wiley and his associates had understood that the $1,600 annual salary required them to exact from Dr. Rusby seven hours a day for all the work days of the year, then, of course, his employment must have been known by them to be illegal, and, under the circumstances, to be only to cover for a different contract of employment; but if they understood, as seems to have been the case generally in the agricultural department, that such an employment at an annual salary might be entered into with experts of this kind, and only subject the experts to an obligation to work for the department whenever called upon, with the understanding that they had some other vocation to which their chief attention was given, it clearly reconciled the action of Dr. Wiley with a desire to comply with the law. The recommendation of the attorney general given to me was upon only part of the evidence, and hence his judgment was different, doubtless, from what it would have been if he had had the whole record before him, as I have now. It seems fairly clear that Dr. Wiley, after an examination of the records, concluded that the employment of Dr. Rusby at $9 a day for laboratory work and $50 a day for court work would amount to $1,600 a year, if the department called on him whenever they needed him, and that it was this arrangement to which he consented. In Dr. Kebler's anxiety to induce Dr. Rusby to accept the terms of employment, he certainly betrayed a willingness to construe the contract of employment of Dr. Rusby at $1,300 a year in one way to reconcile it with the law, and in another way to satisfy Dr. Rusby in his wish to secure $20 a day, and I think he ought to be reprimanded for his disingenuous conduct in writing such letters as he did. He said that he did not intend to violate the statute as interpreted by the attorney general, and, indeed, that he did not know exactly what the ruling was; but, whether he did not not, the language of his letters does not have a commendable tone, and suggests a willingness to resort to evasion that calls for official reproof.

"In respect to Dr. Rusby, I do not find that he was advised at all as to the legal difficulty, and that he was only seeking for additional compensation which he thought to be adequate.

Doubtful Legislative Policy.

"The truth is, the limitations upon bureau chiefs and heads of departments to exact per diem compensations for the employment of experts in such cases as this is a doubtful legislative policy. Here is the pure food act, which it is of the highest importance to enforce, and in respect to which the interests opposed to its enforcement are likely to have all the money at their command needed to secure the most effective expert evidenc. The government ought not to be at a disadvantage in this regard, and one cannot withhold one's sympathy with an earnest effort by Dr. Wiley to pay proper compensation and secure expert assistance in the enforcement of so important a statute, certainly in the beginning when the questions arising under it are of capital importance to the public.

"If there were a knowing willful, deliberate effort to evade the statute as construed by the attorney general, accompanied by a scheme to conceal the evasion and violation, I should think the punishment recommended by the personnel board, and concurred in by the attorney general, was none too great; but an examination of the whole case satisfies me that a different construction ought to be put upon what was done; that th evidence does not show that Dr. Wiley was a party to the correspondence or the letters upon which the chief charge is founded, and that his action in the matter was only in accord with previous precedents in the department which justified him in doing what he did.

Kebler and Bigelow Over-Zealous.

"With respect to the other persons charged, I find an over-zeal in Dr. Kebler and Dr. Bigelow which prompted a disingenuous method of squaring Dr. Rusby's desire for what he thought was inadequate compensation which the contract you and Dr. Wiley were willing to make with him, and that for this Dr. Kebler and Dr. Bigelow should be reprimanded by you. So far as Dr. Rusby is concerned with respect to this particular contract, I do not find him at fault. For purposes of punishment or dismissal, I cannot charge him with knowledge of the legal difficulties involved in his employment.

"I examined the record in this case a number weeks ago, and reached the conclusion which I have stated here; but, meantime, a committee of the house of representatives deemed it proper to institute an investigation into the department of agriculture, and especially into the bureau of chemistry and its relation to the department generally.

"It seemed to me, under these conditions, that perhaps it was wiser for me to delay until the investigation was completed, and the report of the committee made. The committee has not made a report, although I believe the evidence has been substantially closed, and will not do so until the next session of congress. Further consideration satisfied that there are very much broader questions involved in the investigation, and the evidence there brought out, than in the present charge, which is narrow and definite, and can now be properly disposed of. The broader issues raised by the investigation, which have a much weighttier relation than this one to the general efficiency of the department, may require much more radical action than the question I have here considered and decided.

'There is another charge against Dr. Rusby for securing the appointment, on the common laborer's rolls, of a physician and expert whom he could use to do his work at a very small stipend when he himself was called away in other employment. I regret to say that the arrangement which Dr. Rusby thus made is not especially creditable to him, and shakes in some degree one's confidence in this avowed wish to make personal pecuniary sacrifice in the public interest for the enforcement of the pure food law. But Dr. Rusby's position as an expert of high standing is such that I do not think any more than this expression of opinion should be imposed as penalty. My information is that the government needs his services, and that he has already rendered valuable aid. The error referred to committed by him does not call for further action or remark.

"You will communicate the result to the personnel board, and also to the persons charged.

"Sincerely yours,
"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

Wilson Is Surprised.

Traer, Iowa, September 15.—Secretary Wilson expressed surprised that President Taft had rendered his decision in the Wiley case today.

The secretary said he had had no previous intimation of what the decision of the president was to be, and for that reason would make no statement.

TWO BRAVE GIRLS CAPTURE INTRUDER

and said, 'Come here, little girl, I won't hurt you.' Then I ran and got out of the house and he was 'rested.'"

Pearl's simple statement failed to say that when she ran she thoughtfully went out of the rear door. The man had followed her into the back hall and when she locked the door into the piazza he could not get out except by the front.

But she remembered that, too. Racing around the house, she turned the key on the outside of the front door and Mr. Richardson was as safe a prisoner as if he had been in the Tower, for he was most too top-heavy to crawl out of the window. Pearl, seeing her prisoner safe, went to a neighbor's and called up 21. Officer Wood answered the call and took Richardson in charge.

When the officer got into the house Richardson had evidently determined to make the best of a bad matter and had seated himself at the dinner table which held the midday meal. He was eating pickles when arrested.

"And they were spoiled pickles," laughed Pearl, who was seeing the funny side of the affair, while older ones were still nervous with fright. "I hope they make him sick."

Her picture was snapped unawares, while Mrs. Sher was objecting to its being taken. She didn't seem to think that Pearl had done anything remarkable.

WILL SEC. WILSON RESIGN OR STAND ANOTHER ROW?

Washington, September 15:—Few government departmental controversies have stirred official Washington as did the Wiley case. All officials here received the president's opinion with great interest, but the leading figures in the case today were away on vacations.

Up in his Blue Ridge mountain retreat, a farm at Bluemont, where he spends his spare time supervising his crops, Dr. Wiley read the full text of the president's opinion upholding the chemistry chief's course; but, beyond saying it was a complete vindication for him, Dr. Wiley would make no comment.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, on his farm at Traer, Iowa, made only brief comment, characterizing the president's opinion as wise, and that it will give general satisfaction throughout the country. Solicitor McCabe, of the department, was in the west, and Attorney General Wickersham, who rendered the opinion recommending Dr. Wiley's dismissal, was in New York.

Matters Reaching Climax.

Much speculation was caused by the president's reference to the possible necessity for more drastic action after the house investigating committee makes its report next December on the Wiley case, foreshadowing an eventual shake-up in the personnel of the department.

The antagonism between the chemistry bureau, of which Dr. Wiley is chief, and Solicitor McCabe's office is a crucial issue.

During the congressional investigation last summer Secretary Wilson declared Dr. Wiley had "talked through his hat;" characterized some of his acts as radical; said Wiley was oversensitive regarding disagreements between Dr. Wiley and the pure food referee board, and declared that he (Secretary Wilson) would prefer to resign than to go through another "bureau row."

Dr. Wiley testified that the antagonism between his bureau and the solicitor's office apparently would prevent any well-balanced board on pure food decisions from working without friction. He said he found it useless to appeal to Secretary Wilson, and, under existing circumstances, he considered Dr. Dunlap, his associate chemist, as his superior officer, Dr. Dunlap and Solicitor McCabe overruling him in two-thirds of the pure food cases. The three constituted the pure food board.

Dr. Dunlap said today that he had not considered the question of resignation. During the house investigation Solicitor McCabe was characterized by Dr. L. F. Kebler, chief of the drug division, as "arbitrary and domineering," and by Assistant Chemist Bigelow as "severe and unjust."

HARMON PICKED BY GOVERNORS

Smith, "wouldn't that ticket sweep the country?" and he made it as a declaration not as a question.

"Harmon is a strong man," he continued, "and he is in line with the best and most progressive, not the most radical thought."

Harmon in Line With Progressive Thought.

"Do you believe the radical element of the democratic party would be reconciled to Harmon? He is not considered too conservative for his time?" Governor Smith was asked.

"I served two years in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet with Mr. Harmon, and I am prepared to say positively that, far from being ultra-conservative, Judge Harmon is in line with the most progressive thought, and that he responds to sane public opinion as readily as any man. I will go further, and say if Mr. Cleveland was alive he would approve of this effort of the country to readjust itself."

"Do you believe Governor Wilson would accept the nomination for vice president?" Governor Smith was asked.

"Yes," he answered most positively, "and I know of no reason why he should not."
